RESOLUTION ON THE SURVEY AND SETTLEMENT REPORTS FOR THE YEAR ENDING THE 30TH SEPTEMBER 1925.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

Land Revenue.

CALCUTTA, THE 6TH FEBRUARY 1926.

RESOLUTION—No. 1655L.R.

READ—

The Survey and Settlement Reports for the year ending the 30th September 1925, received with Director of Land Records and Surveys' letter No. XXIV—2-1822, dated the 2nd January 1926.

The main traverse programme of 950 square miles in the 24-Parganas and 730 square miles in Murshidabad and Birbhum was fully carried out. The area under survey in the 24-Parganas contained much jungle and presented special difficulties; the cost rate has consequently been comparatively high.

2. The programme of revisional operations in the Chittagong district had to be revised, as it was found that, owing to the extension of cultivation and the changes in configuration due to the cyclone, the settlement could not be based on the old maps, and a fresh traverse of the area was necessary.

3. Of the miscellaneous work done by the survey section a noteworthy item is the survey of the rivers Bidyadhari, Peali and Matla at the instance of the Corporation of Calcutta. The work was completed during the year and maps in 43 sheets showing all topographical details have been prepared.

4. Major settlement work was in full operation in the districts of Khulna, Pabna-Bogra and Murshidabad. It was in the closing stages in Bankura, Jessore and Nadia, while work was begun in Birbhum and the 24-Parganas. The revised programme was fully carried out. Records-of-rights have now been completed in 44,876 square miles out of the total area of 65,775 square miles in the Province to which the Bengal Tenancy Act applies. Apart from their value to the public as authoritative records-of-rights in agricultural land property, the records and maps are of great assistance to local officers The Governor in Council notices with satisfaction that they are being utilised more and more, not merely in the different branches of the Collectorate, but also by the Magistracy, police and local bodies and in the Education, Excise and Sanitary Departments.

5. Mr. A. K. Jameson, I.C.S., continued in charge of both the Survey and Settlement Departments up to the 30th March, when he went on leave, and Khan Bahadur M. A. Momen acted till the end of the year. The Governor in Council has much pleasure in acknowledging the efficiency and care with which both officers have managed the two departments under them, and the interesting and thoughtful report submitted by Mr. Jameson. His Excellency in Council is also pleased to direct that the good work done by Messrs. Fawcus, McPherson, Kindersley, O'Donel and Newton and the remarks of the Director of Land Records about other officers in the last two paragraphs of his report be noted.

ORDER—Ordered that this resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Governor in Council,

W. S. HOPKYNS,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON PUBLIC HEALTH ADMINISTRATION IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1924.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENT.

Public Health.

CALCUTTA, THE 2ND FEBRUARY 1926.

RESOLUTION—No. 293 P.H.

READ—

The Report of the Director of Public Health, the Sanitary Board and the Chief Engineer, Public Health Department, for the year 1924.

READ ALSO—

The annual statistical returns and short notes on vaccination in Bengal for the year 1924-25.

1. Public Health.—(Statistical, Epidemiological and General Public Health Administration).

Population.—For the purposes of this review the total population of Bengal excluding the Chittagong Hill Tracts is taken as 46,522,293 (1921 Census).

2. Birth-rate and death-rate.—During the year 1924 the number of recorded deaths in Bengal was 1,203,244 against 1,370,114 births. The provincial birth-rate in 1924 was 29·5 per mille as compared with 29·9 in 1923 and the quinquennial average of 28·3. The North-West Frontier Province and Burma returned lower birth-rates than Bengal. The aggregate birth-rate of the towns of Bengal during 1924 was 19·6 per mille against 20·4 in 1923, showing a decrease of 3·9 per cent. In this connection the Director of Public Health points out that "these low birth-rates indicate sheer neglect on the part of the municipal authorities to administer the Births and Deaths Registration Act. Although registration of births is compulsory in towns, yet it is regrettable that in spite of serious efforts on the part of the Public Health Department, repeated from year to year, the local bodies with the exception of a few have failed to have any appreciation of their responsibility in this matter—a factor so essential in estimating the effect of measures undertaken to improve the public health."

The provincial death-rate in 1924 was 25·9 per mille as compared with 25·5 in 1923, the quinquennial average being 29·6 per mille. Madras and Burma returned lower death-rates than Bengal. The death-rate of 1922 was lower than that of any year since 1890. The death-rates of the triennium preceding 1922, when compared with those of the last three years, show a decided improvement, but there are nevertheless signs of a steady increase in mortality. The Director of Public Health remarks as follows :—

"That there is a close connection between economic conditions and public health is universally recognised, but the mechanism of relationship is not apparent. On the one hand are ranged rainfall, the extent of cultivation, the class and variety of crop, the yield per acre, the total harvest and the current prices of the commodities, and on the other hand the prosperity of the individual, death-rates and birth-rates and mortality. Speaking generally, prosperity results in a lowered death-rate, an increased birth-rate, and a natural increase of numbers. * * * * * *

"In Western and Central Bengal, the harvest is mainly rice, much of which is used for local consumption. Speaking generally, a large harvest brings increased prosperity, more food and better health. The amount of rice harvest is dependent on the amount and the distribution of rainfall, which vary from year to year. In this part of Bengal it is found—

(a) that over a period of 30 years the trend of natural increase of population closely follows the rice production for the whole province ;

(b) that there is a close correspondence with the yield of rice per acre and the birth-rate, and

(c) the mortality diminished with good rice harvests and increases with poor rice harvests.

"In Eastern Bengal, however, these relationships with rice harvests do not occur, in fact the relationships are rather reversed. The explanation probably lies in the different class of crop grown in Eastern Bengal, viz, jute. The demand for jute is a world-wide one, and the price of jute is therefore often determined by factors outside of Bengal. Falling jute prices, moreover, are associated often with good harvests, a good harvest does not therefore mean increased prosperity, as a good rice harvest does to the people of Western and Central Bengal. Conditions therefore tending to favourable vital occurrences in Western and Central Bengal may tend to unfavourable vital occurrences in Eastern Bengal and vice versa, so that it is necessary to appreciate these differences in economic and agricultural conditions before drawing conclusions as to the health conditions in the different parts of the province. On the whole, however, the conditions governing the production of jute are not so liable to fluctuations as those of rice production, and these vital occurrences tend to be more stable in Eastern than in Western and Central Bengal. The desideratum is the stabilisation of both rice harvests and of death-rates, and it would appear that the stabilisation of one would produce a similar effect on the other."

3. Registration of births and deaths.—The Director of Public Health has again drawn attention to the continued neglect by municipal authorities in administrating the Registration of Births and Deaths Act. The necessity of obtaining an accurate record of vital statistics on which all sanitary measures depend was emphasised in last year's resolution, and the Governor in Council once more desires to invite the attention of municipal authorities to this important matter.

4. Infant mortality.—In 1924 252,337 infants died under the age of one year, as compared with 253,694 during the preceding year, the total mortality showing a net decrease of ·5 per cent. The rate of infant mortality, however, increased from 182·1 per mille in 1923 to 184·2 per mille in 1924.

In 1924, 1,972 deaths from child births were reported, but the figure is not reliable and the Director of Public Health estimates that this figure should, in fact, be much higher.

In comparison with the preceding year, the still-births showed an increase of 3·3 per cent. In showing the proportion of still-births to total births in districts the Director of Public Health states that "however unreliable the registration of still-births may be, it is obviously apparent that in many of the districts....., still-births occur in the proportion of 1 to every 12-16 births. The District Health Officer of Khulna ascribed still-births to the inefficiency of the ignorant country dais to resuscitate an asphyxiated child born after a prolonged and difficult labour, the child being thus left as dead on account of its not crying after birth. It is therefore essential that the district boards should seriously consider the question of training country dais and thus reduce the number of still-births."

Some district boards and municipalities actually started classes for the training of dais in 1923. The Governor in Council hopes that this sensible example will be followed by other boards. The opening of such classes is encouraged by the offer of small subsidies from Government

Cholera.—There were 48,514 deaths from cholera in 1924 against 41,483 in 1923, showing a death-rate of 1·04 against ·89 per mille of the population in the previous year and 1·5, the mean for the previous five years. Although the mortality from the disease was greater than in 1923, the decline on the average of the previous quinquennium was thus easily maintained. The Director of Public Health attributes the decrease mainly to the measures taken by the local bodies to cope with cholera epidemics by employing additional temporary sanitary staff The Governor in Council appreciates the continued excellent work which such voluntary agencies as the Bengal Health Association, the Cholera Brigade of the Central Anti-malarial Co-operative Society and the Bengal Social Service League have done for the prevention of the disease.

The satisfactory results obtained so far tend to show that with the organization of a properly trained staff and the carrying out in every thana of anti-cholera measures, there is every chance of eliminating the disease as one of the chief factors in increasing the mortality of the province. It is gratifying to note that through the publicity work carried on by the Public Health Department by means of lectures and free distribution of popular literature on the prevention of cholera, the general public are beginning to realise that cholera is essentially a preventible disease. Inoculation against the disease was proved to be most effective and does not appear to be unpopular.

Small-pox.—In 1924 the mortality from small-pox was 5,567 against 4,236 in 1923. 7,86' in 1922, 8,157 in 1921, and 36,190 in 1920. A review of the mortality statistics of small-pox leads to the conclusion that in Bengal a recrudescence of small-pox in epidemic intensity may be expected every five years. The last severe epidemic of small-pox took place in 1919-20 and it was, therefore, apprehended that another epidemic might appear in 1924-25. This apprehension was unfortunately only too well-founded as was shown by the high mortality during the first six months of 1925, though the epidemic was less severe than that of 1919-20.

The total number of vaccinations reported in 1924-25 was 2,662,966 as against 2,057,724 in 1923-24, showing an increase of 605,242 or 29·4 per cent. operations. Of the total operations, 1,655,201 were recorded as primary and 1,007,765 as re-vaccinations against 1,590,576 primary and 467,148 re-vaccinations during 1923-24. There was thus during the year 1924-25 an increase of 4·05 per cent. in primary and of 115·7 in re-vaccination operations.

During the year under review all the districts in Bengal except Tippera, Rangpur and Dinajpur, showed an increase in the total number of operations in comparison with the figures of 1923-24. The increase in Calcutta was due to the prevalence of small-pox in an epidemic form during 1924-25. The increase in other districts is also attributable to the same reason as well as to the introduction of free vaccination.

It is satisfactory to note that the supervision exercised by the District Health officers with the assistance of the provincial vaccination inspecting staff contributed in no small degree towards these satisfactory results.

During 1924-25 out of 1,112,074 infants requiring vaccination in the Presidency, 306,344 or 275·4 per mille were reported to have been successfully vaccinated as compared with 302,730 or 262·6 per mille of 1,152,773 infants in the previous year.

Fever.—In 1924 the mortality from fever was 912,408 against 909,795 in 1923, showing a ratio of 19·6 per mille in 1924 against 19·5 in the previous year. Deaths from fever as usual represented about 75 per cent. of the total mortality in 1924, deaths from malaria, enteric and relapsing fevers were less common than in the previous year, while mortality from measles Kala-azar and other fevers increased, the increase under Kala-azar being greatest (119 per cent.). As compared with the mean for the previous ten years, all the divisions showed improvement in regard to fever mortality during 1924, which was most marked in the Burdwan Division, where the fever mortality was reduced by 30·0 per cent. and in the Presidency Division where it diminished by 19·0 per cent. The Chittagong Division showed a reduction of 10·9 per cent., Rajshahi Division 8·2 per cent., and Dacca Division 1·6 per cent.

As regards the increase of malaria in Eastern Bengal districts the Director of Public Health remarks as follows :—

"This increase of malaria in Eastern Bengal districts appears to be associated with the great increase of the water hyacinth, an extensive multiplication of village roads raised considerably above the surface of the country and railway extension in certain areas, notably Mymensingh, all resulting in an interference with flow of flood water in the bils and water-courses and across the surface of the country."

The experiments carried on in the colliery area (Singaran-Topsi) and at Meenglas in the Duars with a view to reducing malaria were on the whole successful. As noticed in the last year's resolution, the Banka Valley scheme continued to give good results and effected a further reduction of the spleen index. A flood and flush scheme was in operation at Jangipur, and the results so far obtained were satisfactory.

Kala-azar.—The number of reported deaths from Kala-azar was 9,997 in 1924, against 4,565 in 1923, 1,531 in 1922 and 1,552 in 1921. The number of Kala-azar cases treated at hospitals, dispensaries and special centres was 139.085 in 1924 against 57,238* in 1923, 13,317 in 1922 and 7,698 in 1921. It is satisfactory to note that several Kala-azar centres were opened by district boards during 1924, in addition to those started by voluntary institutions such as the Central Co-operative Anti-malaria Society and the Bengal Health Association. The Governor in Council desires also to record his warm appreciation of the fine work done at the Kala-azar centres of these two latter bodies.

Their humanitarian work is well organized, and their Kala-azar centres are working on sound, efficient and economical lines. Rai Bahadur Dr. Gopal Chandra Chatterjee and Dr. Bhattacharya have deserved well of their generation.

Sanitary Engineering.—Eight water-supply and sewerage schemes were prepared, and seven detailed projects of municipal water-supply and drainage drawn up by the Chief Engineer, Public Health Department, in 1924. Fifteen water-supply and sewerage projects were under consideration, two water-supply and one sewerage scheme were completed, and four water-supply and one sewerage project were partially completed during the year under review. The total capital expenditure on water-supply in 1921 was Rs. 4,28,774, while the total expenditure on municipal drainage and sewerage works was Rs. 4,13,068.

Personal.—Dr. Bentley and Mr. G. B. Williams have again earned the thanks of Government for their efficient administration of their departments.

Dr. Bentley's report is a mine of information which he uses in a striking manner to illustrate those principles or those aspects of public health which have special application to the sanitary conditions of Bengal. Government endorse the appreciative references which these officers make regarding the work of their staffs and desire also to acknowledge the valuable services of the Sanitary Board.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Third and Final Report on the Winter Rice crop of Bengal, 1925-26.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1923-24, the area under winter rice in Bengal has represented some 18·7 per cent. of the total area under rice in British India.)

Character of the season.—In the second forecast issued in December last, the weather was reviewed up to the end of October as having been good in East and North Bengal, and fair in West Bengal. Since then dry weather was generally favourable for the field operations.

Acreage.—According to District Officers' estimates, the total area under winter rice amounts to 15,619,300 acres as against 15,589,800 acres in the corresponding forecast of last year.

Outturn.—From the district returns appended, it will be seen that four districts, viz., Bakarganj, Jalpaiguri, Rangpur and Faridpur, report more than a normal crop. Six districts, viz., Khulna, Darjeeling, Bogra, Pabna, Mymensingh and Chittagong, report a normal crop. Eight districts report a crop varying from 83 to 97 per cent., and the rest from 58 to 75 per cent.

As compared with the second forecast, a better crop has been harvested in seven districts, viz., Jessore, Khulna, Hooghly, Darjeeling, Dacca, Chittagong and Noakhali, while in the districts of the 24-Parganas and Midnapore, the crop has deteriorated a little from the previous estimates. In the remaining districts, there has been no change since the second forecast.

According to District Officers' estimates, the provincial outturn works out to 92 per cent. of the normal as against 86 per cent. last year. Taking 12½ maunds as the normal yield of clean grain per acre, the gross yield of the crop for the province is estimated at 6,598,400 tons this year as against 6,156,400 tons in the corresponding forecast of last year.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 845L., dated Calcutta, the 18th February, 1926.—The following Report of the Select Committee appointed to consider certain amendments to the Bengal Legislative Council Standing Orders, 1920, is hereby published for general information.:—

REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO CONSIDER THE AMENDMENTS TO THE BENGAL LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL STANDING ORDERS, 1920, SUGGESTED BY SHAH SYED EMDADUL HUQ, M. L. C.

We, the undersigned members of the Select Committee appointed to consider the amendments to the Standing Orders suggested by Shah Syed Emdadul Huq, M.L.C., have considered the same, and our recommendations in respect thereto are as follows :—

Amendment of Standing Order 6 (1).

We consider that it should also be provided in Standing Order 6 (1) that a member should, as in the case of a first priority resolution, intimate his desire to proceed with a question which has not been answered, as it may very well happen that a question not answered in one session may lose all its force by the time the next session comes round and a member may not wish to put it.

We, therefore, suggest that the amendment of Standing Order 6 (1) should run as follows :—

(i) line 3, for the words "any resolution" the following shall be substituted, namely :—

"a question which has not been answered or a resolution"

(ii) lines 5 and 6, before the words "such resolution" the following shall be inserted, namely :—

"Such question shall, if the member intimates in writing not less than fifteen days before the commencement of the next session his desire to proceed with the question, be carried over for reply to the list of questions for the next session and"

Amendment of Standing Order 12, last proviso.

The Committee unanimously accepted the proposed amendment of Standing Order 12, last proviso, namely :—

In Standing Order 12, last proviso, for the word "postponed" the words "carried over" shall be substituted.

THE SECOND SCHEDULE.

(See section 38.)

ENACTMENTS REPEALED.

| Year. | No. | Short title. | Extent of repeal. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1889 | IX | The Indian Arbitration Act, 1899 | So much as has not been repealed. |
| 1877 | I | The Specific Relief Act, 1877. | The last 37 words. |
| 1908 | V | The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908. | Section 89, clauses (a) to (f) of section 104 and the Second Schedule. |

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this Bill is to amend and consolidate the law relating to Arbitration in British India. The present Arbitration Act came into force on 1st July 1899. Most of its provisions were borrowed from the English Arbitration Act, 1889 (52 and 53 Vict., c. 49). The English Arbitration Act is, however, a consolidated Act, containing provisions both as to arbitration through and outside the Court, while the Indian Arbitration Act confines itself to submissions and awards made without the intervention of Court, and governing only certain Presidency towns and other special local areas. In the last Civil Procedure Code of 1908 arbitration provisions were removed from the main body where they existed before, and made an appenage of the Code in Schedule II. Then, Sir Lawrence Jenkins, a prominent member of the Select Committee who were engaged on redrafting the clauses of the Bill, observed as follows:—

> "We have determined, therefore, to leave arbitration clauses much as they are in the present Code, but have placed them in a separate Schedule in the hope that at no distant date they may be transferred to a comprehensive Arbitration Act".

After the lapse of sixteen years, it is high time that attempt was made to realise that hope. During the interval, conflicting decisions of High Courts have revealed defects which require to be remedied. Sir Norman McLeod C. J. at page 265 of I. L. R. 45 Bombay remarked:—

> "The provisions of the Code relating to arbitration were transferred with certain modifications to a separate Schedule in the hope that at no distant date they might be transferred into a comprehensive Arbitration Act. Unfortunately that hope has not been realised with the result that the law relating to arbitration still remains in a most undesirable condition".

The need for the present piece of legislation has been accentuated now that the dilatoriness of justice in Civil Courts has become so intolerable as to necessitate the appointment of the Civil Justice Committee. All the more imperative, therefore, it becomes that the arbitration law which provides the speediest and cheapest means of administering justice should be placed on a sound basis, purged of all the errors and drawbacks, which a quarter of a century working has brought to light, and that its scattered provisions be brought together into a consolidated whole. Difficulties felt owing to the absence of provisions relating to appeals, and in construing sections 13 to 15 of the Act have been overcome.

The appointed Chambers of Commerce assembled in Bombay in December last represented to Government the necessity of examining the law of arbitration and remedying its defects.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

PART I.

Cl. 1. Definitions. In view of the extension of the scope of the present Act, the definition of Court has been altered.

Cl. 6(b) The word 'single' has been added in that sub-clause to give effect to the ruling in Gopalji Kuverji v. Murarji Jeram I. L. R. 43 Bombay 809.

Cl. 8. Has been added on the lines of the new section 16 of the English Administration Act to supply an obvious deficiency.

Cl. 10. Has been newly added. The want of this clause has been frequently felt when parties to submission require the attendance of witnesses whom they cannot procure without process of Court.

Cl. 12. At present much confusion has arisen in construing sections 13 to 15 of the Act. Some Courts have held that as soon as an award is filed by the arbitrators it becomes enforceable as a decree though an application to set it aside may be pending. This creates an anomaly, is opposed to the practice obtaining in England, entails great hardship on the defendants and is hardly consonant with justice. It has therefore been thought necessary to enact a provision similar to the one contained in the English Arbitration Act.

Cl. 13. It is but necessary to enact such a provision distinctly as its absence is likely to lead to unnecessary litigation.

Cl. 16(2). Is enacted to meet the difficulty created by the decisions in 16 Sind Law Reporter page 174 F. B. and I. L. R. 45 Bombay page 245.

Cl. 18. At present considerable difficulty is felt in the absence of a provision whereby the Court can compel the arbitrator to state a point of law for the opinion of the Court. And hence this provision.

PART II.

Cl. 10. It is desirable to extend arbitration provisions to proceedings of a civil nature other than suits.

Cl. 25. It is necessary to make a clear provision that the Court can extend time even after the award has been made.

PART III.

Cl. 33. At present the Arbitration Act applies to Presidency towns and to Allahabad, Rangoon and Karachi. In Presidency towns and Rangoon appeals are provided in the Charter, so in Allahabad by rules. In Karachi it has been held that no appeal lies. In the course of proceedings under the Indian Arbitration Act many important and complicated questions arise. It is therefore necessary to provide at least one appeal from the Court's orders. Moreover as the scope of the Act has now been extended to the whole of British India the provision as to appeals is necessary. Section 104 did provide appeals against orders under the Second Schedule which applied to the whole of British India. Some of the clauses of that section have been omitted as being out of place in the amended provisions of this Bill.

BRITISH POSSESSIONS.

No. 56 (first publication).—The following particulars, etc., relative to the above, issued by the British Admiralty (No. 1 of 1926), are republished :—

PART I.

CLOSING OF PORTS.

Former Notice.—No. 1 of 1925 ; (This office No. 83 of 1925) hereby cancelled.

(1) My Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, having taken into consideration the fact that it may be necessary to forbid all entrance to certain ports of the Empire, this is to give notice that on approaching the shores of the United Kingdom, or any of the ports or localities of the British Empire, a sharp look-out should be kept for the signals described in the following paragraph, and for the vessels mentioned in paragraph (5), Part II, of this notice, and the distinguishing and other signals made by them. In the event of such signals being displayed, the port or locality should be approached with great caution, as it may be apprehended that obstructions may exist.

If these signals are displayed, vessels must approach the port with the greatest caution and implicitly obey all orders or signals given them by the Examination vessel or signal station.

(3) At some ports or localities at home or abroad, search-lights are occasionally exhibited for exercise.

Instructions have been given to avoid directing movable search-lights during practice on to vessels under way, but mariners are warned that great care should be taken to keep a sharp look-out for the signals indicated in paragraph (2) above, when search-lights are observed to be working.

PART II.

Examination Service.

(4) In certain circumstances it is also necessary to take special measures to examine vessels desiring to enter ports or localities at home or abroad.

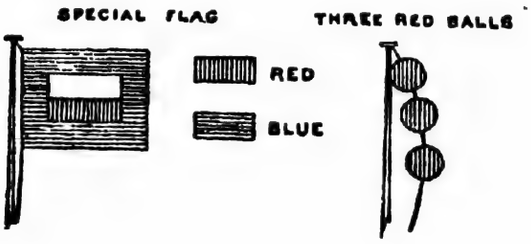
(5) In such case, vessels carrying the distinguishing flags or lights mentioned in paragraph (7) will be charged with the duty of examining ships which desire to enter the port and of allotting positions in which they shall anchor. If Government vessels, or vessels belonging to the local port authority, are found patrolling in the offing, merchant vessels are advised to communicate with such vessels with a view to obtaining information as to the course on which they should approach the port. Such communication will not be necessary in cases where the pilot on board has already received this information from the local authorities.

(6) As the institution of the Examination Service will probably be unknown to vessels desiring to enter the port, especial care should be taken in approaching the ports, by day or night, to keep a sharp look-out for any vessel carrying the flags or lights mentioned in paragraph (7), and to be ready to "bring to" at once when hailed by her or warned by the firing of a gun or sound rocket.

In approaching by night any British port in the United Kingdom or abroad, serious delay and risk will be avoided if four efficient all round lanterns, two red and two white, are kept available for use.

(7) By day the distinguishing flag of the Examination Steamer will be a special flag (white and red horizontal surrounded by a blue border).

Also, three red balls vertically disposed if entrance is prohibited.



Usually the Examination Steamers will fly the Blue ensign, but in certain circumstances they may fly the White Ensign.

By night the steamer will carry :—

(a) Three red lights vertically disposed if entrance is prohibited.
(b) Three white lights vertically disposed if entrance is permitted.

The above lights will be carried in addition to the ordinary navigation lights, and will show an unbroken light around the horizon.

(8) Masters are warned that, when approaching a British port where the Examination Service is in force, they must have the signal letters of their vessel ready to hoist immediately the Examination Steamer makes the signal : "What ship is that ?"

(9) Masters are warned that, before attempting to enter any port when the Examination Service is in force, they must in their own interest strictly obey all instructions given to them by the Examination Steamer.

Whilst at anchor in the Examination Anchorage, Masters are warned that it is forbidden, except for the purpose of avoiding accident, to do any of the following things, without permission from the Examining Officer :—

To lower any boat.
To communicate with the shore or with other ships.
To move the ship.
To work cables.
To allow any person or thing to leave the ship.

(10) In case of fog, Masters are enjoined to use the utmost care, and the port should be approached with caution.

(11) When the Examination Service is in force merchant vessels when approaching ports are especially cautioned against making use of private signals of any description, either by day or night ; the use of them will render a vessel liable to be fired on.

(12) The pilots attached to the ports will be acquainted with the regulations to be followed.

PART III.

Mine-Sweeping Operations.

H. M. Vessels engaged in mine-sweeping operations or exercises are hampered to a considerable extent in their manœuvring powers.

With a view to indicating the nature of the work on which they are engaged, these vessels will show the signals hereinafter mentioned. For the public safety all other vessels, whether steamers or sailing craft, should endeavour to keep out of the way of vessels flying these signals, and not approach them inside the distances mentioned herein, specially remembering that it is dangerous to pass between the vessels of a pair or group sweeping together.

1. SIGNALS THAT WILL BE SHOWN BY DAY.

(a) By vessels working singly :

A black ball at the foremast head, and a similar ball at the yard-arm or where it can best be seen on that side on which it is dangerous to pass. (If a ball is shown at each yard-arm it is dangerous to pass either side.)

Vessels showing this signal should not be approached nearer than 900 yards (823$^{m}$0).

(b) By vessels working in pairs or groups :

A black ball at the foremast head, and a similar ball at the yard-arm or where it can best be seen, on that side on which it is dangerous to pass.

Vessels should not pass within a distance of 400 yards (366$^{m}$0) astern of a pair or group of sweepers, or when more than one pair or group are working in company within a distance of 400 yards (366$^{m}$0) astern of the rear pair or group. They should on no account attempt to pass between pairs or groups working in company.

2. SIGNALS THAT WILL BE SHOWN BY NIGHT.

As for day, except that all round green lights will be used in a similar manner to and in place of the black balls.

Power to make rules.

7. The Local Government may make rules under this Act for the punishment of offenders and for the better preservation of the fish fry.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THIS Bill has been introduced to put a stop to the destruction of fish fry in Bengal. Fishes are daily becoming scarce and have now-a-days become almost a luxury, and not a necessity, as they were in former days The population of the province is gradually increasing and the supply of fish has failed to keep pace with the rapid growth of the population. In this province fish is one of the chief articles of consumption, nay, it is an indispensable article of food to the Bengalees. Beels and navigable rivers are being gradually silted up, while new tanks are not being excavated in large numbers as before. There being no law for the preservation of fish fry, they are being destroyed wantonly. These fry, if they can be preserved, will be able to increase the supply of fish gradually, and remove one of the chief wants of the Bengalees. An Act on these lines has become an urgent necessity, and hence it is introduced.

Section 1—Gives the designation and the scope of the Act.

Section 2, clause 2.—Fish fry come into being from the month of Baisakh every year and are not developed till the month of Asharh, as they flock together till that time, and hence, for the protection of these undeveloped fry, this definition has been inserted.

Section 3.—Fish fry are caught or destroyed and are sometimes used as articles of human consumption, even in this undeveloped state. To prevent this, this section has been inserted.

Section 4.—To prevent the fish fry from being sold as an article of consumption or for trade purposes, this section has been introduced.

But selling these fish fry for fish cultivation in other waters has been made an exception.

Section 5.—Unless some provision for punishment is made in this Act, the practice of destroying fry will not be put a stop to; to put a stop to this practice effectively provision has been made for a light punishment, i.e., to levy a fine which may not exceed Rs. 10 or in default 3 days' simple imprisonment on those committing any act towards destroying the fish fry or reducing their number.

Section 6.—Provision has been made in this section for means of bringing the offenders to book promptly.

Section 7.—In this section, provision is made for better administration and justice.

Bills introduced in the Council of State and Legislative Assembly, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council and Assembly and Bills published under Rule 18 of the Indian Legislative Rules.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 25th January, 1926 :—

No. 6 OF 1926.

A Bill to amend the law relating to the appointment of legal practioners in civil suits and for this purpose further to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the law relating to the appointment of legal practitioners in civil suits and for this purpose further to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 ; It is hereby enacted as follows :— V of 1908.

Short title and commencement

1. (1) This Act may be called the Code of Civil Procedure (Second Amendment) Act, 1926.

(2) It shall come into force on such date as the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, appoint.

Amendment of Order III, Schedule I, Act V of 1908.

2. In Order III of Schedule I to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908,— V of 1908.

(a) in rule 1 for the words "duly appointed to act" the words "appearing, applying or acting, as the case may be," shall be substituted ; and

(b) for rule 4 the following rule shall be substituted, namely :—

Appointment of pleader.

"4. (1) No pleader shall act for any person in any Court, unless he has been appointed for the purpose by such person by a document in writing signed by such person or by his recognised agent or by some other person duly authorised by or under a power of attorney to make such appointment.

(2) Every such appointment shall be filed in Court and shall be deemed to be in force until determined with the leave of the Court by a writing signed by the client or the pleader, as the case may be, and filed in Court, or until the client or the pleader dies, or until all proceedings in the suit are ended so far as regards the client.

(3) For the purposes of sub-rule (2) an application for review of judgment, an application under section 144 or section 152 of this Code, any appeal from any decree or order in the suit and any application or act for the purpose of obtaining copies of documents or return of documents produced or filed in the suit or of obtaining refund of money paid into the Court in connection with the suit shall be deemed to be proceedings in the suit.

(4) The High Court may, by general order, direct that, where the person by whom a pleader is appointed is unable to write his name, his mark upon the document appointing the pleader shall be attested by such person and in such manner as may be specified by the order.

(5) No pleader who has been engaged for the purpose of pleading only shall plead on behalf of any party, unless he has filed in Court a memorandum of appearance signed by himself and stating—

(a) the names of the parties to the suit,

(b) the name of the party for whom he appears, and

(c) the name of the person by whom he is authorised to appear :

Provided that nothing in this sub-rule shall apply to any pleader engaged to plead on behalf of any party by any other pleader who has been duly appointed to act in Court on behalf of such party."

Repeals.

3. Section 10 and Form C in Schedule II of the Bombay Pleaders Act, 1920, are hereby repealed. Bom. Act XVII of 1920.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Indian Bar Committee made the following recommendations in regard to vakalatnamas :—

1. Vakalatnamas.—Distinctions between barristers and vakils should be abolished. All practitioners should be required to file vakalatnamas when they act, but should have the option of filing a memorandum of appearance when they merely appear and plead. This should not apply to advocates who under the existing rules can only appear on the Original Sides of the Calcutta, Bombay and Madras High Courts on the instructions of an attorney. (Paragraphs 18, 21 and 23 of the Report.)

2. High Courts should be given power to determine the Courts and classes of cases in which a memorandum of appearance might be substituted for a vakalatnama where a practitioner acts on behalf of an accused person. (Paragraph 24 of the Report.)

3. The proposed memorandum of appearance might be made liable to the same Court fee as a vakalatnama to avoid loss of revenue. (Paragraph 24 of the Report.)

These recommendations have been generally accepted by Local Governments and High Courts, and this Bill proposes to give effect to them with the following exceptions :—

(a) In lieu of the proposed exception of advocates appearing on the Original Side of the Calcutta, Bombay and Madras High Courts on the instructions of an attorney, a general provision has been included with the object of securing that, when a vakalatnama has been filed by a pleader duly appointed to act in Court in the proceedings, a pleader instructed by him to plead only will not be required to file even a memorandum of appearance.

(b) No provisions are included in the Bill in regard to the filing of memoranda of appearances in criminal cases. The Government of India consider that this question should be left to be decided by the High Courts concerned, but they doubt whether such memoranda should be required to be stamped.

(c) The question of whether memoranda of appearances in civil cases should be stamped is omitted from the Bill, as it is considered that it should be decided by the local Legislatures concerned by amendment of the Schedule of the Court Fees Act, 1870.

Advantage has been taken of this opportunity to embody in Order III of Schedule I to the Code of Civil Procedure the substance of the provision of sub-section (3) of section 10 of the Bombay Pleaders Act and of rule 4 (4) in Order III of the Schedule made by the High Court of Madras under section 122. This will mean that a separate vakalatnama will not be required for appearances in appeals, etc., or for getting copies of documents and so on after the proceedings in the original suit are ended.

(i) in respect of an application to appoint or declare a guardian, as the District Court having jurisdiction to entertain the application ; and

(ii) in all proceedings subsequent to the appointment or declaration of the guardian, as the Court which appointed or declared the guardian, or, in any matter relating to the person of the ward, as the District Court having jurisdiction in the place where the ward for the time being ordinarily resides.

Under section 30 of the Punjab Courts Act, 1918, section 31 of the Oudh Courts Act, 1925, and section 19 of the Central Provinces Courts Act, 1917, the High Court, Chief Court and the Judicial Commissioner's Court, respectively, may authorise, by general or special order, any Subordinate Judge to take cognizance of, or any District Judge to transfer to a Subordinate Judge under his control, any proceedings under the Guardians and Wards Act, 1890.

In order to lighten the work of District Judges, the Civil Justice Committee recommended that similar provisions should be inserted in the Civil Courts Acts in force in other provinces. Local Governments and High Courts were consulted upon the advisability of adopting the recommendation and also upon the suggestion that, if the recommendation was accepted, effect should be given to it by central legislation, as it affected the jurisdiction of High Courts of Judicature. The recommendation and the suggestion have met with general acceptance.

2. The Bill gives effect to the proposals of the Committee. Under it the District Judge will have power to transfer all the proceedings relating to particular estates to be disposed of by a Judge of a Court subordinate to him who has been especially empowered and also the proceedings in regard to any particular matter connected with an estate.

The Bill further repeals the connected provisions in the various local laws.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 21st January, 1926 :—

No. 4 OF 1926.

A Bill to resolve certain doubts as to the powers, in regard to the attachment of immoveable property, of Provincial Small Cause Courts.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887, and the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for the purpose of resolving certain doubts which have arisen as to the powers, in regard to the attachment of immoveable property, of Courts constituted under the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887, and of Courts exercising the jurisdiction of a Court of Small Causes under that Act ; It is hereby enacted as follows :— IX of 1887. V of 1908 IX of 1887.

Short title

1. This Act may be called the Small Cause Courts (Attachment of Immoveable Property) Act, 1926.

Amendment of section 17, Act IX of 1887.

2. (1) In sub-section (1) of section 17 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887, for the words beginning with the words "The procedure" and ending with the words "are applicable" the following shall be substituted, namely :— IX of 1887.

"The procedure prescribed in the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, shall, save in so far as is otherwise provided by that Code or by this Act ". V of 1908.

(2) In sub-section (2) of the same section, for the figures "253" the figures "145" shall be substituted, and after the words "Code of Civil Procedure" the figures "1908" shall be added.

Amendment of section 7, Act V of 1908.

3. In clause (b) of section 7 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (hereinafter referred to as the said Code), for the words "so far as they relate to injunctions and interlocutory orders" the following shall be substituted, namely :— V of 1908.

"so far as they authorise or relate to—

(i) orders for the attachment of immoveable property,

(ii) injunctions,

(iii) the appointment of a receiver of immoveable property, or (iv) the interlocutory orders referred to in clause (e) of section 94 ".

Amendment of Order XXXVIII in the first Schedule to Act V of 1908.

4. To Order XXXVIII in the First Schedule to the said Code, after rule 12 the following rule shall be added, namely :—

Small Cause Court not to attach immoveable property

"13. Nothing in this order shall be deemed to empower any Court of Small Causes to make an order for the attachment of immoveable property."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Under section 7 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, so much of the body of the Code as relates to—and sections 9, 91, 92, 94 and 95 (so far as these two sections relate to injunctions and interlocutory orders), and sections 96 to 112 and 115 do not extend to Courts constituted under the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887, or to Courts exercising the jurisdiction of a Court of Small Causes under that Act. Section 15 (1) of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, read with the Second Schedule to that Act, provides for the exception of suits relating to immoveable property from the jurisdiction of a Court of Small Causes. In view of conflicting decisions on the question whether such a Court has jurisdiction to order an attachment of immoveable property before judgment, the whole question was considered in detail by a Full Bench of the Calcutta High Court in the case Barada Kanta Shaha Ray vs. Sheikh Maij-ud-di (52 Calc. 275). The Hon'ble Judges constituting the Bench held by a majority that a Court of Small Causes has such jurisdiction, but expressed a doubt as to the intention of the Legislature in the matter when the Code was passed in 1908.

(i) suits excepted from the cognizance of a Court of Small Causes ;

(ii) the execution of decrees in such suits ;

(iii) the execution of decrees against immoveable property ;

2. Before 1908, except possibly for a short period, a Court of Small Causes never exercised any such jurisdiction, and when the present Code of Civil Procedure was enacted in 1908, it appears that the Legislature did not intend to alter the pre-existing law. The Bill proposes to make it clear that a Provincial Small Cause Court has not the power referred to.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this Bill is to give effect to certain minor amendments which it is proposed to make in Schedule II of the Indian Tariff Act, 1894. The proposals are dealt with seriatim below They are included in a separate Tariff Bill instead of in the Finance Bill, because they are not important from the revenue point of view and have not been made primarily with reference to the revenues of 1926-27.

2. Cement.—The present duty on cement is an ad valorem one of 15 per cent. assessed on a tariff valuation. The price of cement has shown a tendency to fall. The tariff valuation for 1926 has been reduced from Rs. 60 to Rs. 55 per ton, thereby reducing the duty payable from Rs. 9 to Rs. 8·4 a ton. It was clear from the report of the Tariff Board on Cement that imported cement can well bear an import duty of Rs. 9 a ton, and in order to stabilise the revenue it is proposed to substitute a specific duty of Rs. 9 per ton for the existing ad valorem duty of 15 per cent.

3. Printer's ink.—In its report, the Tariff Board, while finding that the case for protection of the Printer's Ink Industry had not been justified, found that under the existing Tariff Schedule the industry suffers from a direct disability, since the import duty on printer's ink is at the concession rate of 2½ per cent ad valorem, and the duties on the necessary constituents are at the rate of 15 per cent. ad valorem. This disability the Board considers would be removed if the duty on printer's ink be raised to 5 per cent. The Government of India accept this conclusion and now propose to give effect to it.

4. Saccharine.—Three years ago the duty on saccharine was raised from 25 per cent. ad valorem to a specific rate of Rs. 20 a lb., which was approximately the duty then payable on a quantity of sugar of equivalent sweetening effect. This was, however, an extremely heavy rate on an ad valorem basis, and its imposition has served to encourage smuggling rather than increase revenue or check imports. It is believed that a reduction is needed (a) to protect Government revenues, and (b) to place trade on a healthier basis. It is accordingly proposed to reduce the duty to Rs. 5 per lb. Saccharine tabloids are mostly used on medical prescription, and it is proposed to subject them to the specific duty or the ordinary ad valorem one on pharmaceutical preparations, whichever is higher.

5. Handlooms and specified parts thereof.—It is proposed to reduce the duty from 15 to 2½ per cent. ad valorem on handlooms and most component parts. The parts in question are at present assessable at 15 per cent. or 2½ per cent. according as they are or are not of shapes or sizes which can be used in handlooms. The change is generally advocated by Local Governments in the interests of handloom weavers, whilst the differentiation in treatment between parts for handlooms and machine looms, etc., causes much inconvenience to customs administration, incommensurate with the revenue at stake since imports of these articles for handloom purposes are very small.

6. Hay presses.—It is the policy of the Government of India to encourage the development of agriculture by permitting the free import of agricultural machinery. On the advice of the Agricultural Adviser to Government, who states that hay presses are now coming into more general use, it has been decided in accordance with this policy to admit them into India free of duty.

7. Sticklac.—It is proposed to abolish the import duty of 15 per cent. on this article as being a raw material of an important industry. The shellac industry in India is experiencing increased competition in the world's markets from synthetic resinous compounds and from lac derivatives manufactured in America and Germany from sticklac exported from Siam. The effect of the present import duty is to raise still further the cost of lac to Indian manufacturers when the Indian lac crop is short; and when the local crop is plentiful, there are practically no imports and consequently no revenue. The duty therefore serves no useful purpose.

8. Lubricating oils.—The proposal is to substitute a specific duty of one anna and four pies per gallon for the existing ad valorem duty of 7½ per cent. The assessment of duties on these oils on an ad valorem basis is a constant source of difficulty and dispute at Custom Houses owing to the number of grades and varying values of these oils. The difficulty is increased owing to the trade custom whereby direct contracts at special rates are made with large consumers rendering thereby the determination of market-values as required by section 30 of the Sea Customs Act, a matter of some difficulty. Specific duties would seem to be more appropriate than ad valorem rates and are in fact adopted by most countries for these articles. The rate proposed has been determined after careful inquiry so as not to be high on heavier engine oils. For the sake of uniformity, it is proposed also to change the duty on batching oil to a specific one of Rs. 10 per ton. This is exactly the rate at present in force on a tariff valuation basis.

9. Arms.— Schedule II of the Indian Arms Rules, 1924, defines the weapons which are subject to the Indian Arms Act, others being either toys or curios. The only items in the Tariff Schedule referring to firearms are items 12, 42 and 126 which do not differentiate between weapons of offence or defence and those which are merely toys, curios or ornaments with the result that all these are liable to a duty of Rs. 15 each. It is proposed to alter the relevant items of the Tariff Schedule to make it conform with the Indian Arms Rules, 1924, thereby placing toy pistols, etc., curios, etc., under their proper heading. The opportunity has also been taken to improve the drafting of item 42.

10. The amendments are intended to come into effect from the seventh day after this Bill becomes law.

BRITISH POSSESSIONS.

Caution when approaching British Ports.

No. 56 (second publication).—The following particulars, etc., relative to the above, issued by the British Admiralty (No. 1 of 1926), are republished :—

PART I.

CLOSING OF PORTS.

Former Notice.—No. 1 of 1925 ; (This office No. 83 of 1925) hereby cancelled.

(1) My Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, having taken into consideration the fact that it may be necessary to forbid all entrance to certain ports of the Empire, this is to give notice that on approaching the shores of the United Kingdom, or any of the ports or localities of the British Empire, a sharp look-out should be kept for the signals described in the following paragraph, and for the vessels mentioned in paragraph (5), Part II, of this notice, and the distinguishing and other signals made by them. In the event of such signals being displayed, the port or locality should be approached with great caution, as it may be apprehended that obstructions may exist.

(2) If entrance to a port is prohibited, three red lights vertically disposed by night or three red balls vertically disposed by day, will be exhibited in some conspicuous position, in or near to its approach, which signals will also be shown by the vessels indicated in paragraph (5), Part II, of this notice.

If these signals are displayed, vessels must approach the port with the greatest caution and implicitly obey all orders or signals given them by the Examination vessel or signal station.

(3) At some ports or localities at home or abroad, search-lights are occasionally exhibited for exercise.

Instructions have been given to avoid directing movable search-lights during practice on to vessels under way, but mariners are warned that great care should be taken to keep a sharp look-out for the signals indicated in paragraph (2) above, when search-lights are observed to be working.

PART II.

Examination Service.

(4) In certain circumstances it is also necessary to take special measures to examine vessels desiring to enter ports or localities at home or abroad.

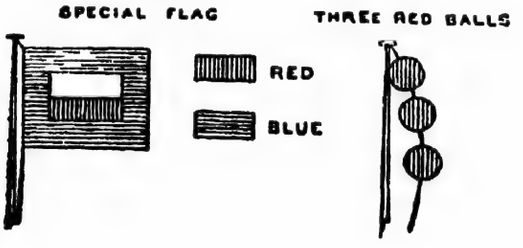
(5) In such case, vessels carrying the distinguishing flags or lights mentioned in paragraph (7) will be charged with the duty of examining ships which desire to enter the port and of allotting positions in which they shall anchor. If Government vessels, or vessels belonging to the local port authority, are found patrolling in the offing, merchant vessels are advised to communicate with such vessels with a view to obtaining information as to the course on which they should approach the port. Such communication will not be necessary in cases where the pilot on board has already received this information from the local authorities.

(6) As the institution of the Examination Service will probably be unknown to vessels desiring to enter the port, especial care should be taken in approaching the ports, by day or night, to keep a sharp look-out for any vessel carrying the flags or lights mentioned in paragraph (7), and to be ready to "bring to" at once when hailed by her or warned by the firing of a gun or sound rocket.

In approaching by night any British port in the United Kingdom or abroad, serious delay and risk will be avoided if four efficient all round lanterns, two red and two white, are kept available for use.

(7) By day the distinguishing flag of the Examination Steamer will be a special flag (white and red horizontal surrounded by a blue border).

Also, three red balls vertically disposed if entrance is prohibited.



Usually the Examination Steamers will fly the Blue ensign, but in certain circumstances they may fly the White Ensign.

By night the steamer will carry :—

(a) Three red lights vertically disposed if entrance is prohibited.
(b) Three white lights vertically disposed if entrance is permitted.

The above lights will be carried in addition to the ordinary navigation lights, and will show an unbroken light around the horizon.

(8) Masters are warned that, when approaching a British port where the Examination Service is in force, they must have the signal letters of their vessel ready to hoist immediately the Examination Steamer makes the signal : "What ship is that ? "

(9) Masters are warned that, before attempting to enter any port when the Examination Service is in force, they must in their own interest strictly obey all instructions given to them by the Examination Steamer.

Whilst at anchor in the Examination Anchorage, Masters are warned that it is forbidden, except for the purpose of avoiding accident, to do any of the following things, wihtout permission from the Examining Officer :—

To lower any boat.
To communicate with the shore or with other ships.
To move the ship.
To work cables.
To allow any person or thing to leave the ship.

(10) In case of fog, Masters are enjoined to use the utmost care, and the port should be approached with caution.

(11) When the Examination Service is in force merchant vessels when approaching ports are especially cautioned against making use of private signals of any description, either by day or night ; the use of them will render a vessel liable to be fired on.

(12) The pilots attached to the ports will be acquainted with the regulations to be followed.

PART III.

Mine-Sweeping Operations.

H. M. Vessels engaged in mine-sweeping operations or exercises are hampered to a considerable extent in their manœuvring powers.

With a view to indicating the nature of the work on which they are engaged, these vessels will show the signals hereinafter mentioned. For the public safety all other vessels, whether steamers or sailing craft, should endeavour to keep out of the way of vessels flying these signals, and not approach them inside the distances mentioned herein, specially remembering that it is dangerous to pass between the vessels of a pair or group sweeping together.

1. SIGNALS THAT WILL BE SHOWN BY DAY.

(a) By vessels working singly :

A black ball at the foremast head, and a similar ball at the yard-arm or where it can best be seen on that side on which it is dangerous to pass. (If a ball is shown at each yard-arm it is dangerous to pass either side.)

Vessels showing this signal should not be approached nearer than 900 yards (823$^{m}$0).

(b) By vessels working in pairs or groups :

A black ball at the foremast head, and a similar ball at the yard-arm or where it can best be seen, on that side on which it is dangerous to pass.

Vessels should not pass within a distance of 400 yards (366$^{m}$0) astern of a pair or group of sweepers, or when more than one pair or group are working in company within a distance of 400 yards (366$^{m}$0) astern of the rear pair or group. They should on no account attempt to pass between pairs or groups working in company.

2. SIGNALS THAT WILL BE SHOWN BY NIGHT.

As for day, except that all round green lights will be used in a similar manner to and in place of the black balls.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Second Forecast of the Wheat Crop of Bengal, 1925-26.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1923-24, the area under wheat in Bengal has represented some 0·4 per cent. of the total area under wheat in India. The ratio of the irrigated wheat acreage to total wheat acreage in (a) British India and (b) in the territory now reported on has, in the five years ending 1923-24, averaged (a) 42·2 and (b) 14·7 per cent. respectively).

Character of the season.—The rainfall in the months of September and October was sufficient for the preparatory tillage. Sowings, in consequence, commenced in the usual time. During the month of December the crop flourished, but since then drought has interfered with its development, especially in the important districts of Malda, Nadia, Murshidabad and Rajshahi. The present outlook, on the whole, is generally fair.

Acreage.—According to the District Officers' estimates, the total area sown is 130·600 acres this year as against 126·200 and 126·400 acres reported respectively in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Outturn.—The provincial outturn, as worked out from district estimates, is 78 per cent. of the normal as against 81 and 64 per cent., respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

II. The draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 22nd April 1926, and any objections or suggestions received before that date will be considered :—

Draft rules and schedule of rates of tolls.

1. Every vessel on entering the channel and before passing the gate at either end or even when entering the channel from a side khal between the gates shall be liable to measurement for the purpose of ascertaining the tolls payable ; in case of any reasonable doubt arising, a vessel may be measured again by any person appointed by the District Board of Bakarganj, on this behalf.

2. Vessels for the purpose of the determination of maundage shall be divided into two classes as below :—

Class I.—To include all vessels of the types of country boats, including saltees and hapors (fish cages), house boats, kosh boats, green boats, etc.

Class II.—To include steam boats, motor boats, flats and barges and other square built vessels.

3. The maundage of every vessel, whether laden or empty, shall, for the purpose of Act V (B.C.) of 1864 and of these rules, be determined by the following measurements :—

CLASS I.

A. The product of one quarter the length of the vessel from stem to stern, measured along the water line, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the depth from the water-line to the interior bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which tolls shall be levied.

B. The measurement of the length is to be made in feet, rejecting inches ; the measurement of breadth and depth is to be made in feet and quarters of a foot, rejecting any remainder of less than a quarter of a foot.

C. The maundage on which the amount of toll is calculated shall be reckoned to the nearest integral muntiple of 12½ maunds, any remainder of less than 12½ maunds being rejected. In the case of vessels exceeding 500 maunds by measurement, the maundage shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 50 maunds, rejecting any remainder of less than 50 maunds.

D. Saltees. The product of one quarter of the inside length of the vessel, measured along the centre line from stem to stern, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the greatest depth measured from the top to the interior bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which tolls shall be levied.

CLASS II.

For vessels of Class II the number of maunds obtained by the system of measurement prescribed for vessels of class I shall be increased by one half. For vessels of this class above 5,000 maunds measurement, the maundage shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 500 maunds, rejecting remainder of less than 500 maunds. In the case of steamers and motor boats, the maundage determined as above shall be reduced by one-third as an allowance for engine space.

For vessels of class II which are furnished with reliable way bills, the gross maundage of cargo shown by the way bills or in the case of steamers, the maundage obtained from multiplying the registered tonnage of the steamer by 27, may, at the option of the employer of the vessel or the steamer (as the case may be), be taken as the maundage on which tolls will be charged.

5. Every ticket shall have entered on it the name of the sarang, manjee or other person in charge of the vessel, the date of entry, the maundage, the cargo, the amount of toll charged and the number of days for which the ticket remains current.

6. All tolls are payable on demand and shall be paid at the toll office before a vessel is permitted to proceed.

7. The ticket must be kept on board the vessel and in possession of the person in charge of the vessel and must be produced for inspection when demanded by the person, authorised to collect tolls, or by any officer to whom such person is subordinate. If on demand the ticket is not produced, such person or officer shall assess the tollage as provided in rules 3 and 12 and shall require payment of toll, and unless and until the toll is paid, or the original ticket or a duplicate is produced as evidence that toll has already been paid, the vessel shall be liable to seizure and detention under the provisions of section 9 of the Act.

8. Duplicates of lost tickets, of which the numbers and dates can be satisfactorily established, will be granted by the collector of tolls on payment of a fee equal to one quarter of the total tollage, subject to a minimum fee of one anna per ticket.

9. All vessels, whether the property of Government, District Board, other local bodies or of private persons, are liable for toll except those specially exempted under these rules or by a resolution passed by the District Board of Bakarganj from time to time.

10 The canal may be closed once a year for effecting the necessary repairs to it on seven days' notice of the intention so to close it being given; but in the event of any sudden emergency the canal may be closed at any time without prior notice, and no claim in such case by owners of vessels or others for compensation on account of detention shall be entertained.

11. No rafts exceeding 50 feet in length and 5 feet in breadth shall be permitted to enter the canals.

12. The rates of toll shall be as follows :—

|---|---|
| (1) On all vessels empty or laden, per hundred maunds ... ... ... ... | Eight annas. |
| (2) On all vessels empty or laden, for 12½ maunds or less ... ... ... ... | One anna. |
| (3) On rafts of bamboos, grass, timber, etc., not exceeding 50 feet in length and 5 feet in breadth ... ... ... ... | Four annas each raft. |

Tolls will be levied at Hulerhat and Perojpore.

13. For boats frequently using the canal such as boats carrying passengers grass or perishable articles monthly tickets will be issued at 10 times the ordinary toll.

14. Every vessel which has paid toll shall be allowed to remain in the canal for three days inclusive of the days of entry into and leaving the canal. A vessel remaining in any part of the canal longer than three days shall be charged demurrage equal to one-half of the toll for each day in excess of three days. No vessel shall be permitted to remain in the canal for more than one month. Provided that this rule shall not apply to vessels holding monthly tickets under rule 13 above, which may remain in the canal for more than three days without payment of demurrage but not for more than one month at a time.

15. No vessel carrying exclusively police officers or servants, soldiers and officers of the British Army, post mail runners, officers of the Irrigation Department on duty, officers and servants of the toll office for the canal referred to in these rules while on duty, or the vessels of such other persons as may be exempted by a resolution of the District Board of Bakarganj, shall be liable for toll in the canal.

16. Any matter relating to the mode of collection of tolls and other relevent points, not provided for in these rules, shall be decided by the District Board of Bakarganj at a meeting, and shall be subject to the approval of the local Government.

S. R.-25, dated the 6th February 1925 :—

(9) An officer, who at the time of proceeding on leave declares his intention of retiring from service, is entitled to draw on the Passage Fund for single passages only. If, however, the second halves of the return tickets are actually utilised, the officer should make a declaration in due course to the Audit Officer that the tickets have actually been utilised.

No refund will be made by a Steamship Company under this rule except to the Audit Officer, who will make the necessary adjustment of the amount between the officer and the Government if the cost of the passage involved or any portion thereof has been borne by the officer.

HEALTH.

Delhi, the 8th February 1926.

No. 184.—The following draft of certain rules which it is proposed to make in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (1) of section 213 of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923 (XXI of 1923), is published, as required by sub-section (4) of the said section, for the information of all persons likely to be affected thereby, and notice is hereby given that the said draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 1st day of June 1926. Any objection or suggestion which may be received from any person in respect to the draft before the said date will be considered by the Governor General in Council:—

Draft Rules.

1. (1) These rules may be called the Boats and Life Saving Appliances (Pilgrim Ships) Rules, 1926.

(2) They apply to Pilgrim Ships and shall come into force on the 1st January 1927 from which date rules 6 to 9 and 16 and 17 of the rules published with the notification of the Government of India in the Home Department, No. 1902 (Sanitary), dated the 14th October 1910, shall cease to have effect.

2. In these rules unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context :—

Definitions.

(1) "Approved" means approved by the local Government.

(2) "Boat-deck" means any deck on which boats are carried and of which the space required for the stowage of boats under rule 19 occupies half or more of the length or breadth of such deck.

(3) "Daylight" means the period from one hour before sunrise until one hour after sunset.

(4) "Length" in connection with a ship means the registered length of the ship.

3. (1) Every pilgrim ship shall, subject to the provisions of sub-rule (1) of rule 27 be provided, in accordance with its length, with the number of sets of davits specified in column A of the Table in the Appendix to these rules :

Davits.

Provided that the local Government may, where it appears to them necessary, having regard to the height at which the boats are carried above the centre of the load line disc, and to the other circumstances of the case, require a ship of this class to carry in lieu of, or in addition to davits, some other approved form of launching appliances, or such arrangements for launching boats as may be, in their opinion, effective.

(2) (a) Pilgrim ships launched before the 1st January 1927, shall carry lifeboats, of which at least one shall be a motor boat, in such number and of such aggregate capacity as shall be sufficient to accommodate fifty per cent. and in the case of those launched on or after the 1st January 1927, seventy-five per cent. of the total number of persons which is carried or which the ship is certified to carry, whichever number is the greater.

Lifeboats.

(b) Each set of davits shall have a lifeboat of class I attached to it, and of these lifeboats at least the minimum number specified in column B of the Table in the Appendix to these rules shall be open boats. The minimum aggregate cubic capacity of the lifeboats to be attached to the davits shall be in accordance with the scale specified in column C of the table in the said Appendix.

(c) Any additional lifeboats which may be required to make up the total lifeboat accommodation required by clause (a) may be boats of class I or class II.

4. If the lifeboats carried do not provide sufficient accommodation for the total number of persons which is carried, or which the ship is certified to carry, whichever number is the greater, approved buoyant apparatus shall be carried sufficient for those persons for whom accommodation is not provided in lifeboats.

Buoyant apparatus.

5. Notwithstanding anything contained in clause (a) of sub-rule (2) of rule 3 or in rule 4 the master or owner of a pilgrim ship may carry on any voyage fewer lifeboats and approved buoyant apparatus than will provide sufficient accommodation for all the persons for which the ship is certified, if he declares before the Port Officer at the time of clearance that the lifeboats and approved buoyant apparatus actually carried will be sufficient to accommodate all persons who will be carried at any time during the voyage from and also during the voyage back to British India.

Exemptions in case of specified voyages.

6. If the ship is under 400 feet in length, at least twelve approved lifebuoys shall be carried ; if 400 feet or over, but under 600 feet, at least eighteen approved lifebuoys shall be carried ; if 600 feet or over, but under 800 feet, at least twenty-four approved life-buoys shall be carried ; and if 800 feet or over, at least thirty approved lifebuoys shall be carried.

Lifebuoys.

7. One approved lifejacket shall be carried for each person on board.

Lifejackets.

8. The local Government shall have power in general or in any particular case, to accept any boat, buoyant apparatus, other life-saving appliance or arrangement, in lieu of a life-saving appliance or arrangement required by these rules, subject to such conditions as they may impose, if they are satisfied that under those conditions it will be as effective as the appliance or arrangement required by these rules :

Power to accept alternatives

Provided that in the case of a ship launched on or after 1st January 1927, no life-saving appliance shall be accepted in lieu of a lifeboat required by these rules, except some other approved type of lifeboat.

9. For the purposes of these rules lifeboats are arranged in the following classes :—

Classification of life-boats.

CLASS I.

A.—Open lifeboats with internal buoyancy only.

The buoyancy of a wooden boat of this type shall be provided by water-tight air-cases, the total volume of which shall be at least equal to one-tenth of the cubic capacity of the boat.

In the case of a metal boat an addition shall be made to the cubic capacity of the airtight compartments, so as to give it buoyancy equal to that of the wooden boat.

B.—Open lifeboats with internal and external buoyancy.

The internal buoyancy of a wooden boat of this type shall be provided by water-tight air-cases, the total volume of which shall be at least equal to seven and a half per cent. of the cubic capacity of the boat.

If the external buoyancy is of cork, its volume, for a wooden boat, shall not be less than thirty-three thousandths of the cubic capacity of the boat; if of any material other than cork, its volume and distribution shall be such that the buoyancy and stability of the boat are not less than that of a similar boat provided with external buoyancy of cork.

In the case of a metal boat an addition shall be made to the cubic capacity of the airtight compartments, so as to give it buoyancy equal to that of the wooden boat.

C.—Pontoon lifeboats having a well deck and fixed watertight bulwarks.

The area of the well deck of a boat of this type shall be at least thirty per cent. of the total deck area. The height of the well deck above the water line at all points shall be at least equal to one-half per cent. of the length of the boat, this height rising to one and a half per cent. of the length of the boat at the ends of the well.

The freeboard of a boat of this type shall be such as to provide for a reserve buoyancy of at least thirty-five per cent.

CLASS II.

A.—Open lifeboats having the upper part of the side collapsible.

A boat of this type shall be fitted both with watertight air cases and with external buoyancy the volume of which for each person which the boat is able to accommodate shall be at least equal to the following amounts :—

| | Cubic feet. |
|---|---|
| Air-cases ... ... ... | 1·5 |
| External buoyancy (if of cork) ... ... | 0·2 |

The minimum freeboard of boats of this type is fixed in relation to their length ; it shall be measured vertically to the top of the solid hull at the side amidships from the water-level when the boat is loaded.

The freeboard in fresh water shall not be less than the following amounts :—

| Length of the Boat in feet. | Minimum Freeboard in inches. |
| 26 | 8 |
| 28 | 9 |
| 30 | 10 |

The freeboard of boats of intermediate lengths shall be found by interpolation.

B.—Pontoon lifeboats having a well deck and collapsible bulwarks.

All the conditions laid down for boats of Class IC shall be applied to boats of this type, which differ from those of Class IC only in regard to the bulwarks.

C.—Pontoon lifeboats having a flush deck and collapsible bulwarks.

The minimum freeboard of boats of this type is independent of their length and depends only upon their depth. The depth of the boat shall be measured vertically from the underside of the garboard strake to the top of the deck at the side amidships and the freeboard shall be measured from the top of the deck at the side amidships to the water-level when the boat is loaded

The freeboard in fresh water shall not be less than the following amounts which are applicable without correction to boats having a mean sheer equal to three per cent. of their length :—

| Depth of Boat in inches. | Minimum Freeboard in inches. |
|---|---|
| 12 | 2½ |
| 18 | 3½ |
| 24 | 5½ |
| 30 | 6½ |

For intermediate depths the freeboard shall be obtained by interpolation.

If the sheer is less than the standard sheer defined above, the minimum freeboard shall be obtained by adding to the figures in the table one-seventh of the difference between the standard sheer and the actual mean sheer measured at the stem and stern post; no deduction shall be made from the freeboard on account of the sheer being greater than the standard sheer or on account of the camber of the deck.

Motor boats.

10. (1) A motor boat carried as part of the statutory life-saving appliances of a pilgrim ship shall comply with the following conditions:—

(a) It shall comply with the requirements for a lifeboat of Class I, and proper appliances shall be provided for putting it into the water speedily.

(b) It shall be adequately provided with fuel, and keep so as to be at all times ready for use.

(2) In fixing the volume of the internal buoyancy and, where fitted, the external buoyancy, regard shall be had to the difference between the weight of the motor and its accessories, and the weight of the additional persons which the boat could accommodate if the motor and its accessories were removed.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in this rule, a lifeboat fitted with the Fleming gear shall be accepted in lieu of a motor boat, provided that it otherwise complies with the requirements specified in the said sub-sections

Construction of life boats.

11. (1) All boats shall be properly constructed, and shall be of such form and proportions that they shall have ample stability in a seaway, and sufficient freeboard when loaded with their full complement of persons and equipment. They shall be fitted and arranged to the satisfaction of the local Government.

(2) The structural strength of the boats shall be to the satisfaction of the local Government. In the case of ships launched on or after the 1st January 1927, the strength shall be sufficient to permit of the boats being safely lowered into the water with the full complement of persons and equipment on board.

Seating accommodation.

(3) In all open boats, all thwart and side seats shall be fitted as low in the boat as practicable, and shall provide seating accommodation for all persons the boat is deemed fit to carry, and bottom boards shall be fitted so that the thwarts shall not be more than 2 feet 9 inches above them.

Buoyancy.

(4) Internal buoyancy apparatus shall be constructed of copper or yellow metal of not less than 18 ounces to the superficial foot, or of other durable material, and in open boats of Class I may be placed along the sides or at the ends of the boat, but not in the bottom of the boat. External buoyancy apparatus may be of cork or of any other equally efficient approved material; the use of rushes, cork shavings, loose granulated cork, or any other loose granulated substance, and the use of apparatus dependent upon inflation by air, is prohibited.

Sheer.

(5) Open lifeboats of Class I shall have a mean sheer at least equal to four per cent. of their length.

Pontoon lifeboats.

(6) Pontoon lifeboats may be built of wood or metal. If constructed of wood, they shall have the bottom and deck made of two thicknesses with textile material between; if of metal, they shall be divided into watertight compartments with means of access to each compartment and shall be provided with at least two bilge pumps.

(7) All pontoon lifeboats shall be fitted with efficient means for quickly clearing the deck of water. The orifices for this purpose shall be such that the water cannot enter the boat through them when they are intermittently submerged. The number and size of the orifices shall be determined by the local Government for each type of boat by a special test.

For the purpose of this test:—

(a) The pontoon boat shall be loaded with a weight of iron equal to that of its complement of persons and equipment;

(b) In the case of a boat 28 feet in length, two tons of water shall be cleared from the boat in a time not exceeding the following:—

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Class IC | ... | ... | ... | 60 seconds. |
| Class IIB | ... | ... | ... | 60 ,, |
| Class IIC | ... | ... | ... | 20 ,, |

In the case of a boat having a length greater or less than 28 feet the weight of water to be cleared in the same time shall be for each type directly proportional to the length of the boat.

(8) No boat shall be accepted as a lifeboat the buoyancy of which depends upon the previous adjustment of one of the principal parts of the hull.

(9) All boats shall be fitted for the use of a steering oar.

Marking of lifeboats.

(10) All boats shall be permanently marked to the satisfaction of the local Government in such a way as to indicate plainly their dimensions and the number of persons for which they are approved. Boats that have been properly marked need not be re-measured, unless there is reason to believe that the marks have been tampered with or are otherwise defective or improper.

Number of persons.

12. (1) The number of persons which a lifeboat shall be deemed fit to carry shall be equal to the greatest whole number obtained by dividing the capacity of the boat in cubic feet, or the surface of the boat in square feet, as the case may be (calculated as provided by rules 13 and 14), by the standard unit of capacity, or unit of surface, defined below.

(2) The cubic capacity in feet of a boat in which the number of persons is determined by the surface shall be assumed to be ten times the number of persons which the boat is authorised to carry.

(3) The standard units of capacity and surface are as follows :—

| Units of capacity. | Cubic feet. |
|---|---|
| Class IA ... ... ... ... | 10 |
| Class IB ... ... ... ... | 9 |

| Units of surface. | Square feet. |
|---|---|
| Class IIA ... ... ... ... / Class IIC ... ... ... ... | 3½ |
| Class IC ... ... ... ... / Class IIB ... ... ... ... | 3¼ |

(4) The local Governments may accept a smaller divisor for pontoon boats of Class IC and Class IIB, if they are satisfied after trial that the number of persons for whom there is seating accommodation in the boat in question is greater than the number obtained by applying the above divisor, provided always that the divisor adopted in place of 3½ shall never be less than 3.

(5) The number of persons obtained by the above rules shall be reduced :—

(i) If it is greater than the number of persons for which there is proper seating accommodation, the latter number being determined in such a way that the persons when seated do not interfere in any way with the use of the oars, or

(ii) If, in the case of boats other than open boats of Class I, the freeboard when the boat is fully loaded is less than the freeboard required by these Rules.

Test afloat.

(6) If the Government Surveyor is doubtful as to the number of persons any boat is fit to carry he may require the boat to be tested afloat with the intended number of persons on board.

(7) The local Government may limit the number of persons to be allowed in boats with very fine ends and in boats very full in form.

Children.

(8) Two persons of the age of one year or upwards and under the age of twelve years shall be reckoned as one person.

Cubic capacity of Open Boats of Class I.

13. (1) In the case of an open boat of Class I the cubic capacity shall be determined by the following formula :—

$$\text{Capacity} = \frac{l}{12}(4A + 2B + 4C).$$

$l$ denotes the length of the boat in feet from inside of the planking or plating at the stem to the corresponding point at the stern post ; in the case of a boat with a square stern the length is measured to the inside of the transom.

$A$, $B$, $C$ denote respectively the areas of the cross-sections at the quarter length forward, amidships, and the quarter length aft, which correspond to the three points obtained by dividing $l$ into four equal parts (the areas corresponding to the two ends of the boat are considered negligible).

The areas $A$, $B$, $C$ shall be deemed to be given in square feet by the successive application of the following formula to each of the three cross-sections :—

$$\text{Area} = \frac{h}{12}(a + 4b + 2c + 4d + e).$$

$h$ denotes the depth measured in feet inside the planking or plating from the keel to the level of the gunwale, or, in certain cases to a lower level, as determined hereafter.

$a$, $b$, $c$, $d$, $e$ denote the horizontal breadths of the boat measured in feet to the inside of the planking at the upper and lower points of the depth and at the three points obtained by dividing $h$ into four equal parts ($a$ and $e$ being the breadths at the extreme points, and $c$ at the middle point, of $h$).

(2) If the sheer of the gunwale, measured at the two points situated at a quarter of the length of the boat from the ends, exceed 1 per cent. of the length of the boat, the depth employed in calculating the area of the cross-section $A$ or $C$ shall be deemed to be the depth amidships plus 1 per cent. of the length of the boat.

(3) If the depth of the boat amidships exceeds 45 per cent. of the breadth, the depth employed in calculating the area of the midship cross-section B shall be deemed to be equal to 45 per cent. of the breadth, and the depth employed in calculating the areas of the quarter length sections A and C shall be obtained by increasing this last figure by an amount equal to 1 per cent. of the length of the boat, provided that in no case shall the depths employed in the calculation exceed the actual depths at these points.

(4) If the depth of the boat is greater than 4 feet the number of persons given by the application of these Rules shall be reduced in proportion to the ratio of 4 feet to the actual depth, until the boat has been tested afloat with that number of persons on board, all wearing lifejackets, and the test has proved satisfactory.

(5) The cubic capacity of a boat may be assumed to be the product of the length, the breadth and the depth multiplied by 0·6 in cases where it is clear that this formula does not give a greater capacity than that obtained by the above method. The dimensions shall then be measured in the following manner :—

Length : From the intersection of the outside of the planking with the stem to the corresponding point at the stern post or, in the case of a square sterned boat, to the after side of the transom.

Breadth : From the outside of the planking at the point where the breadth of the boat is greatest.

Depth : Amidships inside the planking from the keel to the level of the gunwale, but the depth used in calculating the cubic capacity may not in any case exceed 45 per cent. of the breadth.

In all cases the shipowner shall have the right to require that the cubic capacity of the boat shall be determined by exact measurement.

(6) If the oars are pulled in rowlocks, the bottom of the rowlocks shall be considered as the gunwale in measuring the depth of the boat.

(7) The cubic capacity of a motor-boat shall be obtained from the gross capacity by deducting a volume equal to that occupied by the wireless telegraphy installation, the searchlight, the motor and its accessories.

Cubic capicity of motor boats.

14. In the case of Pontoon Boats and of open boats of Class II the surface in square feet shall be determined by the following formula :—

Deck area and capacity of Pontoon Boats and of Open Boats of Class II.

$$\text{Area} = \frac{l}{12}(2a + 1{\cdot}5b + 4c + 1{\cdot}5d + 2e).$$

l denotes the length in feet from the intersection of the outside of the planking with the stem to the corresponding point at the stern post.

a, b, c, d, e denote the horizontal breadths in feet outside the planking at the points obtained by diving l into four equal parts and sub-dividing the foremost and aftermost parts into two equal parts (a and e being the breadths at the extreme subdivisions, c at the middle point of the length, and b and d at the intermediate points).

15. No boat carried in compliance with these rules shall have a capacity of less than 125 cubic feet.

Size of boats.

16. In the tests prescribed by these rules for determining the number of persons which a boat can accommodate each person shall be assumed to be an adult person wearing a lifejacket.

Weight of persons.

In verifications of freeboard the pontoon boats shall be loaded with a weight of at least 135 lbs. for each adult person that the pontoon boat is authorised to carry.

17. (1) The davits shall be of approved form and shall be suitably placed to the satisfaction of the local Government. They shall be fitted on one or more of the decks in such positions that the boats can be efficiently lowered from them, and shall be so spaced and placed that the boats can be swung out with facility. Davits shall not be fitted in the bows of a ship, but they may be fitted in any other position in the ship, provided that the boats are not brought into dangerous proximity to a propeller at the time of launching.

Appliances for lowering boats.

(2) The davits, falls, blocks, and all other gear required for lowering the boats, shall be of sufficient strength to the satisfaction of the local Government. In the case of ships launched on or after the 1st January 1927, they shall be of such strength that the boats can be lowered safely with the full complement of persons and equipment, the ship being assumed to have a list of 15 degrees.

(3) In the case of ships launched on or after the 1st January 1927, the davits shall be fitted with gear of sufficient power to ensure that the boats can be turned out against the maximum list under which the lowering of the boats is possible, or the davits shall be of the quadrant or other such type as will ensure the above condition being fulfilled.

(4) The boat's falls shall be long enough to lower the boat into the water with safety when the vessel is light. Life-lines shall be fitted to the davit spans, and shall be long enough to reach the water when the vessel is light. Hooks shall not be attached to the lower tackle blocks.

(5) Means shall be provided for speedily, but not necessarily simultaneously or automatically, detaching the boats from the falls; the boats placed under davits shall be attached to the falls and kept ready for service; the points of attachment of the boats to the falls shall be sufficiently away from the ends of the boats to ensure their being easily swung clear of the davits; the boats' chocks shall be of such construction and arrangement as shall be satisfactory to the local Government.

(6) Where more boats than one are served by the same set of davits, arrangements shall be made to prevent the falls fouling when they are recovered and, where more than two boats are served by the same set of davits, there shall be provided an approved appliance for lowering the boats in turn and rapidly.

(7) The local Government may accept in lieu of davits or sets of davits any other appliance, appliances, or arrangements, which appear to them at least as effective as davits for placing the boats in the water.

Buoyant Apparatus.

18. Approved buoyant apparatus, whether buoyant deck seats, buoyant deck chairs or other buoyant apparatus, shall be deemed sufficient, so far as buoyancy is concerned, for a person or number of persons to be ascertained by dividing the number of pounds of iron which it is capable of supporting in fresh water by 32, and if the apparatus depends for its buoyancy on air shall not require to be inflated before use.

Such approved buoyant apparatus shall comp y with the following conditions :—

(1) It shall be of approved material and construction.

(2) It shall be reversible.

(3) It shall be of such size, strength and weight that it can be handled without mechanical appliances and, if necessary, can be thrown from the vessel's deck on which it is stowed.

(4) The air-cases or equivalent buoyancy shall be placed as near as possible to the sides of the apparatus.

(5) It shall be marked in such a way as plainly to indicate that it is buoyant and the number of persons for which it is approved.

Stowage of Boats, Rafts, etc.

19. (1) All boats attached to davits and all boats stowed under boats attached to davits shall be stowed in such a way that—

(a) They can be launched in the shortest possible time;

(b) They will not impede in any way the prompt handling of any other of the lifeboats attached to davits or stowed under boats attached to davits or the buoyant apparatus carried under rule 4 or the marshalling of the persons on board at the launching stations, or their embarkation;

(c) Even under conditions of list and trim unfavourable from the point of view of the handling of the boats as large a number of persons as possible can be embarked in them;

(d) Except as hereinafter provided, they shall be so stowed as not to require lifting before being launched.

(2) With regard to the stowage of other additional lifeboats and buoyant apparatus the following provisions shall apply :—

(a) They shall not impede in any way the prompt handling of the lifeboats attached to davits or the additional boats stowed under boats attached to davits or the buoyant apparatus or the marshalling of the persons on board at the launching stations or their embarkation;

(b) The lifeboats may be stowed one above the other or they may, subject to such conditions as the local Government may impose, be fitted one within another, but where boats so fitted require lifting before being launched, they shall only be permitted if attached to davits operated by mechanical power appliances;

(c) The lifeboats may be stowed in rows across a deck, bridge or poop;

(d) As large a number of the boats as possible shall be capable of being launched on either side of the ship, either by means of approved appliances for transferring them from one side of the deck to the other, or by stowing in rows across the deck, or by some other equally satisfactory means;

(e) Means shall be provided to the satisfaction of the local Government for lowering the lifeboats into the water in the shortest possible time.

(3) Where a boat is stowed underneath another boat there shall be provided approved removable supports or other approved appliances, so as to secure that the weight of a boat is not unduly supported by the boat underneath it.

(4) Boats may only be stowed on more than one deck on condition that proper measures are taken to prevent the boats from a lower deck being fouled by those from a deck above.

(5) All buoyant apparatus shall be so stowed as to be readily available in case of emergency.

Equipment for boats and buoyant apparatus.

20. (1) Every boat which is carried by any ship shall be equipped as follows :—

(a) With the full single banked complement of oars and two spare oars, and a steering oar.

(b) With two plugs for each plug hole, attached with lanyards or chains, and one set and a half of thole pins or crutches, attached to the boat by sound lanyards. Plugs shall not be required where proper automatic valves are fitted.

(c) With a sea anchor, a bailer, a galvanised iron bucket, a rudder and a tiller, or yoke and yoke lines, a painter of sufficient length, and a boat-hook. The rudder, the bailer, and the bucket shall be attached to the boat by sufficiently long lanyards, and kept ready for use.

(d) With a vessel capable of holding one quart for each person that the boat is deemed fit to carry. This vessel shall be kept filled with fresh water, and provided with a dipper with lanyard.

(e) With two hatchets, one to be kept in each end of the boat, and to be attached to the boat by a lanyard.

(f) With a line securely becketted round the outside of the boat.

(g) With an efficient lantern trimmed, with oil in its receiver sufficient to burn eight hours ; or with some other lantern or light at least as effective approved by the local Government.

(2) In addition to the equipment prescribed in sub-rule (1), the boats shall be equipped as follows :—

(a) With a mast or masts, and with at least one good sail and proper gear for each ; but this does not apply to an approved motor boat.

(b) With an efficient compass.

(c) With an air-tight case containing two pounds of biscuits for each person for whom the boat is approved.

(d) With one gallon of vegetable or animal oil, and a vessel of approved pattern for distributing it on the water in rough weather. This vessel shall be capable of being attached to the sea anchor.

(e) With one dozen self-igniting red lights in a water-tight tin, and a box of suitable matches in a water-tight tin.

(f) With 1 lb. of condensed milk for each person the boat is certified to carry.

(3) All buoyant apparatus carried by a pilgrim ship shall be equipped as follows :—

(a) With two paddles and one boathook or two paddles and boathooks combined attached to the buoyant apparatus by lanyards.

(b) A painter of sufficient length.

(c) A line securely becketted round the outside of the apparatus.

(d) A self-igniting light and two signal flares of approved pattern, the self-igniting light to be attached to the buoyant apparatus by lanyards of suitable length ;

Provided that on buoyant apparatus, designed to support less than twenty-five persons the paddles, boathook and flares need not be carried.

(4) All boats and buoyant apparatus shall be fully equipped before the ship leaves harbour and the equipment shall remain in the boat or buoyant apparatus throughout the voyage, while the ship is at sea or shall be stowed in some convenient place where it will be immediately available in case of emergency.

Side Ladders.

21. In all ships, approved rope ladders shall be carried in proportion to the number of davits fitted, namely, not less than one ladder for each two sets of davits, provided that no ship shall be required to carry more than 10 ladders. The ladders shall be of sufficient length to reach the waterline at the vessel's lightest sea-going draught and shall be carried in such a manner as to be always available for use in embarking the persons in the boats or rafts.

Illumination.

22. On all pilgrim ships in which the boat deck is more than 30 feet above the water provision shall be made for the illumination from the ship of the lifeboats when alongside and in process of or immediately after being launched.

Lifejackets.

23. An approved lifejacket shall mean a jacket of approved material and construction which is capable of floating in fresh water for 24 hours with 15 lbs. of iron suspended from it, or any other approved appliance of equal buoyancy and capable of being fitted on the body. It shall be reversible and suitable both for adults and children. Lifejackets the buoyancy of which depends on air compartments are prohibited.

Lifebuoys.

24. (1) (a) An approved lifebuoy shall be of solid cork or other equivalent material. It shall be capable of floating in fresh water for at least 24 hours with 32 lbs. of iron suspended from it.

(b) Lifebuoys filled with rushes, cork shavings, granulated cork or any other loose granulated material, whose buoyancy depends upon air compartments requiring inflation, are prohibited.

(2) All lifebuoys shall be fitted with buckets securely seized, and at least one on each side of the ship shall be fitted with a life-line at least 15 fathoms in length.

Position of Lifebuoys and Life-jackets.

25. All lifebuoys and life jackets shall be suitably placed to the satisfaction of the Government Surveyor and so as to be readily accessible to all persons on board; and their position shall be plainly indicated so that it may be known to those for whom they are intended.

Lifebuoys shall always be capable of being rapidly cast loose and shall not be rigidly secured in any way.

Life jackets may be stored either in battens over the passenger decks or in boxes under the charge of serangs as well as in the buoyant seats when these are used. The contents of the boxes shall be clearly painted on them and illustrated notices in the vernacular shall be posted up in different parts of the ship explaining to passengers where to find life jackets and how to use them. In addition, their use shall be demonstrated by the crew both during boat drills and periodically at other times.

Exemptions.

26. (1) Any boat which forms part of the equipment of a ship that was launched before the 1st January 1927, and which has been inspected and approved by the local Government before that date may be accepted as equivalent to a lifeboat for a period of two years from that date, so long as it remains in good condition.

(2) Boats which were ordered before the date of the promulgation of these rules in order to complete the equipment of a ship, but which were not delivered in time to be inspected by the local Government before that date, may be accepted as equivalent to lifeboats for a period of two years from that date, so long as they remain in good condition:

Provided that such boats shall not be so accepted unless—

(a) they have been inspected where this has not already been done;

(b) they would have complied with the requirements of the rules in force prior to the promulgation of these rules.

27. (1) If it appears to the Government Surveyor on the application of the owner of any ship, that it is not practicable or reasonable to fit in that ship the number of sets of davits required by these rules, he may direct that one or more sets of davits may be dispensed with in that ship subject to such conditions, if any, as he may require:

Provided that the number of davits fitted shall not be less than the minimum number of open boats of the first class except in the following case:—

When a ship has been granted a passenger certificate previous to the introduction of these rules, the minimum number of sets of davits may, if the ship is between 245 feet and 460 feet in length, be one less, and if the ship is 460 feet or more in length, two less (one on each side of the ship) than the minimum number of open boats specified in column B of the Table in the Appendix to these rules;

Provided further that the owner of the ship in question shall be required to prove, by a test made in the presence of a Government Surveyor, that all the boats can be launched in a time to be fixed by him. The conditions of this test shall be as follows:—

(a) the ship shall be upright and in smooth water;

(b) the time shall be the time required from the beginning of the removal of the boat covers, or any other operation necessary to prepare the boats for lowering, until the last boat or pontoon raft is afloat;

(c) the number of men employed in the whole operation shall not exceed the total number of boat hands that will be carried on the vessel under normal service conditions;

(d) each boat, when being lowered, shall have on board at least two men, and its full equipment as required by these rules.

(2) If it appears to the local Government, on the application of the owner of any ship, that it is not practicable or reasonable in a particular case to require that pontoon lifeboats, made before the date of the promulgation of these rules and carried on ships of which the keel was laid on or before that date, shall have the minimum freeboard specified in these rules or the bottom and deck and made in two thicknesses with textile material between, the local Government may in their discretion dispense with full compliance with the rules in these respects until two years from that date, subject to such conditions, if any, as the local Government may impose.

(3) If a small ship is unable to carry more than one boat, the local Government may in their discretion exempt that ship from carrying more than one, but whenever one boat only is carried there shall be proper provision to enable it to be placed readily in the water on either side of the ship.

(4) If it appears to the Government Surveyor that it is impracticable to carry the number of boats required by these rules, the possible number (in the absence of large structural alterations) shall be found by measurement, after taking into consideration the practicability of launching these boats in rough weather.

Manning of lifeboats, etc.

28. Boat's crews shall be carried in all ships to which these rules apply on the following scale, namely:—

|---|---|
| 28 feet boats over and under this length | 1 officer or petty officer and 4 men. |
| 25 feet boats over and under 28 feet ... | 1 officer or petty officer and 3 men. |
| 20 feet boats over and under 25 feet ... | 1 officer or petty officer and 2 men. |
| Under 20 feet ... ... ... | 2 men. |

29. From a date to be notified by the Governor-General in Council each lifeboat shall be in charge of a minimum number of lifeboatmen holding certificates issued under the authority of the local Government concerned. In order to obtain the certificates, the men must prove that they have been trained in all the operations connected with the launching of lifeboats and the use of oars : that they are acquainted with the practical handling of the boats themselves ; and further that they are capable of understanding and answering the orders relative to lifeboat service.

Lifeboatmen.

30. A man capable of working the motor shall be assigned to each motor-boat. The allocation of certificated lifeboatmen to each boat and raft shall remain within the discretion of the master according to circumstances. The officer or petty officer placed in charge of each boat or set of rafts shall have a list of its crew and shall see that men placed under his orders are acquainted with their several duties and stations. The duty of seeing that the boats, pontoon-rafts and other life-saving appliances are at all times ready for use shall be assigned to one or more officers.

Motormen.

31. The muster list shall assign duties to the different members of the crew in connection with—

Musters and drills.

(a) the launching of the boats attached to davits ;

(b) the preparation of the other boats :

(c) the equipment of the boats generally ;

(d) the closing of the bulkhead doors, etc. ;

(e) the mustering of the passengers.

It shall also assign to the members of the Steward's Department their several duties in relation to the passengers at a time of emergency. These duties shall include—

(a) warning the passengers ;

(b) seeing that they are dressed and have put on their life-jackets in a proper manner ;

(c) assembling the passengers ;

(d) keeping order in the pas sages and on the stairways and generally controlling the movements of the passengers.

32. The muster-list shall specify definite alarm signals for calling all the crew to their boat and fire stations and shall give full particulars of these signals. Before the vessel sails the master shall draw up and exhibit the muster-list and the proper authority shall be satisfied that the muster-list has been prepared for the ship and posted in several parts of the ship and in particular in the crew's quarters.

Muster-list.

33. (1) In all ships to which these rules apply, a boat drill and a water-tight door drill shall be held as soon as possible after leaving the original port of departure and at convenient intervals of not less than a week during the voyage. Such drills shall be recorded in the official log.

Drill.

(2) The Government Surveyor shall be satisfied, in each case before the ship leaves port, that a return has been devised and communicated to each officer of the ship for securing an efficient working of the boats. In all cases a police system shall be organised to the satisfaction of the Government Surveyor so as to secure obedience to orders and proper control and guidance of all on board in times of emergency.

(3) In carrying out the boat and water-tight door drills the crew will, when practicable, drill in their life-jackets and arrangements shall be made, when possible, for passengers to see the crew putting their life-jackets on. Entries in the official log shall state whether and when this has been done.

34. In all ships which are required under these rules to carry two or more boats, an emergency boat shall be carried slung out and ready for action every night.

Emergency boat.

35. Special boat decks shall be kept entirely clear of pilgrims, and in the case of bridge-decks and poop-decks, which are utilized for carrying pilgrims as well as boats and rafts, a space sufficient for the working of the boats and rafts shall be railed off.

Boat-decks.

36. (1) No boats, or buoyant-seats the whole of which cannot be efficiently put into the water in one hour, shall be deemed to form part of the equipment required in these respects for any vessel.

Time allowed for launching.

(2) The equipment of boats, and buoyant seats of any vessels shall not be passed by the Government Surveyor as satisfying these rules unless the whole of it can be efficiently placed in the water in one hour.

(3) If in any year the amount of any dividend or the aggregate amount of any dividends paid to any shareholder by a company (together with the amount of any income-tax payable by the company in respect thereof) exceeds the maximum amount of the total income of a person which is not chargeable to super-tax under the law for the time being in force, and the principal officer of the company has not reason to believe that the shareholder is resident in British India, and no order under sub-section (2) has been received in respect of such shareholder by the principal officer from the Income-tax Officer, the principal officer shall at the time of payment deduct super-tax on the amount of such excess at the rate which would be applicable under the law for the time being in force if the amount of such dividend or dividends (together with the amount of such income-tax as aforesaid) constituted the whole total income of the shareholder."

(b) to interfere with any rules made by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, and for the time being in force, for the presentation of appeals to His Majesty in Council, or their conduct before the said Judicial Committee."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The objects of the Bill are as follows :—

(1) It is intended to render section 57 (2) of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (XI of 1922), effective for the objects that the Legislature originally intended to secure by its enactment. The sub-section is question runs as follows :—

> "Where any assessee who is liable to pay super-tax on the amount of the dividends receivable by him from any company is, to the knowledge of the principal officer of the company, residing out of British India, the principal officer shall be liable to pay the super-tax due by such non-resident person in respect of the dividends received by him from the company, and shall have power to deduct the amount of such super-tax from the amount payable by the company to such assessee."

The intention of the sub-section is plain. It was framed to enable super-tax to be collected by deduction at source from the dividends payable to a non-resident shareholder It has been found, however, that owing to technical defects in the drafting of the sub-section, the latter, as it stands, is of doubtful value. This is partly due to the use of the phrase " any assessee who is liable to pay super-tax ". The sub-section contemplates deduction from the dividends at the time of payment, but the " liability " to super-tax does not arise until the following year, since super-tax, like income-tax, is charged on the income of the previous year. Further, an " assessee " is defined in section 2 (2) as " a person by whom income-tax is payable ". " Income-tax " in this section includes super-tax [section 58 (1)], but it seems doubtful whether income-tax on super-tax can be said to be " payable " by a person who has not been formally assessed to income-tax or super-tax. Nor is it clear how super-tax can be "due " from a person who has not been assessed to super-tax. The Bill, therefore, provides for the amendment of the sub-section so as to make it plain that, without any formal assessment proceedings, the principal officer of a company is empowered to deduct super-tax from dividends declared to a non-resident when the amount of such dividends declared in a single fiscal year to the said non-resident (whether on one occasion or on more occasions than one) reaches the minimum amount liable to super-tax. The super-tax is in this case to be deducted at the rate applicable to the dividends on the assumption that the payee has no other income.

(2) The second object which the Bill is intended to secure is to obviate the anomalous results to which the existing sub-section (2) of section 57 gives rise, owing to the fact that the principal officer of a company can only deduct super-tax from a dividend paid to a non-resident, if the dividend itself exceeds the minimum liable to super-tax and even then can only deduct super-tax on the assumption that the dividend constitutes the whole of the shareholder's income. This may give a non-resident shareholder an unfair advantage over a resident with precisely the same income. For example, if a non-resident shareholder draws a dividend of Rs. 40,000 from one company and a dividend of Rs. 60,000 from another company, super-tax will only be deducted on Rs. 10,000 by the principal officer of the second company, whereas, if the shareholder were a resident, he would have to pay super-tax on Rs. 50,000. Here clearly he has an unfair advantage over the resident shareholder. The existing sub-section may also operate unfairly as between two non-residents, for example, if one non-resident draws a dividend of Rs. 30,000 from one company and a dividend of Rs. 40,000 from another, no super-tax will be deducted, whereas if another non-resident shareholder draws a dividend of Rs. 70,000 from a single company, super-tax will be deducted on Rs. 20,000. In order, therefore, to render it possible, to some extent, for the income of non-residents derived from dividends in different companies and from other sources to be combined and taxed at the proper rate, so as to put them, as far as possible, on the same footing, in this respect, as residents, the Bill further provides that the principal officer of every company shall be required to notify to the Department annually all dividends paid to shareholders in excess of a sum to be prescribed by rule. This obligation is not restricted to dividends paid to non-residents, since such information will also be of great use to the Government for the purpose of preventing evasion of super-tax and income-tax by failure on the part of residents to include dividends in their returns. The amount of the individual dividend to which this provision should apply has been left to be fixed by rule in order that a convenient figure may be prescribed in the light of experience.

(3) In the case of the non-resident, the only method of realising the super-tax on dividends is ordinarily by deduction at source. The Bill, therefore, further provides that where the income-tax officer has reason to believe, as a result of the receipt of the information just mentioned from principal officers of companies, or otherwise, that the total income of a non-resident will reach the super-taxable limit, he may communicate to the principal officers of companies in which the non-resident holds shares, the estimated rate of super-tax appropriate to the total income of the non-resident, whereupon the principal officers in question will be required to deduct super-tax from any dividends paid to the non-resident at such rate. Such deductions will be subject to subsequent adjustment as stated below.

(4) It is further proposed to amend section 51 of the Act so as to make it an offence for the principal officer of a company to fail to furnish the return of shareholders to whom he has paid dividends in excess of the prescribed limits and to amend section 52; similarly, to make it an offence for the principal officer of the company to make a false statement in such a return.

(5) In sections 57 (1) and 57 (3) [to be renumbered as sub-section (4)], which relate, respectively, to the liability of resident members of a registered firm to pay the super-tax chargeable on the share of the profits of the firm due to a non-resident member, and to payment of super-tax on account of non-residents under the provisions of section 57, it is proposed to substitute the word "person" for the word "assessee" owing to the difficulties created by the use of the latter word which have been mentioned above.

(6) Finally, by clause 6, it is proposed to make the provisions of section 18, sub-sections (4) to (9) apply to super-tax recovered under sub-section (2) or sub-section (3) of section 57, so that—

(a) credit will be allowed for tax deducted under section 57 when any assessment is made on the shareholder's income in the following year (consequently any excess collection will be adjusted as already mentioned);

(b) the person deducting super-tax shall be bound to pay it within the prescribed time into the Government Treasury;

(c) a person who makes a default in the deduction of super-tax under section 57 shall be liable for the tax;

(d) the power to recover by deduction under section 57 shall not bar other methods of recovery; and

(e) every person deducting super-tax under section 57 shall be bound to furnish to the shareholder on whose behalf the tax has been deducted a certificate giving the particulars of such deduction.

(7) The Bill also contains provisions designed to overcome the difficulty that has been experienced, both by Government and by the public, owing to the fact that, short of legislation, there is no means of securing uniformity in the administration of the law in different provinces, where different High Courts have expressed different opinions under section 66 in regard to the interpretation of questions of law referred to them. The Bill, therefore, provides that references under section 66 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, should be heard by a Bench of not less than two Judges; that where such Judges disagree the case should be referred to a third Judge whose opinion should prevail, and that from a decision of a High Court under section 66 an appeal should lie to the Privy Council.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 1st February, 1926 :—

No. 8 OF 1926.

A Bill further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for a certain purpose.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for the purpose hereinafter appearing ; It is hereby enacted as follows :— V of 1898.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Code of Criminal Procedure (Second Amendment) Act, 1926.

Amendment of section 123, Act V of 1898

2. In sub-section (6) of section 123 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, the words and figures "or section 109" shall be omitted, and before the word and figures "section 110" the words and figures "section 109 or" shall be inserted. V of 1898

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Prior to the amendment of section 123 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, by section 21 (2) of Act XVIII of 1923, Courts had discretion to award either simple or rigorous imprisonment in the case of proceedings under section 109. The effect of the amendment was to take away the discretion, and this Bill restores it. Several Local Governments have represented that the change has worked injuriously, as most of the persons against whom proceedings are taken under section 109 are men for whom sentences of simple imprisonment are quite unsuitable. The Jails authorities also have in their administrative reports brought this point prominently to notice. This provision was inserted in the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Bill which was introduced on the 27th August 1925, but on the 14th September when the Bill was taken into consideration, the provision in question was omitted by the Assembly. The Government of India attach very great administrative importance to the provision, and they have some reason for believing that it was omitted from the Bill in September last largely owing to a misunderstanding as to the class of persons usually proceeded against under section 109. They have accordingly decided to place the proposal once more before the Indian Legislature as a single issue and so to enable its merits to be fully discussed.

BRITISH POSSESSIONS.

Caution when approaching British Ports.

No. 56 (third publication).—The following particulars, etc., relative to the above, issued by the British Admiralty (No. 1 of 1926), are republished :—

PART I.

CLOSING OF PORTS.

Former Notice.—No. 1 of 1925 ; (This office No. 83 of 1925) hereby cancelled.

(1) My Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, having taken into consideration the fact that it may be necessary to forbid all entrance to certain ports of the Empire, this is to give notice that on approaching the shores of the United Kingdom, or any of the ports or localities of the British Empire, a sharp look-out should be kept for the signals described in the following paragraph, and for the vessels mentioned in paragraph (5), Part II, of this notice, and the distinguishing and other signals made by them. In the event of such signals being displayed, the port or locality should be approached with great caution, as it may be apprehended that obstructions may exist.

(2) If entrance to a port is prohibited, three red lights vertically disposed by night or three red balls vertically disposed by day, will be exhibited in some conspicuous position, in or near to its approach, which signals will also be shown by the vessels indicated in paragraph (5), Part II, of this notice.

If these signals are displayed, vessels must approach the port with the greatest caution and implicitly obey all orders or signals given them by the Examination vessel or signal station.

(3) At some ports or localities at home or abroad, search-lights are occasionally exhibited for exercise.

Instructions have been given to avoid directing movable search-lights during practice on to vessels under way, but mariners are warned that great care should be taken to keep a sharp look-out for the signals indicated in paragraph (2) above, when search-lights are observed to be working.

PART II.

Examination Service.

(4) In certain circumstances it is also necessary to take special measures to examine vessels desiring to enter ports or localities at home or abroad.

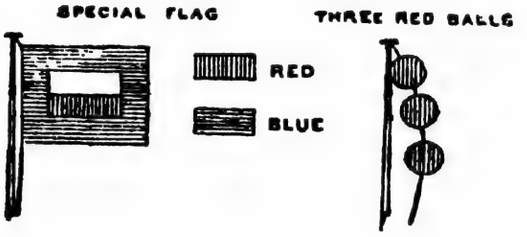
(5) In such case, vessels carrying the distinguishing flags or lights mentioned in paragraph (7) will be charged with the duty of examining ships which desire to enter the port and of allotting positions in which they shall anchor. If Government vessels, or vessels belonging to the local port authority, are found patrolling in the offing, merchant vessels are advised to communicate with such vessels with a view to obtaining information as to the course on which they should approach the port. Such communication will not be necessary in cases where the pilot on board has already received this information from the local authorities.

(6) As the institution of the Examination Service will probably be unknown to vessels desiring to enter the port, especial care should be taken in approaching the ports, by day or night, to keep a sharp look-out for any vessel carrying the flags or lights mentioned in paragraph (7), and to be ready to "bring to" at once when hailed by her or warned by the firing of a gun or sound rocket.

In approaching by night any British port in the United Kingdom or abroad, serious delay and risk will be avoided if four efficient all round lanterns, two red and two white, are kept available for use.

(7) By day the distinguishing flag of the Examination Steamer will be a special flag (white and red horizontal surrounded by a blue border).

Also, three red balls vertically disposed if entrance is prohibited.



Usually the Examination Steamers will fly the Blue ensign, but in certain circumstances they may fly the White Ensign.

By night the steamer will carry :—

(a) Three red lights vertically disposed if entrance is prohibited.
(b) Three white lights vertically disposed if entrance is permitted.

The above lights will be carried in addition to the ordinary navigation lights, and will show an unbroken light around the horizon.

(8) Masters are warned that, when approaching a British port where the Examination Service is in force, they must have the signal letters of their vessel ready to hoist immediately the Examination Steamer makes the signal : "What ship is that ?"

(9) Masters are warned that, before attempting to enter any port when the Examination Service is in force, they must in their own interest strictly obey all instructions given to them by the Examination Steamer.

Whilst at anchor in the Examination Anchorage, Masters are warned that it is forbidden, except for the purpose of avoiding accident, to do any of the following things, wihtout permission from the Examining Officer :—

To lower any boat.
To communicate with the shore or with other ships.
To move the ship.
To work cables.
To allow any person or thing to leave the ship.

(10) In case of fog, Masters are enjoined to use the utmost care, and the port should be approached with caution.

(11) When the Examination Service is in force merchant vessels when approaching ports are especially cautioned against making use of private signals of any description, either by day or night ; the use of them will render a vessel liable to be fired on.

(12) The pilots attached to the ports will be acquainted with the regulations to be followed.

PART III.

Mine-Sweeping Operations.

H. M. Vessels engaged in mine-sweeping operations or exercises are hampered to a considerable extent in their manœuvring powers.

With a view to indicating the nature of the work on which they are engaged, these vessels will show the signals hereinafter mentioned. For the public safety all other vessels, whether steamers or sailing craft, should endeavour to keep out of the way of vessels flying these signals, and not approach them inside the distances mentioned herein, specially remembering that it is dangerous to pass between the vessels of a pair or group sweeping together.

1. SIGNALS THAT WILL BE SHOWN BY DAY.

(a) By vessels working singly :

A black ball at the foremast head, and a similar ball at the yard-arm or where it can best be seen on that side on which it is dangerous to pass. (If a ball is shown at each yard-arm it is dangerous to pass either side.)

Vessels showing this signal should not be approached nearer than 900 yards (823$^{m}$0).

(b) By vessels working in pairs or groups :

A black ball at the foremast head, and a similar ball at the yard-arm or where it can best be seen, on that side on which it is dangerous to pass.

Vessels should not pass within a distance of 400 yards (366$^{m}$0) astern of a pair or group of sweepers, or when more than one pair or group are working in company within a distance of 400 yards (366$^{m}$0) astern of the rear pair or group. They should on no account attempt to pass between pairs or groups working in company.

2. SIGNALS THAT WILL BE SHOWN BY NIGHT.

As for day, except that all round green lights will be used in a similar manner to and in place of the black balls.

With reference to your letter No. 2905, dated the 22nd February 1926, reporting that Babu Tularam Goenka of Messrs. Sadhuram Tularam of No. 9, Jagomohan Mullick's Street, Calcutta, has made a donation of Rs. 50,000 towards the establishment of a Leper Hospital in Calcutta for the accommodation of middle class Hindus who may be suffering from leprosy, I am directed to request that you will be so good as to convey the thanks of Government to the donor for his liberality and public spirit.

Second Forecast of the Spring Oilseed Crops of Bengal, 1925-26.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1923-24, the area under linseed in Bengal has represented some 3·8 per cent., and that under rape and mustard 13·7 per cent. of the total area under these crops in British India.)

Character of the season.—As reported in the first forecast the weather was generally favourable at the outset. Uneven distribution of rainfall during the period of growth affected the crops. Damage by insect pests is reported from some important districts of North and East Bengal. On the whole, a fair crop is anticipated.

Area sown.—Oilseeds are chiefly grown in the Rajshahi, Dacca and Presidency Divisions. In the other two divisions the cultivation is small. The total area under these crops (excepting sesamum for which separate forecasts are issued) is returned at 898,100 acres this year as against 881,900 and 884,600 acres, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Outturn.—From the District Officers' estimates the provincial outturn of the different oilseed crops works out at 76 per cent. of the normal as against 73 and 75 per cent., respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL IRRIGATION REVENUE REPORT FOR THE YEAR 1924-25.

IRRIGATION DEPARTMENT.

CALCUTTA, THE 5TH MARCH 1926.

RESOLUTION—No. 21.

READ—

The Annual Irrigation Revenue Report for the year 1924-25.

THE year 1924-25 was marked by important changes in the constitution of the Irrigation Department. The Rajshahi subdivision, with headquarters at Rampur-Boalia, was opened for the purpose of taking over the irrigation works formerly in the Rajshahi Division of the Public Works Department and for supervising the work of training of the Ganges and keeping under observation the area which suffered during the floods of 1918 and 1922 in Northern Bengal. The Jangipur subdivision was closed, and the work south of the river was transferred to the Berhampore subdivision. For the efficient supervision of the investigations undertaken in the districts of Bankura, Birbhum, Burdwan and Murshidabad in connection with certain irrigation schemes, two subdivisions were formed, one in Bankura under the Cossye Division and the other in Birbhum (Suri) under the Damodar Division.

3. The capital expenditure of Rs. 1,16,982 during the year on the Grand Trunk Canal was principally incurred to meet payments on account of enhanced awards given by the special Land Acquisition Judge in certain reference cases in connection with the acquisition of land at the Baranagar end of the canal.

4. No capital expenditure was incurred during the year on the Midnapore Canal, which consists of two weirs at Midnapore and Panskura, 69·75 miles of main and branch canals used both for irrigation and navigation, and 284·97 miles of distributaries. The area irrigated during the year was 76,235 acres as against 72,412 acres in 1923-24 and an average of 79,121 acres for the triennium ending March 1924. The receipts and working expenses (direct and indirect) were Rs. 2,68,219 and Rs. 1,83,835, respectively, the result being a net revenue of Rs. 84,384 against a net revenue of Rs. 543 in the preceding year.

5. No capital expenditure was incurred on the Hijli Tidal Canal, which with the Terapakhia pass khal, Palaboni khal and the khal leading to the Gewankhali Lock entrance, constitutes a navigation canal of 49¾ miles in length. The receipts and working expenses of the canal were Rs. 1,30,365 and Rs. 17,703, the result being a net revenue of Rs. 1,12,662 against Rs. 60,703 in the previous year. The increase is due to the enhancement of the rates of tolls.

6. The Calcutta and Eastern Canals form a series of natural and artificial navigation channels extending for 834 miles for the purpose of maintaining communication between Calcutta and Eastern Bengal. With effect from the year 1924-25, the accounts of the Sunderbans Steamer Route, which were formerly included in those of the Calcutta and Eastern Canals, have been shown as a separate item in the accounts. The capital expenditure on the Calcutta and Eastern Canals was Rs. (-) 39,291. This is inclusive of a credit of Rs. 39,485 on account of the hire of the dredgers "Foyers" and "Alexandra" and other receipts. The receipts and working expenses amounted to Rs. 5,07,958 and Rs. 8,27,344, respectively, the result being a loss of Rs. 3,19,386, which is principally due to the reconstruction of bridges over the canals and the extensive repairs to the dredgers "Foyers" and "Alexandra", tugs and coal barges.

The Sunderbans Steamer Route has been treated as a separate project from the Calcutta and Eastern Canals as has been noted above. The receipts and working expenses of this route were Rs. 55,'00 and Rs. 45,475, respectively, the result being a net revenue of Rs. 9,825.

7. On the Madaripur Bheel Route connecting the Madhumati and Kumar rivers in the Faridpur district, a capital expenditure of Rs. 4,41,484 (direct and indirect) was incurred mainly on dredging the Lower Kumar river from Takerhat to Charmaguria, a length of 13 miles. The receipts, which are derived for the most part from navigation tolls, totalled Rs. 3,44,752 against Rs. 2.67,656 in the previous year. The cost of maintenance of this route was Rs. 2,08,061 against Rs. 47,131 and the net revenue Rs. 1,36,6s1 against Rs. 2,20,525. The increase in receipts was due to increased traffic consequent on the dredging of the river and to some extent to higher rates of navigation tolls.

8. The Orissa Coast Canal in the Midnapore district is a canal for navigation only and lies partly in the Bengal Presidency and partly in the province of Bihar and Orissa. The receipts and working expenses for the portion within Bengal were, respectively, Rs. 37,087 and Rs. 15.123 against Rs. 22,602 and Rs. 19,844 in the previous year. The increase in recepts is principally due to higher tollage rates.

9 The Nadia Rivers having been thrown open to free navigation from 1st September 1923, there were no navigation receipts during the year. The maintenance charges amounted to Rs. 26,752 only against Rs. 60,614 of the previous year.

10. The Gaighata and Baxi khal is a short channel connecting the rivers Damodar and Rupnarayan in the Howrah district. This khal has been leased for a period of six years from the 15th June 1921 at a rental of Rs. 2,000 per year, on condition that the lessees do all silt-clearance at their own cost and maintain the khal to a stated bed-level, subject to the control of the Irrigation Department The receipts during the year amounted to Rs. 1,500.

11. The Eden Canal in the district of Burdwan was originally constructed to supply water for drinking purposes ; it is now used for irrigation also. The supply of water in the canal is uncertain owing to the absence of a weir in the river Damodar. This state of things will improve when the Damodar Canal project is carried out. The area irrigated from the canal was 21,010 acres against 20,324 acres in the preceding year. The receipts and working expenses were Rs. 35,226 and Rs. 34.112, respectively, against Rs. 28,467 and Rs. 46,532 in the preceding year.

12. Bidyadhari dredging.—The Bidyadhari river is the principal outlet for the sewage and storm water of Calcutta ; the river having deteriorated rapidly the dredger "Foyers" was employed in the year 1922-23 to clear it. the Calcutta Corporation contributing to the cost. The work was completed during the year at a total cost of Rs. 10,15,058. The Bidyadhari spill operations were also completed during the year at a cost of Rs. 6,61,936 against sanctioned estimate of Rs. 8,05,516, the expenditure during the year being Rs. 5,991.

13. Training works.—Training works in connection with the conservancy of the Ganges from Rajmahal to Goalundo continued to be carried out departmentally with the help of an experienced officer of the Steamer Companies. Training and bandalling works were also carried out in the Bhagirathi river. Bandalling works were done as usual in the Dhaleswari and Buriganga rivers and a sum of Rs. 17,302 was spent on the work.

14. Drainage works.—In the year under review the construction of the Amirabad drainage scheme in the district of Midnapore was suspended, and preliminary investigations for the drainage of the Gobra nala and Kalantar area in the district of Murshidabad were completed. The Arapanch drainage scheme in the 24-Parganas district was completed.

Projects for reviving the Bhairab and other rivers in the Nadia and Jessore districts and for the drainage of the Gangakhali-Soadighi and Bhunia-Barunda basins in the Midnapore district were under preparation.

15. Irrigation in Western Bengal.—The revised project for the Damodar Canal in the Burdwan district was under re-examination during the year ; when carried out it will irrigate an area of 1,96,000 acres of land.

Surveys and investigations for small schemes in the districts of Bankura Birbhum and Midnapore were in progress. Some of these schemes are to be carried out through the agency of Co-operative Societies, while others will be undertaken under the Agricultural and Sanitary Improvement Act, VI of 1920. The object of these works is to extend irrigation from the streams in Western Bengal, which is more liable to famine than other parts of the province.

16. Hydro-electric survey.—The report of the committee appointed to consider the measures to be taken to conduct and control the work of the hydro-electric survey in Bengal was published.

17. General.—The Irrigation Department in Bengal have to deal more with the improvement of navigation and sanitary conditions and control of flood water than with irrigation proper. For maintaining and developing the waterways suction dredgers are in use, the largest of which is intended for use in the proposed Grand Trunk Canal, which was held in abeyance during the year owing to financial stringency. The deterioration of the Sunderbans Steamer Route continues, and it is apparent that the construction of the Grand Trunk Canal is the only solution of the growing difficulty caused by the deterioration of this route, and the execution of the project is absolutely necessary to ensure a satisfactory navigable connection between Calcutta and Eastern Bengal and Assam for inland steam vessels.

ORDER—Ordered that a copy of the resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette and a copy thereof and its accompaniments be submitted to the Government of India in the Department of Industries and Labour (Public Works Branch) and circulated to all departments and officers of this Government as usual.

By order of the Governor in Council,

25. Whoever fails to attend when summoned under section 15 shall be liable to a fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The District Boards and Municipalities in Bengal have for some time past made a grievance of the fact that although their roads are seriously damaged by the ever-increasing motor-traffic, they are unable to impose taxation on motorists in spite of the fact that in municipal areas the owners of all other kinds of vehicles are required to take out licenses on payment of fees. The Indian Motor Vehicles Act, 1914 (VIII of 1914), provides for the registration of motor vehicles both in Calcutta and in the mufassal: fees are levied for such registration, but the proceeds are credited to provincial revenues. The Calcutta Corporation, in addition to the fees imposed under the Motor Vehicles Act, requires the owners of motor vehicles to take out licenses on payment of fees. But mufassal Municipalities and District Boards have no such power under the existing Bengal Municipal and Local Self-Government Acts. In the Bengal Municipal Bill, 1925, power was taken for the Municipalities to tax motor vehicles, but the motion for the introduction of this Bill was rejected by the Bengal Legislative Council at the last December session. The general amendment of the Local Self-Government Act cannot be taken up immediately though steps are being taken to prepare a Bill. It is therefore proposed to take power in the present Bill for District Boards and Municipalities to tax motor vehicles kept within their jurisdiction.

The sub-joined Notes explain the clauses of the Bill in detail.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

Clause 2.—The definition of "motor vehicles" in sub-clause (2) has been taken from the Indian Motor Vehicles Act, 1914.

The definition of "year" in sub-clause (3) has been made wide enough to allow the year to be calculated from any date other than the 1st day of April. This is based on section 6 (19) of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884.

Clause 3.—This clause authorises a local authority to impose separate rates of taxes on motor vehicles which are kept for hire and on private vehicles. The tax is to be recovered in two half-yearly instalments.

Clause 4.—Sub-clauses (1) and (2) provide for the rates at which the tax is to be levied. Sub-clause (3) indicates the vehicles which are to be exempt from taxation.

Clause 5.—The local authority has been given power to exempt other motor-vehicles or any special classes of motor vehicles from taxation.

Clause 6 provides for the levy of the tax at the rate specified until a different rate of tax is imposed, and is based on section 132 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884.

Clause 7 requires owners of motor vehicles to submit half-yearly statements containing descriptions of motor vehicles liable to the tax. This is based on section 133 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884.

Clause 8 provides for the payment of an amount less than the full tax for the half-year in respect of motor vehicle acquired during the half-year.

Clause 9 provides for the grant of a license on payment of the tax, which will remain in force for the half-year in which the payment is made.

Clause 10 provides that in the absence of the owner the person in possession of the vehicle for the time being shall be liable to pay the tax.

Clause 11 empowers the local authority to compound with persons keeping motor vehicles for hire for the payment of a certain sum instead of the tax.

Clause 12 provides that the local authority shall keep a list of persons licensed.

Clause 13 empowers authorised persons to inspect garages, etc., and is based on section 140 of the Bengal Municipal Act.

Clause 14 confers power on the local authority to seize unlicensed motor vehicles and to dispose of the same in certain circumstances. It is based on section 172 of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1923.

Clause 15 authorises the Chairman or Vice-Chairman of a local authority to summon persons for examination as to the number and description of the motor vehicles for which such persons are liable to be taxed.

Clause 16 prohibits the levy of more than one tax for the same period from the same party in respect of a motor vehicle which is used in an area outside the jurisdiction of the local authority.

Clause 17 deals with the apportionment of the tax between two or more local authorities within the jurisdiction of which a motor vehicle is kept or used.

Clause 19 declares certain servants of local authorities to be public servants.

Clause 20 deals with the realisation of the moneys due under the proposed Act. In municipal areas, such dues are to be realised in the manner provided for in the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, for realisation of the taxes. In other areas the provisions of the Bengal Village Self-Government Act, 1919, are to apply for the realisation of the dues.

Clause 21 provides for the crediting of all sums realised to the respective local funds.

Clause 22 empowers the Local Government to make certain rules.

Clause 23 provides for the imposition of a fine on a person who keeps a motor vehicle without a license.

Clause 24 renders a person who fails to forward the statements of his motor vehicles required by sections 7 (1) and 8 liable to a fine.

Clause 25 imposes a penalty in a case of failure to comply with a summons under section 15.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

Legislative Department.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 1185 L., dated Calcutta, the 12th March, 1926.—His Excellency the Governor having been pleased to order, under rule 18 of the Bengal Legislative Council Rules, 1920, the publication of the following Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons which accompanies it, in the Calcutta Gazette, the Bill and the Statement of Objects and Reasons are accordingly hereby published for general information:—

THE CALCUTTA IMPROVEMENT (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1926.

A

BILL

further to amend the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the number of the representatives of the Corporation of Calcutta on the Board of Trustees for the Improvement of Calcutta, as provided by the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911, has been reduced upon the commencement of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1923; Ben. Act V of 1911. Ben. Act III of 1923.

AND WHEREAS it is expedient so to amend the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911, as to restore that number;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Calcutta Improvement (Amendment) Act, 1926.

Amendment of Section 7 of Ben. Act V of 1911.

2. In sub-section (1) of section 7 of the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911, for clauses (b) and (c), the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"(b) one by the Councillors elected by the constituencies other than the special constituencies, and (c) one jointly by the Councillors appointed under clause (b) of section 5 of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1923, and the Councillors elected by the special constituencies."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Section 7 (1) of the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911, provides that three Trustees of the Board for the Improvement of Calcutta should be elected by the Calcutta Corporation as constituted under the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, as follows:—

(a) one by the Corporation,

(b) one by the Ward Commissioners; and

(c) one by the appointed Commissioners, i.e., the Commissioners appointed by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, the Calcutta Trades' Association, the Port Commissioners and the Local Government.

The Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, has now been superseded by the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1923, which provides that the Corporation shall consist of—

(i) Councillors elected by the special constituencies (viz., the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, the Calcutta Trades Association and the Port Commissioners;

(ii) Councillors elected by the constituencies other than the special constituencies;

(iii) Councillors appointed by the Local Government, and

(iv) Aldermen elected by the elected and appointed Councillors.

There is no provision in the new Act substituting the Corporation or the elected Councillors for the "Ward Commissioners" of the repealed Act. There is therefore nobody to elect a Trustee of the Board under section 7 (1) (b) of the Calcutta Improvement Act. The Councillors elected under the new Calcutta Municipal Act by the constituencies other than the special constituencies, however, correspond roughly to the "Ward Commissioners", and the Bill provides that they shall elect one member of the Board of Trustees.

The Bill also provides that the Trustee under section 7 (1) (c) of the Act elected until 1923 by the appointed Commissioners of the old Corporation should in future be elected by the special constituencies and those appointed by the Local Government under section 5 of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1923.

NOTIFICATIONS.

[Second publication.]

No. 51.—The 6th March 1926.—The following draft of rules and schedule of rates of tolls, which, in exercise of the powers conferred by sections 6 and 11 of the Canals Act, 1864 (Bengal Act V of 1864), the Governor in Council intends to make and fix, for the Damodar Channel joining the Katcha and Baleswar rivers in the Perojpur subdivision of the Bakarganj district, is hereby published for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

II. The draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 22nd April 1926, and any objections or suggestions received before that date will be considered :—

Draft rules and schedule of rates of tolls.

1. Every vessel on entering the channel and before passing the gate at either end or even when entering the channel from a side khal between the gates shall be liable to measurement for the purpose of ascertaining the tolls payable ; in case of any reasonable doubt arising, a vessel may be measured again by any person appointed by the District Board of Bakarganj, on this behalf.

2. Vessels for the purpose of the determination of maundage shall be divided into two classes as below :—

Class I.—To include all vessels of the types of country boats, including saltees and hapors (fish cages), house boats, kosh boats, green boats, etc.

Class II.—To include steam boats, motor boats, flats and barges and other square built vessels.

3. The maundage of every vessel, whether laden or empty, shall, for the purpose of Act V (B.C.) of 1864 and of these rules, be determined by the following measurements :—

CLASS I.

A. The product of one quarter the length of the vessel from stem to stern, measured along the water line, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the depth from the water-line to the interior bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which tolls shall be levied.

B. The measurement of the length is to be made in feet, rejecting inches ; the measurement of breadth and depth is to be made in feet and quarters of a foot, rejecting any remainder of less than a quarter of a foot.

C. The maundage on which the amount of toll is calculated shall be reckoned to the nearest integral muntiple of 12½ maunds, any remainder of less than 12½ maunds being rejected. In the case of vessels exceeding 500 maunds by measurement, the maundage shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 50 maunds, rejecting any remainder of less than 50 maunds.

D. Saltees. The product of one quarter of the inside length of the vessel, measured along the centre line from stem to stern, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the greatest depth measured from the top to the interior bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which tolls shall be levied.

CLASS II.

For vessels of Class II the number of maunds obtained by the system of measurement prescribed for vessels of class I shall be increased by one half. For vessels of this class above 5,000 maunds measurement, the maundage shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 500 maunds, rejecting remainder of less than 500 maunds. In the case of steamers and motor boats, the maundage determined as above shall be reduced by one-third as an allowance for engine space.

For vessels of class II which are furnished with reliable way bills, the gross maundage of cargo shown by the way bills or in the case of steamers, the maundage obtained from multiplying the registered tonnage of the steamer by 27, may, at the option of the employer of the vessel or the steamer (as the case may be), be taken as the maundage on which tolls will be charged.

4. After the measurement the person in charge of the vessel shall be provided with a slip showing the maundage to be charged, which must be presented at the toll office where he will be provided with a ticket, after payment of toll, which will permit the vessel to pass the gate or proceed through the channel.

5. Every ticket shall have entered on it the name of the sarang, manjee or other person in charge of the vessel, the date of entry, the maundage, the cargo, the amount of toll charged and the number of days for which the ticket remains current.

6. All tolls are payable on demand and shall be paid at the toll office before a vessel is permitted to proceed.

7. The ticket must be kept on board the vessel and in possession of the person in charge of the vessel and must be produced for inspection when demanded by the person authorised to collect tolls, or by any officer to whom such person is subordinate. If on demand the ticket is not produced, such person or officer shall assess the tollage as provided in rules 3 and 12 and shall require payment of toll, and unless and until the toll is paid, or the original ticket or a duplicate is produced as evidence that toll has already been paid, the vessel shall be liable to seizure and detention under the provisions of section 9 of the Act.

8. Duplicates of lost tickets, of which the numbers and dates can be satisfactorily established, will be granted by the collector of tolls on payment of a fee equal to one quarter of the total tollage, subject to a minimum fee of one anna per ticket.

9. All vessels, whether the property of Government, District Board, other local bodies or of private persons, are liable for toll except those specially exempted under these rules or by a resolution passed by the District Board of Bakarganj from time to time.

10 The canal may be closed once a year for effecting the necessary repairs to it on seven days' notice of the intention so to close it being given; but in the event of any sudden emergency the canal may be closed at any time without prior notice, and no claim in such case by owners of vessels or others for compensation on account of detention shall be entertained.

11. No rafts exceeding 50 feet in length and 5 feet in breadth shall be permitted to enter the canals.

12. The rates of toll shall be as follows :—

|---|---|
| (1) On all vessels empty or laden, per hundred maunds ... ... ... ... | Eight annas. |
| (2) On all vessels empty or laden, for 12½ maunds or less ... ... ... ... | One anna. |
| (3) On rafts of bamboos, grass, timber, etc., not exceeding 50 feet in length and 5 feet in breadth ... ... ... ... | Four annas each raft. |

Tolls will be levied at Hulerhat and Perojpore.

13. For boats frequently using the canal such as boats carrying passengers, grass or perishable articles monthly tickets will be issued at 10 times the ordinary toll.

14. Every vessel which has paid toll shall be allowed to remain in the canal for three days inclusive of the days of entry into and leaving the canal. A vessel remaining in any part of the canal longer than three days shall be charged demurrage equal to one-half of the toll for each day in excess of three days. No vessel shall be permitted to remain in the canal for more than one month. Provided that this rule shall not apply to vessels holding monthly tickets under rule 13 above, which may remain in the canal for more than three days without payment of demurrage but not for more than one month at a time.

15. No vessel carrying exclusively police officers or servants, soldiers and officers of the British Army, post mail runners, officers of the Irrigation Department on duty, officers and servants of the toll office for the canal referred to in these rules while on duty, or the vessels of such other persons as may be exempted by a resolution of the District Board of Bakarganj, shall be liable for toll in the canal.

16. Any matter relating to the mode of collection of tolls and other relevent points, not provided for in these rules, shall be decided by the District Board of Bakarganj at a meeting, and shall be subject to the approval of the local Government.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORTS FROM THE COMMISSIONERS OF DIVISIONS ON THE WORKING OF MUNICIPALITIES IN THE BENGAL PRESIDENCY (EXCEPT CALCUTTA) DURING THE YEAR 1924-25.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

Local Self-Government Department.

CALCUTTA, THE 5TH FEBRUARY, 1926.

READ—

Reports from the Commissioners of Divisions on the working of municipalities in the Bengal Presidency (except Calcutta) during the year 1924-25.

1. Number of Municipalities.— Owing to the amalgamation of three suburban municipalities of Cossipur-Chitpore, Maniktola and Garden Reach with the Corporation of Calcutta, the number of municipalities decreased to 115.

The figures for 1923-24 referred to in this resolution exclude those for the three suburban municipalities mentioned above.

2 Elections.—General elections were held in 61 municipalities and were hotly contested in the majority of cases. In Burdwan not only did the educated people take an active part in the contest but the carters of the town set up a candidate from their own community who was returned with the highest number of votes. There was, however, no poll in any of the wards of the South Suburban and Kumarkhali municipalities.

The percentage of attendance of voters in the elections was high in many cases: in the small town of Sherpur, in the district of Mymensingh about 80 per cent. of voters recorded their votes. The Commissioner of the Division, however, observes that this high percentage of voters is a proof rather of the keen rivalry existing between the two factions led by the local zemindars, which divide the town, than of any concern for municipal interests. The number of civil suits and objections filed by the aggrieved parties for setting aside the elections was higher than in the previous years. The most noticeable instance was that of the Dinajpur Municipality, where several suits were instituted of which some are still pending. In Basirhat, though dates for the general election were fixed twice, it could not be held owing to injunctions issued by the Civil Court. The election of the Dacca Municipality, which was held in March 1925, was followed by litigation and the issue of a temporary injunction. The new Board could not be formed until the 21st July 1925, after the order of the lower Court was reversed on appeal by the District Judge. The main suits are still pending. The issue of injunctions seriously hampers municipal administration and a more satisfactory and expeditious means of disposing of election disputes, such as the Bengal Municipal Bill provided, is much needed. The election of the Commissioners of the Chittagong Municipality, which was due in March 1925, could not be held owing to the declaration by the Court that the Assam Bengal Railway Co., Ltd., had been illegally excluded from the list of voters and that there should be another publication of the voter's list.

The elective system was sanctioned for the Gaibandha Municipality with effect from the next reconstitution.

3. Meetings.—Out of 2,517 meetings held during the year 338 either proved abortive or were adjourned. The failure was most marked in Murshidabad where eight out of 21 meetings were abortive and six adjourned. At Kotechandpur more than half, and at Jainagar nearly half, the number of meetings held was unsuccessful. Kalna held the largest number of meetings, viz, 52, but more than one-fourth of them either proved abortive or were adjourned. Garulia and Cox's Bazar are the only municipalities where the Commissioners failed to meet once a month. The average percentage of attendance was the highest at Taki (99·9) and the lowest at Murshidabad (32·3). The percentage was over 75 in 4 municipalities while it exceeded 50 in 88 others. The Commissioner of the Burdwan Division, however, observes that "the percentage of attendance is no index of the real amount of work done. Burdwan did better work than its percentage would indicate. High percentage of attendance often means nothing more than existence of bitter faction."

4. Number of Rate-payers.—The total number of rate-payers rose from 313,177 to 317,895. The percentage of rate-payers to total population was 15·7 against 15·5 of the preceding year. The ratio varied from 40·1 in Sherpur (Bogra) to 3·1 in Titagarh– a mill town with a large cooly population. Other towns in which rates are paid by less than one-tenth of the people are the hill stations of Darjeeling and Kurseong and the several riparian municipalities including Narayanganj. The low percentage at the latter place is due, as before, to the floating population of factory operatives living with their employers. There was an appreciable increase in the number of rate-payers in Bogra which is probably due to the general revision of assessment.

5. Assessment and Taxation.—The average incidence of taxation per head of population rose from Rs. 2-12-5 to Rs. 3-0-4. In this case also there are large variations, the incidence being above Rs. 5 in four municipalities, viz., Howrah (Rs. 9-7-8), Darjeeling (Rs. 10-0-10), Kurseong (Rs. 8-6-10) and Chittagong (Rs. 5-9-8) while it is as low as 6 annas in Debhatta, under 8 annas in Baduria and Bajitpur and under one rupee in 19 municipalities.

A general or partial revision of assessment was made in 49 municipalities, the net result being an increase of about Rs. 1¾ lakhs in the municipal demand of the Presidency as a whole. The largest increase was obtained in the municipality of Howrah ( Rs 58,974 ). Then come South Dum-Dum with an increase of Rs. 19,650, Rishra-Konnagar Rs. 13,939 and Kamarhati Rs. 10,038. These figures however represent the gross increases which are likely to be reduced on the hearing of appeals The rate of water-tax in Noakhali was raised to 5, 4 and 3 per cent. on the annual value of holdings within the radii of 440 feet, 880 feet and 1,320 feet, respectively, from any reservoir, and this resulted in an increase of Rs. 1,571 in the annual demand.

6. Collections.—The total collections for the Presidency as a whole rose from Rs. 54 lakhs to Rs. 59 lakhs, the percentage of collections on the current demand being 95·3 The collections were very satisfactory in 13 municipalities where the realization was either equal to or in excess of the current demand and in 14 others they were over 99 per cent. On the other hand, the ratio was under 80 per cent —a deplorably low figure— in 8 towns, falling as low as 58·4 per cent. in South Dum-Dum and 46 6 per cent. in Sherpur ( Mymensingh ). The low percentage in South Dum-Dum is reported to be due mainly to non-payment of taxes by the Eastern Bengal Railway authorities. In Sherpur the collection was stopped owing to the declaration by the Civil Court that the assessment of 1922 was illegal and ultra vires. This was followed by an order of Government under section 111A of the Bengal Municipal Act requiring that the assessment should be revised by a paid Assessor. Pending such revision no collection could be made. As usual, the Garulia and Nalchiti municipalities collected cent per cent. of their demand without remission Next comes the Titagarh Municipality with an improved collection of 99·6 per cent. of the demand, granting a remission of only 3 per cent. and leaving no outstanding balance. The small municipalities of Baruipur and Meherpur also showed good collections.

The amount of remissions for the province as a whole ( Rs. 2,86,844 ) was practically the same as in the previous year and represented 4 6 per cent. of the current demand. The small municipalities of Muktagacha and Baraset remitted more than a quarter of their current demand while four others, viz., Jamalpur, Jainagar, Tollygunge and Satkhira remitted more than 10 per cent. No explanation has been given for the high percentage of remissions in these municipalities. Large remissions indicate either careless assessment, or incapacity on the part of the collection staff; it is an unsatisfactory method of disposing of large outstanding balances.

In the Presidency as a whole the balances outstanding at the close of the year amounted to Rs. 13 lakhs. The Governor in Council regrets to observe that the accumulation of such heavy arrears reflects credit neither upon the Municipal Commissioners nor upon their executive. Howrah shows the largest balance outstanding, viz., Rs 4,23,812, for which no explanation has been given. Next comes Dacca with an outstanding balance of Rs. 2,48,584, which however was due to a well-organised agitation against the payment of taxes. A civil suit instituted to challenge the validity of the Dacca re-assessment has been decided in favour of the municipality, but in the meantime two years' arrears of taxes have accrued and it will be very difficult for the poorer rate-payers to pay up such large arrears. The Bengal Municipal Act unfortunately—unlike the Calcutta Municipal Act—does not permit the Commissioners to realize rates on the basis of the old assessment, when the reassessment is contested. The new Municipal Bill provided for this very necessary amendment. Other municipalities which had unduly large balances outstanding were Mymensingh, Chittagong, Tollygunge, South Dum-Dum, Hooghly-Chinsurah, Bally and Barisal. The balance in Chittagong ( Rs. 40,651 ) consists of Rs. 9,092 due on Government buildings ( the correctness of the assessment being disputed ) and Rs. 31,599 due by private individuals—the worst defaulters being some of the Municipal Commissioners themselves. It is reported that Rs. 10,000 have since been realized leaving a balance of Rs. 21,559. In the case of Tollyganj the heavy outstanding balance representing 42·7 per cent. of the current demand is reported to be due to non-payment of taxes by some persons against whom civil suits have been filed. The reason for the heavy balance in South Dum-Dum has already been stated. The Chairman of the Bally Municipality reports that suits have been instituted for the realization of balances. In other cases no satisfactory explanations have been furnished but generally they are due to laxity in collections and the neglect of the municipal executive to enforce punctual payments, quarter by quarter, by means of a regular and impartial issue of warrants.

The Governor in Council would invite the attention of all Municipal Commissioners to the following remarks made by Mr. Twynam, Magistrate of Mymensingh :—

> In practice, many municipalities rely on persuasion at the end of the financial year for the collection of taxes. Although frequently successful this method has one great defect. Under Account Rule 87 the notice of demand must be served not later than the 15th day of the second month of the quarter. After service of the notice the Commissioners may within 3 months issue a distress warrant. It, therefore, happens that most distress warrants are time-barred by the end of the year.

7. Income and Expenditure.—The total receipts including opening balances amounted to Rs. 1,06,03,381 against Rs. 99,91,595 in the year 1923-24 The total disbursements were Rs. 86,13,713 as against Rs. 83,74,917.

8. Closing Balance.—The total balance at the close of the year amounted to nearly Rs. 20 lakhs as against Rs. 16 lakhs in the preceding year. The largest balances were held by Dacca ( Rs. 4,68,489 ), Howrah ( Rs. 3,83,849 ) and Darjeeling ( Rs. 1,59,600 ).

No explanations have been furnished for the large balances in Dacca and Howrah; in the latter case it includes probably the unspent balance of the loan of Rs. 2,50,000 taken in 1923-24 for the improvement of water-supply and in the former case, the grant made by Government towards the sewerage scheme. Of the balance in Darjeeling Rs. 38,000 represents the amount set apart for major replacements of alternators and turbines, etc. Comparatively large balances were held by the municipalities of Bhatpara, Naihati and Budge-Budge in order to carry out sanitary schemes and the general improvement of the town. On the other hand, a number of municipalities failed to keep adequate working balances and in several cases they were insufficient to meet outstanding liabilities. In the case of Serampore, Raniganj, Azimganj, Mymensingh, Faridpur, Barisal and Serajganj the outstanding liabilities largely exceeded the closing balances. The worst offenders in this respect were Baraset and Pirojpur, which had outstanding liabilities of Rs. 2,299 and Rs. 2,173, respectively, against actual balances of Rs. 322 and Rs. 335 only, and Hooghly-Chinsurah which closed the year with a sum of Rs. 10,681 in hand but with liabilities exceeding Rs. 32,000.

9. Education.—The amount spent on education including the Government grant of Rs. 80,480 was Rs. 2,94,321 as against Rs. 2,56,314 in the preceding year.

The expenditure on primary education also showed a corresponding increase of about Rs. 35,000 which is contributed by all the Divisions. Seventeen municipalities however, or roughly one in seven, failed to spend 3·2 per cent. of their ordinary income—the percentage which is taken to represent the amount required for the education of half the number of boys of primary school-going age. On the other hand, the ratio was over 5 per cent. in 49 municipalities, and over 10 per cent. in 14. The high percentage ( 14·3 ) in the case of Budge-Budge is due to an expenditure of Rs. 6,619 on the construction and equipment of a school building which forms part of Mr. Biss' primary education scheme.

Dacca and Midnapore have established three and five free primary schools, respectively, on the Biss model. Burdwan is also maintaining one school under this scheme which has also been accepted by the municipalities of Garulia and Kishoreganj. In the latter town, an education cess has been introduced and the school houses are being constructed. The Commissioners of the Chittagong Municipality have improved some of their existing primary schools, added to the number ( 35 ) a new upper primary school with 5 teachers on the lines of Mr. Biss' scheme. They have also drawn up a scheme of free primary education within the municipal limits. An education cess at the rate of 1·6 per cent. on the municipal valuation is levied at Rangpur and sanction to the levy of such cess at the rate of 1 per cent. has been applied for by the Commissioners of the Berhampore Municipality. The Burdwan Municipality has made a free gift of some land for starting a middle school for girls for which Government will bear the recurring charges and the initial expenditure on school buildings.

10. Water-Supply.—As usual, Tollygunge and South Suburban were supplied with filtered water from the Calcutta mains while seven other municipalities got their supply from the local mill filters. Excluding these, there are at present 27 municipalities which have their own water-works. The number of persons supplied with filtered water was about nine lakhs and the total quantity supplied was about 10 million gallons per day. The water-works at Raniganj could not be completed owing to a sudden flood in the river which not only put a stop to the work but did much damage to the new well in the river bed. The operations in connection with the Comilla water-works, to which Government made a loan of Rs. 45,000, were almost completed during the year, but owing to shortage in gravity pipes water could not be supplied until September 1925. A water-supply scheme for the town of Suri was sanctioned at an estimated cost of Rs. 1,60,700 and boring operations were carried on under the supervision of the Public Health Department. An extension of the Bankura water-supply scheme was sanctioned by Government, but the work was not taken in hand as no decision was reached as there was a difference of opinion between the Commissioners and the Chief Engineer regarding the respective merits of cast-iron and steel pipes. A revised scheme for the improvement of water-supply to Kalna at an estimated cost of Rs. 130,000 was drawn up by the Chief Engineer, Public Health Department. The water-works scheme for the northern section of Chandpur was sanctioned at an estimated cost of Rs. 92,000 towards which Government promised a grant of Rs. 20,000 and a loan of Rs. 32,000. The filter of the Patuakhali water-works was repaired and a new engine supplied to the Patuakhali water-works at a cost of Rs. 2,500. The improvement of the Chittagong water-works, which was under the consideration of the municipal Commissioners, was considered unnecessary for the present, as the cleansing of tube wells and other machinery has resulted in an increase of the outturn. There was some extension of water pipes in Dacca and the total number of house connections rose from 1,611 to 1,655. The average daily consumption of water in Mymensingh has risen from 2,35,000 gallons in 1921 to 3½ lakh gallons. This excessive consumption coupled with absence of control and bad finance has landed the municipality in a serious impasse. The Governor in Council therefore accepts the suggestion of the District Magistrate that the Municipal Commissioners should thoroughly investigate the causes of the present excessive consumption and improve their financial position before embarking on any new scheme for the extension of water-works. The water-works of the Berhampore Municipality were in charge of the Public Health Department and Government advanced a loan of Rs. 10,000 for its improvement which could not be completed within the year.

The supply of water by tube wells having proved successful in certain soils and at the same time cheaper, several municipalities—especially in the Presidency Division—decided upon obtaining water through such wells. Baruipur, which already had 24 tube wells, sunk 4 more during the year. Halisahar sunk four such wells, South Dum-Dum three and Kanchrapara one. The latter municipality has also excavated two pucca wells and Budge-Budge a reserved tank. Tube wells were also provided by the municipalities of Tollygunge, South Suburban and Basirhat. In Rajshahi a pump and an engine were affixed to the tube well which was sunk at the cost of Government. English Bazar and Bogra received a grant of Rs. 11,000 and Rs. 19,000, respectively, from Government towards the cost of boring experimental tube wells.

11. Conservancy and Drainage.—Conservancy charges were about Rs. 3½ lakhs in excess of the receipts from latrine fees which were levied in all but 15 municipalities.

The revised estimate of the Bhatpara sewerage scheme has recently been submitted to Government. The work of the Titagarh sewerage scheme is being carried on under the direct supervision of the Public Health Department. It is, however, reported that the progress is very slow owing to delay over the land acquisition proceedings. The principal dumping depôts and public latrines necessary for the island area of the Dacca sewerage (initial portion) were constructed and brought into operation during the year. It is reported that the wooden roofs of the septic tanks of the Kurseong sewerage have been replaced by ferro-concrete roofing and that the alteration to the detritus chamber has greatly improved its efficiency, the breeding of mosquitoes in the tanks having been entirely stopped. The supplementary drainage scheme of the English Bazar Municipality, which is estimated to cost Rs. 18,000, received the approval of the Public Health Department. In Budge-Budge the Chitragunge sluice project was completed and in Kanchrapara a big drain from Dangapara to Bagerkhal was constructed. A portion of the Grand Trunk Road side drain in the Rishra-Konnagar bustee was constructed and regraded.

Minor drainage works were also carried out in several other towns. These are generally confined to construction of, and repairs to, drains, culverts, etc.

12. Public Health.—Almost all the municipalities adopted measures for the improvement of sanitation by filling up, clearing or disinfecting insanitary tanks, ditches and dobas and by removing jungles and obnoxious vegetation. More than half of the area of the Champdany Municipality was cleared of jungle by the Angus Company and a great improvement was made in Ward III of the Bansberia Municipality by Messrs. McNeil & Co. by clearing jungle from a large area acquired by them. In Berhampore roadside jungle as well as jungle growing by the side of the embankment of the river Bhagirathi was cleared and in Kanchrapara some borrow-pits were filled up with sweepings from the railway workshop. In many municipalities notices under the Bengal Municipal Act were issued on private persons to remove jungle and tank vegetation, to cleanse tanks and fill up ditches. In the majority of cases such notices were obeyed without prosecution. Where they were disregarded the municipality had either to prosecute or to do the work itself recovering the cost thereafter from the owner. In Jessore alone more than 700 notices were served upon the owners of houses with jungle within their compounds and the notices were generally complied with. The power of a municipal authority to requisition improvements of this kind is of great importance and the measure of its use—in so far as the Municipal Commissioners are not obstructive—is a good index of the activity of the sanitary staff. The Governor in Council is glad to find the Jessore Municipality making a wide use of these powers.

Precautionary measures were taken by a large number of municipalities to check the spread of epidemics. Medicines and disinfectants were freely distributed and special doctors were appointed where necessary. Lectures on epidemics with magic lantern demonstrations were delivered at several towns for the purpose of educating the people in sanitation and public health. Leaflets for the prevention of small-pox were distributed and placards and posters were hung up in conspicuous places.

Free vaccination was provided by many municipalities and effective measures were taken to vaccinate and revaccinate children. Additional vaccinators were employed by several municipalities for this purpose. Some students of the Burdwan Medical School acted as honorary vaccinators. A severe epidemic of small-pox broke out at Bhatpara but the spread of the disease was checked by house-to-house vaccination, disinfection of the affected houses and burning of sulpher at convenient centres. Cholera broke out in several municipalities in the district of the 24-Parganas and elsewhere: the usual preventive measures (e.g., chloriation of tanks and pools, disinfection of drains and infected rooms) were adopted with good results.

Malaria and kala-azar were prevalent in some municipalities. Arrangements were made by the Berhampore Municipality for the treatment of kala-azar patients in the local charitable hospital Quinine and cinchona febrifuge were freely distributed by many municipalities.

It is reported that the local anti-malarial and kala-azar societies, where they exist, did useful work in co-operation with municipalities in combating these diseases. Kala-azar patients were treated free of charge by the Nimta Society in North Dum-Dum and the Bengal Young Men's Association in Baraset. In Jamalpur a committee was formed for the treatment of kala-azar patients with the Subdivisional Officer as President and the Municipal Chairman as Secretary. Arrangements were made for a general survey of malaria in the town of Dinajpur, where one centre has already been opened in Ward V for the free treatment of kala-azar patients.

In Berhampore a baby show was held and maternity lectures were delivered by the local doctors, the publicity officer and others.

By-laws were framed by certain municipalities for the eradication of water-hyacinth and in Narayanganj and elsewhere effective measures were taken for clearing this pest from tanks.

In several municipalities food-stuffs offered for sale to the public were examined and unwholesome food-stuffs were in some cases either destroyed or removed from the bazar. In Dacca 240 samples of different kinds of foodstuffs were sent to the Public Health Laboratory for analysis of which 111 were found to be adulterated. Prosecutions were instituted in all these cases under the Bengal Food Adulteration Act and convictions were obtained in 87 cases. The efforts of the sanitary staff in this important but neglected branch of administration, deserve praise. Where the Health Officer—as in Dacca—is zealous and energetic, he will find ample work to do and in justifying his appointment he will be demonstrating to the Municipal Commissioners the range and scope of sanitary administration. A number of prosecutions under sections 6 and 10 of the Bengal Food Adulteration Act were also instituted in Bhatpara, Barnagore and Budge-Budge, all of which resulted in conviction. On the other hand, a prosecution instituted in the previous year failed in one town on the technical ground that it is the Municipal Commissioners and not the Chairman who can sanction prosecution under the Food Adulteration Act. As the Municipal Commissioners ordinarily meet monthly or even less often inconvenience is often caused by the necessity of obtaining their sanction to every prosecution. This inconvenience has since been removed by the passing of the Bengal Food Adulteration ( Amendment ) Act, V of 1925, by which the Chairman of municipalities have also been vested with power to authorize prosecutions.

13. Public Works.—The amount spent on public works rose from Rs. 10,28,484 to Rs. 11,39,602, the largest increase occurring under the head " Roads " which was contributed by all the Divisions. The percentage of outlay on public works to the total expenditure varied from ·2 in Bhola to 50·9 in Debhatta.

Municipalities in Bengal have for some time past made a grievance of the fact that although their roads are seriously damaged by the ever increasing motor traffic they are unable under the existing Bengal Municipal Act to impose taxation on motor vehicles in spite of the fact that in municipal areas the owners of all other kinds of vehicles are required to take out licenses on payment of fees. In the Bengal Municipal Bill, 1925, power was accordingly taken for municipalities to tax motor vehicles but the motion for the introduction of this Bill was rejected by the Bengal Legislative Council at the last December session. As the grievance is a genuine and long felt one, Government have prepared and hope shortly to introduce in the Legislative Council a small Bill authorizing municipalities and other local bodies to tax motor vehicles kept within their jurisdiction.

14. Loans.—Loans amounting to Rs. 1,25,000 were granted to four municipalities, viz., Comilla ( Rs. 45,000 ), Serampore ( Rs. 60,000 ) Berhampore and Jessore ( each Rs. 10,000 ). Altogether 40 municipalities were in debt to Government at the end of the year, their total liabilities amounting to nearly Rs. 35 lakhs.

15. Audit of Accounts and Embezzlement.—The accounts of almost all the municipalities were audited. Little attention is however paid by municipalities generally to remedy the defects and irregularities noticed in the audit reports. In this connection the Commissioner of the Burdwan Division observes :—

> As a matter of fact practically nothing is done. The same old errors occur year after year, the reason being of course that the mistake occurs because supervision is lax. That more money is not defalcated seems to be more a matter of good luck than good management.

Embezzlement or misappropriation of municipal money occurred in Hooghly-Chinsurah, Baruipur, Halisahar, Kanchrapara and Dinajpur, but the amounts misappropriated were recovered and in the first two named municipalities the offenders were dismissed from service. In South Dum-Dum a suspected case of temporary misappropriation by a collecting sarkar was reported in the audit note, but the matter is still under enquiry. The head clerk of the Noakhali Municipality was criminally prosecuted for misappropriating municipal money and sentenced to rigorous imprisonment of one month and to pay a fine of Rs. 200. The case of embezzlement detected during the previous year in Jamalpur was disposed of, the collecting sarkar having been sentenced to pay a fine of Rs. 200 and to suffer rigorous imprisonment for one day only.

There appears to be a tendency for embezzlement of municipal funds to occur more frequently than was formerly the case. Misappropriation of public money is a very grave offence, and where such offence appears to be established by the audit officer's investigation Government are of opinion that it is not sufficient for the Municipal Commissioners to punish the delinquent by dismissal or to rest satisfied with the refund of the amount which has been misappropriated. In the interests of public morality the offenders in cases, which appear to be capable of legal proof, should invariably be prosecuted criminally.

16. General Remarks. — Burdwan Division.—The Commissioner of the Burdwan Division on a general review of the working of the municipalities in his division observes that while there has been no advance there are signs of an awakening and a dissatisfaction with the bad management of the last few years. The Governor in Council endorses his view that a zealous regard for the public interest, manifesting itself in a careful supervision of both indoor and outdoor work is even more needed than more taxes, and this is called for from all concerned in the administration, from Chairman down to sub-overseer.

The improvement of water-works and construction of good pucca drains are the principal wants of Burdwan. Two oil engines are being erected for working the water-works pumps. In Kalna, kala-azar is reported to be gradually disappearing owing to the opening of hospitals in different parts of the subdivision for the treatment of the disease. If this view is well-founded, the results of the intensive work at Kalna are a happy augury for the anti-kala-azar campaign which Governmnet hope shortly to initiate in all affected areas. It is reported that there was also less malaria. The condition of the roads and the arrangement of street lighting in Katwa continued to be unsatisfactory. The Commissioners of the Asansol Municipality are now anxious to get water-works in the town, but they are confronted with financial difficulties. As regards the municipal administration in Bankura the District Magistrate remarks :—

> Party faction prevails. Proper attention was not paid to the repair and cleaning of roads, privies and drains. The lighting arrangements are not also satisfactory. Collections in Bankura and Vishnupur were bad. This state of affairs was mainly due to the want of supervision on the part of the municipal executive.

The Magistrate of Midnapore reports that the best managed municipalities in the district were Tamluk and Ghatal both of which now have Swarajist Chairmen. The administration of the Chandrakona Municipality was inefficient and was marred by faction and party spirit. The general administration of the Midnapore Municipality was unsatisfactory and there was much discontent among the rate-payers. The financial position of the municipality which had been most unsatisfactory; was somewhat relieved by Government relaxing the conditions for the payment of the arrear instalments of the water-works loan and by a generous gift of Rs. 50,000 from the District Board towards the completion of the water-works scheme. A marked feature of the administration of the Hooghly-Chinsurah Municipality was the constant and repeated complaints of the partial or total failure of water-supply. The financial position of the municipality has steadily deteriorated. At the close of the year there were unpaid bills amounting to Rs. 32,386 against a cash balance of Rs. 10,681. The Commissioner of the Division remarks that this unsatisfactory financial condition was due to the utter laxity of control that prevailed. In Serampore, the collections appear to have improved a little, but a great deal yet remains to be done. The state of roads in this town requires special attention. In Rishra-Konnagar there was much friction between the municipal authorities and the Mills and in Bally strained relations between Wards I and II on the one hand and Wards III and IV on the other, stood in the way of the efficient administration of the municipality.

Presidency Division.—Mr. Cassels, Magistrate of the 24-Parganas, writes as follows as to the working of the municipalities in his district:—

A few municipalities in the industrial area are efficiently managed, tackle their problems energetically and are alive to the needs of a town population. At the other end of the scale there are many more, not so advantageously placed, some of them rather resembling overgrown villages, where a sense of civic pride and responsibility is confined to a few, where faction is not unknown and where in the sphere of practical municipal work, the prevailing note is too often one of lassitude and laissez faire.

The activities which deserve notice are mainly those directed to improve public health. The Naihati and Bhatpara schemes for water-supply have been worked out in detail and have been submitted to the Sanitary Board. Kamarhati has a scheme in view while certain other municipalities made progress in the sinking of tube-wells. The Titagarh sewerage scheme is still making slow progress and a scheme has been prepared for Kamarhati. An epidemic of small-pox which was more severe in the densely populated municipalities in the industrial centres was met by increased vaccination and other precautions. Little interest was on the whole evinced in the extension of primary education, but Budge-Budge should be mentioned as an exception.

The Magistrate of Nadia remarks that on the whole municipal affairs in that district "have been quiescent save in Santipur and Nabadwip where the interests of opposing factions create an unreal atmosphere of energy which is not actually beneficial to the public. The executives of these municipalities dissipate their energies in internecine strife. Yet it is just in these municipalities that no attention whatever is paid to the most elementary duty of any public administration—the provision of an adequate uncontaminated water supply." In Santipur the expenditure on water-supply amounted to Rs. 67 spent in repairs to a well. In Nabadwip out of Rs. 480 budgeted for water-supply only Rs. 29-7 was expended. The chief problem of the Krishnagar Municipality is its roads which are said to be "without any manner of doubt the worst roads in Asia". The Governor in Council is however glad to learn that the Municipal Commissioners are making a determined effort to improve them; they have taken a loan of Rs 25 000 during the year 1925-26 for substituting stone metalling for jhama and for the purchase of a steam roller. The Magistrate reports that the water-works of the town, though expensive, have proved beyond cavil of the greatest benefit to the health of the town. Several municipalities, viz., Santipur, Birnagar and Chakdaha present a very difficult sanitary problem. "All three are large areas comprising many deserted homesteads, abandoned tanks and tangled undergrowth—once the abode of a much larger population. Chakdaha and Santipur have given up making much show of fight against these conditions," but Birnagar is determined to stamp out malaria. There is a Palli Mandali in this place "which is determined, by jungle clearing, kerosenisation of tanks and sinking of tube wells, to rehabilitate the fortunes of this once beautiful town. The Samity is fortunate enough to have the services of several gentlemen who are experts in engineering and sanitation."

At Kusthia the Commissioners have a development scheme and have acquired land and constructed roads in advance of the growth of the town. This municipality is efficiently administered and shows commendable foresight and unanimity of opinion. The municipal administration of the Murshidabad district was efficient so far as municipal funds permitted. The health of the municipal towns was generally good. The Berhampore Municipality has made arrangements for the correct registration of births and deaths, and offers rewards to the staff for detecting omissions. The new Jessore Municipal Board has made a start. Kotechandpur continued to do excellent work while Moheshpur in the Magistrate's opinion "shows further deterioration." Good work was done by the Khulna Municipality. The town was visited by small-pox in an epidemic form, but the Municipal Commissioners took speedy measures to check the disease

The Commissioner of the Presidency Division makes the following remarks:—

No striking advance was achieved in the administration of municipalities during the year under review. The marked difference between the standard of administration of the good and bad municipalities commented on in the previous reports continues, and since the transfer of the Cossipur-Chitpore and the Garden Reach Municipalities which were two of the best managed municipalities of the Division, the number of inefficient municipalities in the district of 24-Parganas now considerably exceeds the number of well-managed ones. As example of the former type may be cited the municipalities of Panihati, Rajpur, Tollygunge and Baraset. The realisation of tax in these municipalities is very unsatisfactory while the cost of administration is heavy though the actual work done is very small. It is much to be desired that these Commissioners should realise their civic responsibilities and adopt coercive measures for the realisation of taxes without too much fear of unpopularity, and take more real interest in the affairs of the municipalities and adopt business-like methods in replying to correspondence and attending to audit objections. Nabadwip and Santipur are examples of municipalities which are rent by dissension and party feeling which prevent useful work being done in them. Krishnagar stands out as the municipality with probably the worst roads in the province. This municipality was handicapped on account of the water-works not being completed in time with the result that a large portion of the general funds had to be utilised for repayment of the loans taken for the water-works.

Dacca Division.—Mr Drummond, Magistrate of Dacca, makes the following remarks as to the working of the municipalities in his district:—

In spite of good intentions the Commissioners of the Dacca Municipality were seriously hampered during the year by continued failure to realise the taxes due to a campaign of propaganda and injunctions engineered by an individual who received support and sympathy in his vendetta from a large section of the public instead of the disapproval which it merited. It is evident that not many of the rate-payers realise that the Municipal Board is their own creation, an extension of their own personality and that to attack it is suicidal. The Chairman, Mr. K. Nazimuddin, showed great courage, forbearance, and tact in dealing with a very unpleasant and difficult situation. He was ably backed by the Vice-Chairman. The most notable achievement of the Commissioners was the opening of three primary schools as an earnest of their desire to equip the whole city with free schools of this type. Certain extensions to the lighting and pipe-water system were also carried out.

The Narainganj Municipality is described in the District Gazetteer published in 1912, as probably the most efficient in Bengal. Though there are no very serious blemishes on the municipal administration it can no longer claim this proud distinction.

As regards the working of the municipalities in the district of Mymensingh Mr. Twynam observes as follows:—

The financial condition of the municipalities within this district indicates a remarkable absence of business ability. This characteristic appears to be due partly to inexperience and partly to the fact that Municipal Commissioners are usually busy men who have their own livelihood to earn. It is accentuated by the absence from most municipal boards of any technical knowledge or experience and encouraged by a spurious sentimentality which regards enforcement of the provisions of sections 121-124 of the Municipal Act as a great hardship. It would seem that most of the above difficulties would disappear if municipalities had paid secretaries thoroughly acquainted with their work and of sufficient standing both to influence opinion and control the clerical staff.

The Governor in Council commends the above suggestion to all the municipalities in the Province.

As regards the municipalities in Bakarganj the Magistrate observes that on the whole they are doing their best with the resources at their disposal. The Barisal Municipality is taking special steps to deal with its heavy arrear demand.

Chittagong Division.—The Commissioner of the Division gives credit to the Municipal Commissioners of Chittagong for their various activities in spite of their financial difficulties. The special feature of the Comilla Municipality was the completion of its water-works. Noakhali is still under erosion on the northern side while on the east and south sides a large reformation is going on. The financial condition of the municipality is bad and there is no immediate hope of improvement. Other municipalities in the division are doing good work with the limited resources at their disposal.

Rajshahi Division.—The Commissioner of the Division observes:—

The Rajshahi Municipality has suffered much from party faction amongst the Commissioners. The water-supply project of the municipality is yet very incomplete and it is doubtful if funds will be found for financing it. The party faction in the Dinajpur Municipality was so strong that 5 Commissioners immediately resigned after election because their party could not get a majority. The municipality is in need of a loan to finance the project for construction of the Dinbazar bridge over the Karolla and the application has been recommended to Government. In Rangpur Municipality it is too early yet to say how far the education cess has furthered the cause of primary education. The finances of the Pabna Municipality show little improvement and it is doubtful if the municipality will be able to pay its share of the water-works scheme. In Bogra there have been complaints for the municipality's negligence of roads in the town. The work of the Darjeeling Municipality has always been up to the mark.

17. Conclusion.—The year under review has not seen any very marked improvement in the general level of municipal administration which continues to be hampered by lack of funds. The incidence of taxation is still very low in many municipalities as the result of aversion on the part of Municipal Commissioners to increased taxation. Another regrettable feature of the administration was the marked disinclination of the municipal executive to adopt coercive measures for the timely realization of taxes of which more than Rs. 13 lakhs were allowed to fall in arrears. In certain municipalities again the administration was hampered by party spirit and faction. There are, however, in some towns signs of an awakening. Increased attention was paid by several municipalities to the improvement of public health and the spread of primary education.

The Congress or Swaraj party was successful in obtaining seats in some municipal boards. It cannot be said that there has in consequence of this been any marked change in the methods or spirit of administration in those municipalities and both Swaraj and non-Swaraj members appear to have co-operated in carrying on the administration.

The Bengal Municipal Bill which aimed at enlarging the scope of municipal work by the relaxation of internal Government control and by enabling municipalities to enhance their revenues, was unfortunately thrown out by the Bengal Legislative Council on the first reading in December 1925

The names of the following Chairmen, Vice-Chairmen, and Municipal Commissioners have been specifically brought to the notice of Government by the Commissioners of Divisions on account of the good work done by them and the Governor in Council desires to express his appreciation of the public spirit shown by these gentlemen and of the valuable services they have rendered :—

The court shall then enter in the Register of Suits the name and address of the plaintiff or plaintiffs, the name and address of the defendant or defendants, the nature of the claim, the date and place where the cause of action arose, and the relief claimed. The court shall make a note of any document produced in the column of remarks.

29. The court shall then, after such examination of the petitioner as it considers necessary, proceed either under section 78 or under section 80 of the Bengal Village Self-Government Act, 1919.

30. If any defendant does not reside within the jurisdiction of the court, the summons may be served by registered acknowledgment post, the postage for which shall be paid by the plaintiff or it may be sent for service to the president of the union board in which the defendant resides

31. If the defendant appears and applies for time either to proceed under section 81 of the Bengal Village Self-Government Act, 1919, or to produce evidence, the court shall fix a date for the hearing, but unless the defendant declares his intention to move for a transfer under section 81, he shall be called on to answer the petition at once, either orally or in writing.

32. When both sides are ready with their witnesses the court shall proceed to hear the case.

33. The petitioner shall have the right to begin, unless the defendant admits the facts alleged by the plaintiff and contends that, either in point of law or on some additional facts alleged by the defendant, the petitioner is not entitled to any part of the relief which he seeks, in which case the defendant shall have the right to begin.

34. The party having the right to begin shall state his case and produce his evidence in support of the issue, which he is bound to prove.

The other party shall then state his case and produce his evidence (if any) and may then address the court generally on the whole case.

On abandonment of the whole or part of a claim, the plaintiff shall pay the fee under section 90 of the Bengal Village Self-Government Act, 1919, in respect of the amount of the claim abandoned.

If a suit be adjusted wholly or in part by any lawful agreement or compromise, such agreement or compromise shall be recorded, and the court shall pass a decree in accordance therewith.

39. Where any money payable under any decree is paid out of court or the decree is otherwise adjusted in whole or in part to the satisfaction of the decree-holder, the decree-holder shall certify such payment or adjustment to the court whose duty it is to execute the decree, and the court shall record the same accordingly after realizing the fees from him.

The judgment-debtor also may inform the court of such payment for adjustment within three months of the payment and apply to the court to issue a notice in writing or otherwise to the decree-holder to show cause, on a day to be fixed by the court, why such payment or adjustment should not be recorded as certified, and if after such notice the decree-holder fails to show cause why the payment or adjustment should not be recorded as certified, the court shall record the same accordingly after realizing the fees from the judgment-debtor.

A payment or adjustment which has not been certified or recorded as aforesaid shall not be recognized by any court executing the decree.

40. At any time within three years of the signing of the decree, the successful party may apply to the court for execution of the decree.

The court will then issue an order on the president of the union board, who will proceed to realize the amount as if it were an arrear of rate imposed under section 37 of the Bengal Village Self-Government Act, 1919.

41. On realization of the amount of the decree or any part thereof, the president of the union board shall credit to the union fund such proportion of the amount as is due for the fee and hold the balance of the amount in deposit to the credit of the decree-holder.

42. After the expiry of one month from the date of a decree dismissing a suit, or after the expiry of three months of any suit decreed, if the decree-holder takes no steps to recover his decree, the court shall proceed under section 99 of the Bengal Village Self-Government Act, 1919, to realize any fees due to it.

Such suits shall be tried and such decrees shall be executed as suits instituted in, and decrees passed by, such civil court.

48. The defendant may set off any amount legally due to him by the plaintiff for which he could bring a suit in a union court. If such set-off is established, the decree shall be for any sum which finally appears to be due to either party.

II. The draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 22nd April 1926, and any objections or suggestions received before that date will be considered :—

Draft rules and schedule of rates of tolls.

1. Every vessel on entering the channel and before passing the gate at either end or even when entering the channel from a side khal between the gates shall be liable to measurement for the purpose of ascertaining the tolls payable ; in case of any reasonable doubt arising, a vessel may be measured again by any person appointed by the District Board of Bakarganj, on this behalf.

2. Vessels for the purpose of the determination of maundage shall be divided into two classes as below :—

Class I.—To include all vessels of the types of country boats, including saltees and hapors (fish cages), house boats, kosh boats, green boats, etc.

Class II.—To include steam boats, motor boats, flats and barges and other square built vessels.

3. The maundage of every vessel, whether laden or empty, shall, for the purpose of Act V (B.C.) of 1864 and of these rules, be determined by the following measurements :—

CLASS I.

A. The product of one quarter the length of the vessel from stem to stern, measured along the water line, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the depth from the water-line to the interior bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which tolls shall be levied.

B. The measurement of the length is to be made in feet, rejecting inches ; the measurement of breadth and depth is to be made in feet and quarters of a foot, rejecting any remainder of less than a quarter of a foot.

C. The maundage on which the amount of toll is calculated shall be reckoned to the nearest integral muntiple of 12½ maunds, any remainder of less than 12½ maunds being rejected. In the case of vessels exceeding 500 maunds by measurement, the maundage shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 50 maunds, rejecting any remainder of less than 50 maunds.

D. Saltees. The product of one quarter of the inside length of the vessel, measured along the centre line from stem to stern, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the greatest depth measured from the top to the interior bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which tolls shall be levied.

CLASS II.

For vessels of Class II the number of maunds obtained by the system of measurement prescribed for vessels of class I shall be increased by one half. For vessels of this class above 5,000 maunds measurement, the maundage shall be reckoned to the nearest integral multiple of 500 maunds, rejecting remainder of less than 500 maunds. In the case of steamers and motor boats, the maundage determined as above shall be reduced by one-third as an allowance for engine space.

For vessels of class II which are furnished with reliable way bills, the gross maundage of cargo shown by the way bills or in the case of steamers, the maundage obtained from multiplying the registered tonnage of the steamer by 27, may, at the option of the employer of the vessel or the steamer (as the case may be), be taken as the maundage on which tolls will be charged.

4. After the measurement the person in charge of the vessel shall be provided with a slip showing the maundage to be charged, which must be presented at the toll office where he will be provided with a ticket, after payment of toll, which will permit the vessel to pass the gate or proceed through the channel.

5. Every ticket shall have entered on it the name of the sarang, manjee or other person in charge of the vessel, the date of entry, the maundage, the cargo, the amount of toll charged and the number of days for which the ticket remains current.

6. All tolls are payable on demand and shall be paid at the toll office before a vessel is permitted to proceed.

7. The ticket must be kept on board the vessel and in possession of the person in charge of the vessel and must be produced for inspection when demanded by the person authorised to collect tolls, or by any officer to whom such person is subordinate. If on demand the ticket is not produced, such person or officer shall assess the tollage as provided in rules 3 and 12 and shall require payment of toll, and unless and until the toll is paid, or the original ticket or a duplicate is produced as evidence that toll has already been paid, the vessel shall be liable to seizure and detention under the provisions of section 9 of the Act.

8. Duplicates of lost tickets, of which the numbers and dates can be satisfactorily established, will be granted by the collector of tolls on payment of a fee equal to one quarter of the total tollage, subject to a minimum fee of one anna per ticket

9. All vessels, whether the property of Government, District Board, other local bodies or of private persons, are liable for toll except those specially exempted under these rules or by a resolution passed by the District Board of Bakarganj from time to time.

10 The canal may be closed once a year for effecting the necessary repairs to it on seven days' notice of the intention so to close it being given; but in the event of any sudden emergency the canal may be closed at any time without prior notice, and no claim in such case by owners of vessels or others for compensation on account of detention shall be entertained.

11. No rafts exceeding 50 feet in length and 5 feet in breadth shall be permitted to enter the canals

12. The rates of toll shall be as follows :—

|---|---|
| (1) On all vessels empty or laden, per hundred maunds ... ... ... ... | Eight annas. |
| (2) On all vessels empty or laden, for 12½ maunds or less ... ... ... ... | One anna. |
| (3) On rafts of bamboos, grass, timber, etc., not exceeding 50 feet in length and 5 feet in breadth ... ... ... ... | Four annas each raft. |

Tolls will be levied at Hulerhat and Perojpore.

13. For boats frequently using the canal such as boats carrying passengers, grass or perishable articles monthly tickets will be issued at 10 times the ordinary toll.

14. Every vessel which has paid toll shall be allowed to remain in the canal for three days inclusive of the days of entry into and leaving the canal. A vessel remaining in any part of the canal longer than three days shall be charged demurrage equal to one-half of the toll for each day in excess of three days. No vessel shall be permitted to remain in the canal for more than one month. Provided that this rule shall not apply to vessels holding monthly tickets under rule 13 above, which may remain in the canal for more than three days without payment of demurrage but not for more than one month at a time.

FINANCE DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

Delhi, the 15th March 1926.

No. F.-6-F.—The Government of India have had under consideration the question of reducing the yield on Post Office Cash Certificates in view of the rates at which they have been able to borrow in the open market during the current year and in the last two years. They have decided that the time has now come when the yield may be reduced without very considerably endangering the popularity of this form of investment. With effect from the 1st April 1926, the rates of issue will be the same as those which were in force prior to the 2nd April 1923. The amounts repayable on certificates of the different denominations issued on or after the 1st April 1926 will be shown in the following table:—

2. It has also been suggested to the Government of India that, following the recommendations contained in the interim report of the Lubbock Committee in England, opportunities should be offered to holders of Cash Certificates in India to retain their holdings after the expiry of the original period of issue. The Government of India have carefully considered the suggestion and decided to give effect to it in the following manner. Holders of Cash Certificates issued prior to the 1st April 1926, will be allowed, at their option, to hold them for a further period of five years after maturity. They will earn interest thereon at the rate of 2 annas (on a Cash Certificate of the minimum denomination of Rs. 10) for every completed three months after maturity, and receive an additional bonus of 8 annas on such a certificate after retaining it for the full period of 5 years. The amounts repayable from time to time are given in the following table :—

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 8th February, 1926 :—

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the validation of certain promissory notes stamped with postage stamps of the denomination of two or four annas ; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title and extent

1. (1) This Act may be called the Promissory Notes (Stamp) Act, 1926.

II of 1899.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

This Bill proposes to establish a Council on the lines of the General Medical Council of the United Kingdom for organising and controlling medical education, under the direction of the profession in India. The existing Provincial Medical Acts have more to do with ethics and discipline, while the function of direction and control of medical education is not yet on a constitutionally democratic basis. The present Bill supplies this want. To avoid conflict with the existing enactments and powers of bodies created by them, all matters of internal management and devolution of the powers of control are left to regulations under this Bill so as to facilitate adjustment of these questions in consultation with all such bodies as circumstances require. This procedure will, it is hoped, lead to an establishment of conventions between the central and the subsidiary bodies, which may result in additions to this law if found necessary. Provision has also been made for reservation of extraordinary powers of control with the Executive Government as is usual with such laws.

The second principle embodied in the Bill is the establishment of a qualification in the (indigenous) methods of treatment which are independent of the Western medical science, but which administer to the needs of a large population in this country. Canada and some States in America having a population composed of immigrants from different countries have allowed the right of registration to persons qualified in systems other than the modern or the Western medical science, and the medical councils there accommodate some members from such schools who sit with the members of the modern school of medicine for the common weal.

The problem in India has a similar aspect. Masses and even the educated amongst them have proclivities towards the indigenous medicine. Religious susceptibilities make many even on death bed, especially in the rural tracts, refuse a Western medical man's potion. Institutions giving instruction in indigenous systems and supplementing these courses with elements of the basic physical sciences are being established and earnestly supported in all provinces, not only by the educated and philanthropic people, local bodies and Provincial Governments, but by persons qualified in Western medicine as well ; while some highly qualified medical men have been advocating the cause of the indigenous system not less enthusiastically. Provincial Governments have as well to accede to the demands from local bodies for paying towards the establishment and maintenance of such institutions.

It is, therefore, particularly necessary at this time, to put all such efforts on a uniform and well-organised basis, and to provide for a differentiation of the properly trained from the untrained, to whatever system a person claiming to treat a human being belongs. For want of such a provision, the amount of injury that is being done to the public requires serious attention. A bold way of providing for an organised and systematic means for training such persons is preferable to a benevolent indifference towards the indigenous art and its practitioners. Control of medical education in the hands of the Council of medical men taking a rational view of 'Science' and of those who after a qualification in modern medicine believe in and practise the art of the use of indigenous methods would serve a valuable guiding factor. Such a Council alone would be capable of moulding and determining the progress of medical education in this country. It is not desirable on the part of the profession in India to disclaim this duty. To say that the Western medical man will have nothing to do with the indigenous methods, even when they are so allied, is to forget that the medical man in India is first an Indian and as such he must take note of the surroundings he is in. He has not only to pursue his line but has as well to do his best to guide medical education as a whole into proper channels. His inertia in this matter would, on the other hand, create an atmosphere unhealthy to the public and the profession—if medical education in the indigenous arts is to grow independently, thus losing opportunities of assimilation and modernisation of the older arts. It is to avoid such results that the Constitution of the Council has been so drafted. The Bill, it is hoped, will serve a really useful purpose if it has the fortune to go successfully through all the stages of legislation.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE NORTHERN BENGAL FLOOD COMMITTEE.

CALCUTTA, THE 9TH FEBRUARY 1926.

RESOLUTION—No. 1-I.

READ—

Bengal Government resolution No. 1-I., dated the 6th February 1923.

READ ALSO—

Report of the Northern Bengal Flood Committee.

The attention of Government having been drawn to the damage caused by extraordinary floods in the Rajshahi Division, more especially in the districts of Rajshahi and Bogra, in August 1918 and again in September 1922, a committee was appointed in February 1923 to enquire into and report on the causes of these floods. The committee have now submitted their report, which, with the appendices, contains a record of the evidence on which the conclusions have been drawn and the recommendations have been based.

2. The recommendations of the committee, which are detailed in paragraph 15 of their report, are briefly enumerated below :—

(1) Increased waterways under certain railways.
(2) Maintenance of an open passage from the Chalan Bhil.
(3) An enquiry to be held to ascertain whether the outlets for the floods through the Hurasagar and other channels can be improved.
(4) Investigation of the possibility of improving the bed of the Tulsiganga.
(5) Preparation of a flood code for the guidance of local officers.
(6) Introduction of the system of flood warnings similar to those in force on the Damodar river.
(7) Education of the people to build their houses on higher ground.

3. The committee, after a careful consideration of the past history of the floods in the area affected, have come to the conclusion that the floods of 1918 and 1922 were extremely abnormal and that similar floods had not been experienced for the previous 140 years. These abnormal floods were due to the fact that torrential rain fell over practically the whole of the basin of 6,800 square miles, whereas in previous years only a portion of the basin had been subjected to heavy falls. It was this factor more than any other which led the majority of the committee to come to the conclusion that the retentive reservoirs advocated by Mr. Gurtu would not be justified, because the expense would be too large as compared with the occasional benefit to be derived. They are further convinced that it is not possible to prevent such abnormal floods which have only one outlet into the Jamuna (Brahmaputra) through the Hurasagar below Serajganj. They are, therefore, of opinion that the best policy is to get rid of the flood water as fast as possible, more especially from the Chalan Bhil, which will in itself act as a regulating reservoir. The recommendations of the committee are based on this principle.

4. The Governor in Council has read the report with great interest, and he agrees with the conclusions arrived at by the committee: he does not propose to discuss in detail the minor recommendations which have been made in the report, but he is in entire accord with the committee as to the necessity of these measures, and steps will now be taken to give effect to them. The measures advocated in the report will, His Excellency trusts, ameliorate to some extent the effects of future floods, though it is clear that under present conditions, when the Brahmaputra or the Ganges is in abnormally high stage, the floods must be held up on the land for some time until these rivers subside. His thanks are due to the members of the committee and to those who aided in the enquiry, for their labours.

ORDER.—Ordered that this resolution and also the committee's report, the note of dissent by Mr. Gurtu, and Appendix I be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

Ordered also, that a copy of the resolution and of the report in two volumes be submitted to the Government of India in the Department of Industries and Labour (Public Works Branch), and to the Government of Assam, Public Works Department, for information.

Ordered also, that a copy of the resolution and of the report be forwarded to the Revenue, Local Self-Government and Public Works Departments of this Government, and to the Commissioner, Rajshahi Division, and the Agent, Eastern Bengal Railway, for information.

By order of the Governor in Council,

C. ADDAMS WILLIAMS,

REPORT ON THE NORTHERN BENGAL FLOODS, 1922.

Owing to excessive rainfall, extraordinary floods visited Northern Bengal in August 1918, which were followed by floods of still greater intensity in September 1922 causing considerable damage in the districts of Rajshahi and Bogra. The Government of Bengal accepting a resolution in the Bengal Legislative Council, in November 1922, appointed a Committee of experts, official and non-official, to enquire into and report on the causes of these floods and to suggest possible remedies.

2. Personnel of the Northern Bengal Flood Committee.—The personnel of the Committee was as follows with the power to co-opt :—

President :

Mr. G. T. Huntingford, Secretary, Irrigation Department, Bengal, up to the 8th March 1924.

Mr. C. Addams Williams, C.I.E., Secretary, Irrigation Department, Bengal, subsequently.

Members :

Dr. C. A. Bentley, Director of Public Health, Bengal.

Mr. R. C. Hodgson, Superintending Engineer, Northern Circle, Public Works Department, Bengal.

Mr. S. K. Gurtu, M.I.E., (Ind.).

Mr. F. C. Temple, Chief Town Engineer, Tata Iron and Steel Co., Ltd., Jamshedpur.

Babu Nani Gopal Mukherji, District Engineer, Rajshahi.

Babu Kiran Chandra Ghose, District Engineer, Bogra.

Mr. P. C. Mahalanobis, M.A., Meteorologist, Calcutta (co-opted).

Secretary :

Mr. A. G. Maflin, M.I.C.E., Executive Engineer, Public Works Department, and Personal Assistant to the Chief Engineer, Irrigation Department, Bengal.

The Committee was asked to report on the following points :—

(b) (i) To ascertain the catchment area of the flood of 1922.

(ii) To estimate its quantity as far as this is possible, and ascertain the path of the flood water and whether it was obstructed so as to cause damage by embankments whether roads, railways or otherwise.

(iii) To determine the best path for the passage of the flood water and the openings in embankments necessary to pass it without undue delay, taking into consideration simultaneous floods in the Brahmaputra and Ganges.

The Committee held 5 meetings and most of the members visited the flooded area. Colonel Hearn, Agent of the Eastern Bengal Railway, also gave evidence before the Committee.

3. The floods in Northern Bengal in September 1922 were the outcome of very heavy local rainfall accompanied by high levels in the Ganges : though the floods in the Mahananda were high, the area mostly affected was that drained by the Atrai and its tributaries and bounded by the Tista river on the north, the Ganges on the south, on the east by the Karatoya river and on the west by the watershed of the Mahananda and Atrai, totalling 6,800 square miles (vide map). The general slope of the country is south-south-east and averages about two feet per mile. The basin includes portions of the Jalpaiguri, Rangpur, Dinajpur and Bogra districts and the whole of the Rajshahi and Pabna districts : the northern and western portion of the tract comprises comparatively high ground known as the Barind area and is a low-lying flat country containing a large number of bhils, a portion of which is open to the spill of the Ganges by the Baral and Ichamati rivers. The south-eastern portion of the Pabna district and a small portion of the Rajshahi district are also subject to inundation from the Brahmaputra. The Atrai has its source in the Jalpaiguri district and flows in a southerly direction parallel to and to the west of the Eastern Bengal Railway main line to Manda, whence it turns to the south-east, crosses the main line and also the Serajganj branch after passing through the Chalan bhil and empties into the Brahmaputra at Bera, where it is called the Hurasagar.

The principal tributaries are the Jaboona which flows to the west of and close to the Eastern Bengal Railway main line with its tributary the Tulsiganga which drains a portion of the area to the north of the Bogra branch and crosses the main line near Akkelpore; and the Nagor and Karatoya rivers on the east of the main line, the latter being the eastern boundary of the area severely flooded in 1922. The Baral joins the main stream near the Chalan bhil.

The past history of the rivers in the Rajshahi Division in the last century and a half will be found in Appendix I and need not be recapitulated here: prior to these changes the Ganges, which distributed its waters through the Bhagirathi, Bhairab and other rivers, changed its course to the south-east and it is probable that before this avulsion took place the Tista either flowed into the Ganges above Rampore-Boalia, following more or less the present course of the Atrai, or skirted the northern fringe of the Gangetic Delta. Due to the change in the course of the Ganges, deltaic action has been much intensified along the northern bank of the river and the drainage has been forced to change its direction to the south-east.

The Tista in 1787 forsook the bed of the Atrai and resumed an older course in a south-easterly direction to the Brahmaputra at Nalagang Hat: at the end of the 18th century the Brahmaputra began to open the Jenai and eventually discarded the Mymensingh channel for a more westerly one to Goalundo through the Jamuna.

The earthquake of 1897 also raised the beds of certain rivers in the northern portion of the area and caused an interference with the drainage.

At the present day there is one outlet only for the drainage of the Atrai basin through the Hurasagar into the Brahmaputra near Bera: the Ganges on the south and the Brahmaputra on the east have raised their banks and the floods in the two rivers, which meet at Goalundo, tend to back up the water of the Atrai basin when floods are simultaneous, with the result that the discharge of the land floods is delayed until the main rivers have subsided.

4. A study of the normal rainfall maps and statistics (Volume II) shows that Northern Bengal is one of the wettest areas in India. A careful scrutiny of the rainfall records since 1870 proves that the rainfall which caused the floods of August 1918 and September 1922 far exceeded in volume that of any other corresponding period. There have been other heavy falls but they were confined for the most part to a portion of the basin only. In several years there have been heavy falls north of the Tista, but this river diverted the water to the Brahmaputra acting as a tap drain: in such years a small area is usually flooded in the Pabna district in the angle formed by the confluence of the Ganges and Brahmaputra, as occurred in 1892, 1906, 1910 and 1915. In the former year there was also heavy rain to the south of the Tista which did not extend very far to the south of the latitude of Parbatipur: although the railway from Katihar to Kaunia was severely breached, little if any damage was done to the country south of the railway.

In 1870, 1871, 1879 and 1915 no damage occurred except along the banks of the Ganges and Brahmaputra, showing that these rivers were high and were spilling more than the normal quantity of water. With the exception of a local flood at Dinajpur the same applies to the year 1885, whereas in 1886 the floods affected the country on the north bank of the Ganges and a comparatively small area on the eastern fringe of the Bogra district.

In 1902 a small area near Rangpur was affected by a local flood and the rest of the basin suffered no damage.

Thus the rainfall records show that since 1870 the tract in question has not been nearly so heavily flooded as it was in 1918 and 1922. In both the latter years there was extraordinary rainfall over the whole basin focussing round Balurghat in the southern half of the Atrai basin, combined with high floods in the Ganges. In 1918 the heaviest excess amounted to 5 to 10 times the normal of the period of fall. But the rainfall of 1922 exceeded any previous record and occurred over the whole of the basin.

The excessive rainfall, lasting as it did from the 21st to the 28th September 1922, with an incessant downpour from the 24th to the 27th, and occurring at the end of the monsoon, when the rivers and bhils were full and the whole country saturated, was sufficient in itself to cause very heavy floods. The position was aggravated by the fact that the Ganges was in high flood, and 3 to 4 feet higher than the normal for the time of year, so that the water could not freely discharge. Old records have been searched to ascertain the frequency of such floods and the results will be found in Appendix I: they cover the period from 1785 to date: a study of them will show that the floods of 1918 and 1922 exceeded any previous records with the possible exception of that of 1787 when the Tista broke away from its old Atrai course. A special enquiry has been made to ascertain whether the Tista river added to the flood by overflow over the right bank. The evidence gathered shows that no such spill took place.

5. The path pursued by the floods is most easily described in relation to the lines of the Eastern Bengal Railway intersecting the area. The area lying to the east of the main line and north of the Santahar-Bogra branch was flooded by the spill from the Tulsiganga, augmented by water of the Kata Jabuna, a connecting channel between the Tulsiganga and the Jabuna Practically, the only outlet for all this water was the Tulsiganga bridge at mile 182¾ on the main line, which is of 3 spans totalling 214 feet in length. As the country to the west of the main line was simultaneously heavily flooded, the flow was checked and the water headed up against the main line embankment, which was overtopped and severely breached between Tilakpur and Jamalganj stations. The remainder of the flood passed in a southerly direction until it reached the Bogra branch. Here it was joined by the high flood in the Nagar from the north-east and breached the line between Santahar and Kapaloo stations. It was this part of the line that suffered the greatest damage from the flood.

The Rajshahi district west of the main line was severely flooded by the Atrai and its tributaries, whereas the low-lying area to the east of the main line, in addition to its own rainfall, received the Atrai flood, augmented by that which burst through the Santahar-Bogra line on the north. The whole of the flood therefore passed through the Chalan bhil and was discharged through the bridges on the Sara-Serajganj line and eventually into the Brahmaputra through the Hurasagar. The hydraulic data are insufficient to determine with accuracy the volume of the flood but approximate calculations show, that due to the ponding up of water in the low lands the discharge decreased as the flood progressed: it is roughly estimated that the maximum discharge across the main line south of Santahar was about 175,000 cusecs and across the Bogra branch about 50,000 cusecs giving a total of 225,000 cusecs entering the Chalan bhil basin: the discharge across the Sara-Serajganj branch was about 175,000 cusecs. No breaches occurred in the latter railway nor in the main line south of Santahar. Between the Atrai and Santahar the affluxes on the bridges actually recorded on the 5th October, when the flood had subsided one foot, varied between seven inches and one foot six inches (vide Appendix III). On the Serajganj branch the maximum heading was 2 feet 4 inches between bridges and 1 foot 9 inches at the bridges.

6. The number of breaches that occurred and the affluxes recorded show that the waterways in the railways were insufficient to deal with the abnormal conditions. But it must be remembered that both the 1918 and 1922 floods exceeded in magnitude any other flood which had occurred during the existence of the railways: after the former flood, additional waterway was supplied in the Bogra branch between Nasaratpur and Talara stations, amounting to 34 feet: since the 1922 flood further waterway has been supplied to the extent of 460 feet and a new bridge of 15 spans of 40 feet each has been built in the Serajganj branch at mile 151. At Akkelpore on the main line additional bridges aggregating 165 feet in length are being built. The railway are therefore taking steps on their own initiative to improve the conditions which were the worst experienced since the opening of the line. After considering the available evidence the Committee are satisfied that had there been no railways at all in the area, the rain which fell would have caused a flood, the severity of which would have been almost as great as that which actually occurred, though the area mostly affected might have been situated a little further to the south-east and the flood might have subsided a little more rapidly. There is evidence to show that owing to the water being held up to some extent by the railways that a portion of the Pabna district which lies to the south of the Serajganj branch suffered little damage.

7. In regard to the waterways in the railways the Committee recommend that—

(a) Additional waterway be supplied in the Bogra branch over and above 460 feet already provided, unless the railway authorities can show conclusively that more waterway is not required. The Committee wish to point out that although an addition of 861 running feet was originally proposed it is now stated that the provision already made is considered sufficient: in view of the fact that there have been no severe floods since 1922 and that there are grounds for believing that more waterway is still required between existing bridges, they find they are unable to accept the present position without further local investigation.

(b) Additional waterway of 21,400 square feet be supplied in the Sara-Serajganj branch of which 6,000 square feet has already been provided; the balance should be located at or near mile 153.

(c) The waterways closed in the main line south of Santahar since 1904 be re-opened unless the railway authorities can produce adequate reasons for not doing so. While existing major bridges may suffice the waterway in the bank between them does not appear to be adequate to prevent undue heading.

(d) The dumping of stone on the beds of rivers at the railway bridges should not be permitted in cases in which the bridges have been designed to provide for scouring the beds during flood time. Where it is possible to remove the stone already deposited this should be done.

(e) It should be made incumbent on the railway to provide such waterways as will secure the maximum afflux at bridges not exceeding six inches in an ordinary flood and not exceeding one foot in an exceptional flood, such afflux to be measured and not guessed.

8. There is little evidence to show that District Board roads appreciably opposed the forward progress of the flood: these roads as a rule are construced on embankments about two to four feet high. The rate at which the crest of the flood travelled was extremely slow, being only 8 miles per day, which was probably due to the country being covered with dense vegetation and the slope of the flood water being about four inches per mile through the Chalan bhil basin and only two inches per mile to the south of the Serajganj branch. Although roads might have somewhat retarded the flow-off at the beginning of the flood, they were deeply submerged later on and could not have caused any undue heading when the main flood was passing over them. The Committee are of opinion that the height of road embankments should be kept as small as possible and provision should be made for passing floods across them with as little obstruction as possible, by the construction of causeways at the main drainage lines.

9. The Committee have been impressed with the fact that the hydraulic data available regarding floods in the Atrai basin are most meagre. It appears that the duties of the officers of the Irrigation Department have not extended to the north of the Ganges until quite recently, and no gauge readings are available for any of the rivers with the exception of the Ganges and Brahmaputra. The Eastern Bengal Railway authorities have now fixed gauges on both sides of all major bridges and a subdivision of the Irrigation Department has been opened at Rampore-Boalia last year for the express purpose of keeping the Atrai and other basins under observation. Gauges have been fixed at Singra in the Chalan bhil and at Atrai and a proper record of flood levels and river sections will be maintained in future. We recommend that another gauge should be read at either Mahadebpore or Manda on the Atrai.

An attempt was made to gauge the rivers with the assistance of the Eastern Bengal Railway authorities in 1923 and 1924 but the absence of even average floods rendered this impossible: the data available which have been collected from various sources will be found in Appendix I.

10. Mr Gurtu, a member of this Committee, visited the flooded area in March 1923 and his notes of inspection will be found in Appendix II. In these notes a proposal has been made to construct flood regulating basins above the affected area both north and south of the Katihar-Kaunia line so that the floods below them may become more mild and manageable: the top of the flood would be retained for a time and allowed to escape after levels had fallen: a portion of the reservoirs would be utilized for storing water for rabi cultivation. Mr. Gurtu roughly estimates the cost at three crores of rupees excluding compensation for the crops in the areas included in those reservoirs which would be designed to hold water throughout the year: he states that the expenditure will not be unremunerative, as extensive rabi irrigation will spring up in the same way as has occurred in Central India, the Central Provinces and elsewhere and a return of from 4 to 6 per cent. may be expected. The cultivators should retire from the low lands subject to violent floods and build their tenements on higher ground and also change the system of cultivation from khurif to rabi in the areas subject to floods.

11. The Committee have discussed this proposal at length and have come to the conclusion that for the reasons stated below the expenditure cannot be recommended. Some of the proposed reservoirs would be located in the area west of the main line to the north of Dinajpur which received the least rainfall. Reservoirs constructed to the east of the main line and north of the Bogra branch would command a catchment of 1,440 square miles partially, and would be located in the area where rainfall was most intense in 1922; but with a small movement of the focus of intense rainfall would not appreciably affect the intensity of floods. Previous records show that the position of the focus of the rainfall varies considerably. The past history of the basin as a whole in regard to floods does not justify a large expenditure on works which the Committee are not yet satisfied would be effective in preventing a similar cataclysm. They think that it is doubtful whether the cultivators will change their places of residence or methods of cultivation and the time must eventually arrive when the reservoirs would silt up. The low lands are being gradually raised by deposits of silt from the various rivers including the Ganges and Brahmaputra; the Chalan bhil has decreased considerably in area in recent years and is now one-third the area it used to be; levels recorded by the Public Works Department in 1909 and subsequently show the rate of rise of the bed of the bhil to be half an inch a year. This process should be allowed to continue and should not be artificially retarded, as the ultimate solution to the problem lies in the raising of the low lands sufficiently high to enable floods to discharge into the major rivers freely.

The area of the basin south of the Katihar Kaunia railway is 4,238 square miles or nearly two-thirds of the whole and it is not expected that by holding back the top of the flood in the remaining third an appreciable fall in levels will occur. Assuming 12 inches of rainfall to have been temporarily stored in such reservoirs in 1922 in the portion of the basin north of the Bogra branch and east of the main line and that the average depth in them was 10 feet, the total area submerged would have been 144 square miles or one-tenth the area controlled. The volume of water retained would be about one-seventh of the total rainfall on the basin and would reduce the level in the low lands in Rajshahi, Bogra and Pabna districts by probably not more than six inches, which would not be sufficient to prevent most of the damage done. The area occupied by the reservoirs would have to be depopulated unless all homesteads were erected on high mounds and the amount of compensation to be paid would be very heavy. The difficulty of maintaining long lengths of embankment from damage by waves and of the possibility of accidents are other features which must be considered and the Committee do not feel they are justified in recommending this large expenditure for results which would be so small.

12. They wish, however, to draw attention to the fact that the level of floods is likely to rise in future due to the silting up of the bhils in the low lands: the retentive powers of this area are becoming less and less as time passes. At the beginning of the freshet season some of the lowest bhils are filled with water from the Brahmaputra and proposals have been put forward from time to time to prevent the inflow of this water during the earlier portion of the season by the construction of sluice, to enable the lowest lands to be planted. The Committee are of opinion that any such proposal should be examined with the greatest care before acceptance and that natural processes should be interfered with as little as possible, so that the day may be hastened when the land will have been sufficiently raised to drain itself by gravitation. The exclusion of the natural spill in other portions of the Province by embankments has led to untold trouble and has caused congestion of drainage: this difficulty is found in its most acute form where the area lies in the angle formed by the junction of two rivers, as in the present case: the embankments prevent the land being raised with deposits of silt and at the same time, by confining the floods to the rivers themselves, cause their levels to rise higher, so that it is not possible to discharge the land floods until levels have subsided.

If natural processes are not interfered with the rise in flood levels will be gradual and the people will learn to accommodate themselves to the changing conditions by erecting their homesteads on higher ground.

13. The Committee place much importance on the question of disposing of floods quickly: they have already stated the additional waterway considered necessary in the railways but a point of importance is the fact that the Phulgore bridge on the Sara-Serajganj branch was of little assistance in disposing of water from the Chalan bhil area due probably to the fact that the bhil paddy obstructed the cross country flow. It is a question whether relief cannot be given in this direction by the maintenance of an open passage from a point above the bridge into the low land in a direction more or less north-west: the waterway in the bridge is 666 feet. This proposal should be investigated.

14. The replies to the questions referred to the Committee are as follows:—

(a) The causes of floods in the Rajshahi Division are—

(i) abnormally heavy local rainfall,

(ii) high levels in the Ganges and Brahmaputra,

(iii) a combination of the two,

(iv) contributory factors are insufficiency of waterways in the railways, flatness of the slope of the country, retardation of the flow-off of the water by vegetation and deterioration of river beds.

(b) (i) The catchment area is shown on the map which accompanies this report and covers 6,800 square miles.

(ii) It has not been possible in the absence of hydraulic data to estimate accurately the volume of the flood but approximate discharges are given in paragraph 5. The path of the flood has also been described in paragraph 5, and the extent to which it was obstructed by railway and other embankments is dealt with in paragraphs 6 et seq.

(iii) The best path for floods is that already taken by them, there being only one possible outlet through the Chalan bhil into the Brahmaputra by the Hurasagar river at Bera.

15. The recommendations of the Committee are as follows:—

(a) Increased waterways under the Railways as recommended in paragraph 7, should be provided.

(b) The maintenance of an open passage from the Chalan bhil as suggested in paragraph 13, should be enquired into.

(c) An enquiry should be held to ascertain whether the outlet for the floods through the Hurasagar and other channels can be improved.

(d) The possibility of improving the old bed of the Tulsiganga should be investigated.

(e) A flood code should be prepared for the guidance of local officers in times of flood.

(f) A system of flood warnings should be introduced more or less on the same lines as those which have been in force on the Damodar river since the great flood of 1913. The slow rate of travel of the water will enable these warnings to reach the people in the low land well in advance of the main flood.

(g) The people should be educated to build their houses on higher ground.

16. The Committee regret the delay in submitting this report: the compilation of the records of rainfall has been a laborious task and the collection of hydraulic data from various sources has taken much time.

Note of Dissent on the Report of the Northern Bengal Flood Committee, by Mr. S. K. Gurtu, M.A., M. Inst. C. E., M.I.E. (Ind.), Member, Northern Bengal Flood Committee.

All the trouble of the people of lower Bengal is due to an imperfect understanding of the operations of the laws of Nature and acting counter to them! The whole of the Indo-Gangetic plain, from Cuttack to Calcutta, has been formed by the deposits of silt and detritus, brought down by the rivers taking their rise in the Himalayas. As the land in the upper regions rose gradually and river channels deepened, the regimen of the rivers became stable, and high lands on the banks ceased to be flooded. The floods in lower Bengal are a manifestation of the same process which has formed Punjab, United Provinces and Bihar in millions of years and this will go on whatever we may do, till the lower Bengal too will rise sufficiently to be above the high flood levels of its rivers! As exceptionally high floods do not occur at short periods, people, lulled into a sense of security, begin to live a little above the ordinary high flood levels to protect their riverain crops (kharif) and are overtaken by floods should abnormal conditions of rainfall prevail, as they did in 1918 and 1922. When an abnormally high flood causes serious damage a hue and cry is raised, but within a year or two the villagers unconcernedly relapse into their old ways and generation after generation history repeats itself and Nature exacts heavy toll for defiance of its laws. If, in addition to this, conditions are created artificially, e.g., laying of high railway embankments across the surface slope of the country which favour obstruction of floods, devastation more extensive and widespread misery result. This brings me to the subject of the Report.

2. I generally agree with the Committee about the causes of floods in the Rajshahi Division, but would offer some comments about causes which have either been omitted or minimised. The Committee rightly emphasises abnormally heavy local rainfall but has omitted to record that simultaneous heavy falls in the North greatly intensify the situation. Mr. J. T. Rankin, Commissioner of the Rajshahi Division, has the following significant remark in his Report, dated the 25th November 1919: "In Rajshahi the heavy rainfall began on 24th August and this added to the floods draining from the Bogra and Dinajpur districts, caused the whole country to be flooded." A reference to the rainfall statement, accompanying the President's note on the previous floods (received with the Secretary's letter No. 501 I., dated the 28th January 1925), will show that while heavy rain was falling in mid and lower Bengal heavy rain from 4 to 10 inches and more was falling in Northern Bengal too, from 24th to 27th August 1922! The Meteorologist has the following observations in his rainfall notes:—

Floods of 1918.

Dinajpur.—On account of heavy rains since June last considerably in excess of the average of previous years the pools, tanks, canals, etc., were almost full to the brim and the continuous downpour from the 23rd to 26th August resulted in a flood in the town such as has not been witnessed here within living memory.

Bogra.—The area affected by flood in Bogra is about 100 square miles. The flood is subsiding very slowly.

Rajshahi.—The flood is not limited to a certain place. It has spread over Dinajpur, Bogra and some places of Rangpur..... Heart-rending details continue to come from the districts of Rajshahi and Bogra.

Bengali, September 3.

Flood in North Bengal.—We understand that the flood in Bogra district and in Naogaon subdivision and other parts of North Bengal is of a far more serious nature than was at first apprehended.

A careful study of the flooded area shows that the flow of the excess rainfall was mainly from the north-north-west to the south-south-east.

Floods of 1922.

The rainfall in Dinajpur and in the nighbourhood of Balurghat flooded the Jamuna and Atrai rivers and this coupled with the local fall in the Naogaon and in the north-west corner of Bogra, caused an unprecedented flood in the low-lying country.....

The trouble in the present year has been due to the fact that in addition to the flooding due to the heavy local rainfall, the overflowing from the Tulsiganga on the north-west and from Nagore on the north-east side had to be passed.

These quotations go to show that heavy falls of rain simultaneously in the north, above the Dinajpur-Rangpur Railway line and the lower districts, are the main cause of the trouble, specially when they synchronise with abnormally high floods in the Ganges and the Brahmaputra!

3. Among the contributory causes a specific and definite mention must be made of the obstruction caused by the District Board roads. Their banks may not be higher than 4 feet and when the floods over-topped them they may not have caused obstruction in such localities, but the extensive general retardation of floods that resulted from them in a flat country with a slope of about 2 feet per mile, must have been considerable and kept the flood longer on the land than would otherwise have been. The fact of there being "little evidence to show that District Board roads appreciably opposed the forward progress of the flood", merely shows that no evidence was taken and not that there was no evidence to be taken.

4. The Committee has recognized the great obstruction caused by the Railway banks and also the inadequacy of the existing waterways but they have not admitted definitely and clearly that as the cross banks interfere with the surface drainage of the country mere increase of waterway will not meet the situation, as the surface flow obstructed by the Railway bank has to turn right or left to find an outfall under the bridge openings and has thus to travel a longer distance and to slightly head up to generate sufficient velocity to flow against the natural lie of the country! I have endeavoured to bring out this point in my Inspection Notes, dated the 10th—13th March 1923, paragraph 4, q. v. This is an important factor affecting the situation and cannot be safely ignored. Intermediate openings, say every mile or half a mile, should be provided to allow of the local surface drainage going along its own axis, instead of seeking an exit under the main Railway waterways! If this is done much heading up between two main Railway waterways will be obviated.

5. The recommendations of the Committee are embodied in paragraph 15 of the Report. With the measures recommended I am generally in accord. These, however, will only partially ease the situation. The two chief aims to be steadily kept in view are—

(1) To reduce the intensity of the floods to obviate loss of life and property.

(2) To interfere as little as possible with the natural processes.

6. However much we may deplore the obstructive effect of the Railway banks they have come to stay and are bound to continue to interfere with the processes of river regimen and land formation. Nobody in his senses would recommend the uprooting of the Railways and plunging the fair Province of Bengal into the backwardness of the pre-Railway days. We must accept the existing Railways as a fixture and while we attempt to mitigate their evil effects by increasing their waterways and giving direct exit to local surface drainage by intermediate openings, we must explore all the possible avenues of controlling and regulating the disposal of floods. The Committee have rightly laid stress on not interfering with the processes of Nature. Judicious regulation of the floods will help Nature and deprive it of its terror-spreading features. The most unfavourable coincidence of factors is, (1) heavy rains north of Kaunia-Katihar Line, (2) heavy rains south of the line and (3) abnormal rise of the rivers Ganges and Brahmaputra. Such a combination does not occur frequently but when it occurs the conditions of 1918 and 1922 are repeated. It is for this most unfavourable concourse of circumstances that the Committee has to make its recommendations Ganges and Brahmaputra rose abnormally high last year, without any complication resulting in lower Bengal, because rainfall in Bengal was not heavy. But we cannot always be so fortunate and must be ready for the proverbial "rainy day"! The Committee has asseverated in paragraph 6 of the Report that it is "satisfied that had there been no Railways at all in the area the rain which fell would have caused a flood the severity of which would have been almost as great as that which actually occurred". If this is accepted as correct the main remedy of the increase of waterway of the Railway bridges is a broken reed to lean upon and the remedial measures suggested by the Committee do not amount to much. We must, on the Committee's own showing, seek some other measure which, in addition to what has been recommended by the Committee, may appreciably reduce the intensity of the floods. This additional remedy is the control and regulation of the floods by Regulating Reservoirs. Theoretically these reservoirs will be adequate to cope with the most intense floods in their catchments even when they are full to the brim but in practice their efficiency will be much greater, for we can always keep them partially empty to take up a spate of any intensity, before allowing the flood-absorptive power above the F. T. L. to come into play. Suitable sites being available, I can think of no other device which can make it possible to control floods with the regularity of a clock.

The method of flood-absorption by lakes is as old as the hills but a scientific exposition of it has only recently been attempted. This is why there is scanty literature available on the subject. I had, in my Note, dated the 5th October 1923, paragraph 25, attempted to give the Committee some idea of what flood-absorption is and how it works. It does not seem to have been followed by some of the members of the Committee, specially as the printer has substituted the expression " flood tide level " for F. T. L., which stands for Full Tank Level! The expression " flood tide level " makes the context meaningless!!! It is, therefore, necessary to explain again that flood-absorption in large lakes is the capacity of the reservoirs of temporarily holding back spates above the weir crest level (F. T. L.), for as much time as we require. This is attained by decreasing the length and increasing the depth of flood over the weir. To attain to the designed H. F. L. in the lake, the water level rises gradually as the inflow continues, as the outflow over the weir is so designed that it is some aliquot part of the inflow; it varies generally from $\frac{1}{4}$th to $\frac{1}{3}$rd. The Railway banks also hold up floods; the afflux up-stream is an indication of temporary retention of flood. One might well ask, if the Railways do act as regulating reservoirs why then all this hue and cry against Railway banks? The Railway banks obstruct floods where obstruction is not wanted; indeed where it is wanted to pass off the floods as quickly as possible. The reservoir banks confine floods to regions where they are meant to be confined, where there is no possibility of flooding out of fields, or submersion of property. This is a material difference. It will be too tedious to enter into the technique of the subject. I have already submitted to the President my detailed printed note on the subject, which I trust has been available for perusal by all the members of the Committee.

7. The Committee have laboured to show the inutility of my suggestion. Indeed one of the members asked me to show if there was a single instance in which a regulating reservoir was specifically constructed for this purpose! Not only reservoirs have been constructed for the purpose in recent times but the ancients also utilised the flood-absorptive power of lakes in training their rivers and stopping the havoc they used to work in the riparian regions. The following extracts will serve to bring out my point:—

Extract from the " Book of Knowledge ".

In its upper courses, separated from the lower by grand gorges which remind us of the Iron Gate of Danube, Yangtse-kiang passes through a District of red earth—as large as Georgia and very thickly populated. There are lakes* in the basin of the Yangtse-kiang, which act as reservoirs in the time of heavy rains, so that its floods are not so disastrous as those on the Hwang-ho, which drains through Northern China. " China's Sorrow " is one of the names of this river, so dreadful are the floods when it bursts its banks and submerges the surrounding country and the towns. It is not navigable for long distances like the Yangtse-kiang!

8. There are two rivers, as big as Ganges, in China—Yangtse-kiang and Hwang-ho. The former is protected by 4 or 5 big regulating lakes, with the result that it is not subject to disastrous floods and the regular and continuous sweepage from the lakes keeps the river navigable for long distances inland. Hwang-ho is not so treated and has full play for its fury and is subject to floods more disastrous than those in lower Bengal! The moral is clear.

Extracts from Sir W. Wilcock's book on Nile.

Page 30.—Owing to the fact that an increase in the discharge of the Victoria Nile cannot pass the Albert Nile before the whole area of Lake Albert has risen; the floods of the Victoria Nile are delayed nearly 5 months in their passage down the Albert Nile; a rise of 1 metre on Lake Albert meaning an increased cube of 45,000,000,000 cubic metres.....

Page 56.—Lake Victoria, the Victoria Nile and Lake Albert may all be considered as the great equatorial regulators of the Nile

Page 56.—The conversion of the Fayoum depression into Lake Moeris was long considered by the ancient world as one of its greatest wonders. They let the flood into this depression when it was dangerously high and provided for its return to the river when the inundation had come to an end. To understand how capable Lake Moeris was to control

*Notably Lakes Tungling and Poyang.

the floods and turn a dangerous into a beneficent inundation I should recommend a study of Sir H. Brown's "Fayoum & Lake Moeris". As years rolled on Nile widened and deepened its own trough to which it is now confined Page 73.—Herodotus, writing about B. C 450, was the first to describe Lake Moeris. It takes six months filling and six months flowing back.....Strabo writing in B. C. 20 remarks: "It has also a remarkable lake called the Lake Moeris, large enough to be called a sea.....The Lake is from its size and depth capable of receiving the overflow of the Nile at its rising and preventing the flooding of the houses and gardens; when the river falls, the lake again discharges the water and it is available for irrigation. There are regulators at both ends for controlling the inflow and outflow.....

Page 80.—Just as the great size of the ancient lake (Moeris) was of inestimable value to a work whose principal use lay in moderating high floods, so the smaller area of the modern lake (Wady Rayan) will render it far more useful as a work for feeding the low Nile. This Lake will render no mean aid in times of dangerous floods, but in its early years its main use will be the provision of water in summer. It will supply the two milliards which are needed to convert the whole of Egypt from basin to perennial irrigation.....It will be able to lower a high flood 30 centimetres for 50 days. This will give relief to the Nile, a relief which will be much appreciated by the whole country.....and specially by Cairo.

9. These extracts tend to show that regulating reservoirs not only moderate floods but help to improve the regimen of rivers, reclaim lands and admit of valuable perennial irrigation being substituted for kharif or basin irrigation. What has been possible of attainment in China and Egypt and what is being attempted in West America can certainly be attained in India, if the problem is properly studied and investigated, instead of being discarded on a priori notions!

10. I shall now pass in review, briefly, some of the statements made in the Report. I am afraid it will be incorrect to draw any inferences from a hypothetical figure of expenditure like 3 crores. The expenditure may be very much less. If some regulation of the branches of the Ganges in United Provinces and Bihar or of Brahmaputra in its upper reaches be eventually necessary it is possible 3 crores may not prove sufficient. The question at present is not one of amount but of principle. Are the remedies suggested by the Committee adequate to meet the problem, intensified as it is expected to become by the slow rising of land and continued and accelerated deterioration of rivers? If not, is it not worth while investigating the possibilities of flood control? I do not advocate flood control in any particular area as I have not data whereon to base my opinion. I would investigate the possibilities of the sites roughly indicated above and below Kaunia-Katihar Line. The idea of converting all the bhils into flood-moderating reservoirs has great possibilities. Being situated in the midst of the heavy rainfall zone they may all retain floods, if converted into regulating basins. At present their function is to absorb floods in the beginning of the monsoon. Once they get filled up they cease to moderate floods. If these are transformed into reservoirs, by blocking their exit and provision of weirs on the principle of flood-regulation, they would stand as bulwarks between the floods and the low-lying lands. Change of the focus of rainfall cannot destroy the utility of the regulating basins. All of them may not be called upon to work simultaneously. They would be like out-post sentinels, ready to throttle floods whenever there is any rain above them. It is just possible that there may not be heavy rainfall in the north and all the rainfall may be local and yet these regulating basins will function, as they will prevent the flow—ordinary flood flow—of the upper reaches from getting into the rivers Atrai, Jabuna, etc., and thus allow Rajshahi and Pabna districts breathing time to fight their battles with their local floods. The question of flood-regulation cannot be disposed of on financial grounds. If investigation shows that an expenditure of 3 crores is likely to prove remunerative, why should the amount be a deterrent? Considering that the loss that has been occasioned by floods in Bengal during the last 75 years would, if estimated correctly, go above 100 crores, is it too much to spend 3 or 4 crores to obviate all possibility of such a loss by constructing remunerative schemes? My point is that it is not correct to set aside a measure, because it is likely to cost a large amount. A consideration of the public weal requires that all possible avenues of minimising floods must be explored and it is not fair to turn down a proposal without proper investigation!

11. It is a travesty of facts to suggest that my proposal would amount to an interference with the natural processes! Regulating the floods is not any interference with the beneficent action of the floods; floods are needed to deposit rich silt on paddy lands. It is when they rise beyond bounds that they cause devastation! It is at such a point that I would regulate them and keep them to their legitimate work of spreading plenty. Indeed if rains fail, as more than one witness has said in the reports they do after heavy falls, the reservoirs can supply water for winter sowings or standing crops suffering from drought following a spell of heavy rainfall. I give an extract from the report of Rai Ambika Prasad Sen Bahadur :—

> The flood occurred at the end of August (1918); there were afterwards rains at intervals till about the middle of September, after which till the harvesting of the winter rice there was practically little rain. This drought affected much more the crop of the tract over which the flood passed and the outturn of the winter rice in those parts was very low.....The effect of flood was confined to about 80 square miles but the drought affected more severely the whole tract over which the flood passed .....On account of drought during these months the rabi crop sown in the most affected kheyar tract failed!

12. Similar statements lie scattered in Mr. Rankin's report. It would hardly require labouring that supplying of water to flood-affected areas would greatly assist the relief-seekers and the Government in restoring normal conditions, after the cessation of abnormal rainfall.

13. I do not suggest any wholesale change of kharif by rabi cultivation. What I contend is that if water is available in rabi the cultivator will not take long to see that the rabi and perennial irrigation pays as much if not more than kharif in the low-lying belts. The cultivator of Bengal is not more conservative than that of other parts of India: he is quite justified in not changing his habits at the bidding of any Tom, Dick, or Harry. Once he is assured of the benefits that would result by change he is not backward in taking advice. The big Sukkur Barrage Project in Sind is based on developing kharif and rabi irrigation side by side. All the regulating basins need not be treated as reservoirs for irrigating rabi crops. If people must have late paddy the water of the reservoirs can be let out after the cyclonic rainfall is over; the enriched bed of the tank will be better fitted to raise bumper crops, with its rich deposition of silt and humus.

14. I am afraid any calculations based on assumptions in sub-paragraph 2 of paragraph 11 of the Report cannot be taken seriously. Only proper investigation could show if the reduction of the flood depth will be by 6 inches or more. With an equal show of reasoning I could claim the reduction to be six feet, by slightly varying the assumed data!

15. It may be worth while depopulating a small area permanently and paying some compensation than allowing untold misery to fall upon half the population of lower Bengal every 4th or 5th year!

16. The difficulty of maintenance and the risk of failure apply to all engineering structures and are not the exclusive distinguishing features of flood-regulating reservoirs! We may as well cease building railways because almost every year in some part of India railway banks and bridges are swept away by the floods.

17. As regards the silting of reservoir beds I have already made it clear in paragraph 6 that I ignore the capacity below the Full Tank Level in calculating flood-absorption, for the floods may come on a full tank at the end of the rainy season! For the purposes of regulation it matters little if the bed is full of water or silt! There is a brighter side to the silting of the reservoir beds. It is not improbable that by the time this occurs the river channels below the lakes would be in a better regimen by the steady flow of clear water throughout the year and may be able to dispense with flood regulation, as took place in the Fayoum region in Egypt—a whole Province was reclaimed when the Lake Moeris got silted up after functioning for over 2,000 years! The Chinese Lakes are yet working after centuries of accumulations of silt in their beds! What are the Sudds of Egypt but the silted up bed of a huge Lake and yet it is functioning as a flood-moderator! The Bhopal State takes its name from a huge inland sea constructed by the famous Rajah Bhoj, called Bhoj-par, i.e., the Dam of Bhoj. This lake got silted up so much that it occurred to one of its rulers to cut through the dam. By doing so the bed of the old lake has become one of the most fertile Provinces of the State! Silting of the reservoir beds means so much broken country levelled up and reclaimed. Indeed large pieces of inferior and broken lands are reclaimed by construction of what are called Bunds in Central India, Rajputana and Central Provinces.

18. It will make my position clear if I shall give a brief summary of the advantages I claim for the proposed regulating reservoirs. These are categorically as below.

(1) Flood regulation, i.e., to withdraw temporarily a large proportion of the flow-off from the upper reaches of the drainages, when conditions lower down are embarrassing due to heavy rainfall and abnormal rising of the Brahmaputra and the Ganges, and to let out water when the floods are lower than required for submersion of paddy fields on the banks. Shorn of their devastating power the controlled floods will allow of an even working of the process of rising of land.

(2) Supplying of water to crops which suffer from drought which often comes in the wake of cyclonic rainfalls.

(3) To improve the regimen of the rivers by keeping up a steady flow in them. As silt is deposited in the lake beds the water let out, after the rains, is comparatively free from silt and is therefore more likely to carry away silt deposited in the river beds and deepen their channels. Deterioration of the rivers results from a spasmodic working of the drainages and fitful velocities. When the regulation of the drainages will admit of a steady supply being kept up in the river channels they will cease to allow deposits to take place; thus with an even rising of land and a steady flow the river channels will get deeper and deeper, as was observed in Egypt by the operation of Lake Moeris. Says Sir W. Wilcocks: "As years rolled on the Nile widened and deepened its own trough to which it was now confined and eventually the time came when Lake Moeris could be dispensed with without danger."

(4) With deeper channels and a steady flow of water the river channels will become navigable and solve the problem of inland transport. "The great function of Lake Victoria in the economy of the Nile supply is the insuring of a nearly constant discharge of water into the Victoria Nile."—(Wilcocks).

(5) To develop rabi and perennial irrigation in tracts where no high class cultivation is possible for want of water in winter and summer months and to prevent kharif crops from wilting on break of or bad distribution of rainfall. All along my journey from Calcutta to Gaya I noticed patches of sugarcane on both sides of the railway. Evidently these are only possible where there are wells or village ponds. If water is made available in this tract there is no doubt that much of the area which is under paddy will be brought under sugarcane and yield much higher profits.

(6) Reclamation of broken land upstream of the Dam.—In course of time when these Lakes get silted up they will, like the Fayoum in Egypt and numerous tank beds in Central India and Rajputana, yield good land, which could be brought under the plough immediately the monsoon is over and there is no necessity of flood regulation. It is likely that some of the reservoirs will be retained as storage reservoirs and on being silted up will be re-modelled and raised; and if this is not possible new dams may be laid higher up or lower down but generally the beds of lakes will always be free for cultivation in October and the fear of extensive areas of cultivable land being thrown out of use is a mere bogey of the imagination!

(7) Prevention of loss of life and property.—In years like 1918 and 1922 in addition to great loss of life in men and cattle the loss of property runs into crores. Reading the valuable notes by the Meteorologist one carries away the impression that the loss of life and property from floods in Bengal during the last 75 years could not have amounted to less than 100 crores!!! If flood regulation will obviate this recurring loss the tax-payer in Bengal will not mind an expenditure of a few crores. It is far better to spend a few crores in carrying out prophylactic measures than lose hundred times the amount in times of flood!

(8) Prevention of the disorganization of the rural holdings.—The direct loss of property and life is nothing compared to the permanent loss occasioned to the peasantry by these floods. A man whose cattle are carried away, tenement destroyed, children sickened and died, encumbrances on the land increased and health shattered, cannot easily recover his original position and is permanently crippled. An army of such men in each district, after the floods, means a terrible loss to the Province and if we had only vision we would be appalled at the amount and extent of these indirect losses occasioned by abnormal floods and would not hesitate to spend a few crores to obviate it!

(9) Improvement in the health and the physique of the people.—In an address read recently before the Royal Society of Arts, Colonel McCarrison tried to show that the worst food that an individual could live on was "rice and dal;"* and the worst climate a man can live in is low-lying riparian, damp. lands! If the "teer" lands are sown with rabi crops there would be no necessity for the peasants in Bengal to live in low, damp, lands in the monsoon and with wheat available in abundance the peasant may well in course of time begin to take wheat as staple food, which, according to the Colonel, reinforced by milk, is the best diet for Indians. With a change in diet and living in the open uplands the bill of health will certainly improve. This is an aspect of the question worthy of consideration by the Director of Health, Bengal.

(10) Simplification of the railway problems.—When the floods are controlled there will be no need for the Railway to go on multiplying their bridges. As I have endeavoured to show, and the Committee also admits. increase in the railway openings is not likely to effect much in the matter of the intensity of floods!

(11) Creation of water power.—If the branches of Ganges and the Brahmaputra are blocked in the sub-montane regions it is not unlikely that creation of water power may become a feasible proposition. This is a matter requiring investigation.

(12) Prosperity of the people.—With freedom from floods and introduction of high class cultivation people are bound to thrive and Bengal may well in time vie with the Punjab and wrest from it the title of "the granary of India"! Extension of area under cotton may be one of the results of supplying assured means of irrigation. Considering its size Bengal cuts a very poor figure in the matter of irrigation facilities. Doubtless there are people who, in view of excessive rainfall of Bengal, are of opinion that Bengal does not require irrigation! It is such tracts that stand in need of irrigation most!

*Journal of the Royal Society of Arts, issue of 2nd January 1925.

(13) Increase of the revenues of the country.—I claim that if properly located and correctly designed these regulating reservoirs will yield good revenue Punjab is an instance in point. No doubt it enjoys perennial supplies but these are well nigh tapped and the Punjab Government has now launched on construction of storage works. The Bakhra Dam will be one of the biggest reservoirs in the world. The income from irrigation works in the Punjab yields an average profit of 15 per cent. and is the mainstay of the Punjab Finance. Bengal will not fare worse if it inaugurated a sound irrigation policy and made a beginning by constructing flood regulation reservoirs, in the absence of snow-fed rivers!

(14) Settlement of the country.—Bengal has long been a prey to political unrest. All this unrest is due to economic causes if we trace the trouble to its source. Any measure calculated to secure stability, and increase the prosperity of the peasantry, is bound to give them a stake in the country and drive off all thoughts of sedition from their minds. The devil tempts the idle man! Busy people have no time for sedition!

Concluding remarks.—The problem is much too vast to be solved by makeshift arrangements and it would be unwise to lay the salve to our souls that such floods do not occur frequently! The deterioration of the rivers is going on rapidly, land is slowly rising and as it rises it will accentuate trouble unless the river channels are deepened and made stable. The Government will be well-advised to explore all avenues of reducing floods. It would be a short-sighted policy to discard any suggested measure, without proper investigation, on the score of academic objections and ignore the knowledge and experience of other countries!

APPENDIX I.

Note on the Northern Bengal Floods by C. Addams Williams, Esq., C. I. E.

[The levels given in this note are referred to the P. W. D. datum which is 6·25 feet above the Kidderpore Old Dock Sill.]

I have compiled the following note on the floods in the Rajshahi Division from the information contained in the records of the Irrigation Department, Gazetteers, etc. These records are by no means as complete as could be wished for and little is known of any floods prior to the year 1918, except that of 1787.

The basin principally affected by the great flood of 1922 was that of the Atrai which comprises about 6,800 square miles to the north of the Sara-Serajganj Railway and the Ganges and is triangular in shape with the base running east and west between Rampore-Boalia and Serajganj, where the width is about 70 miles: the apex of the basin lies under the Himalayas about 10 miles north of Siliguri and the total length from north to south is 195 miles, the axis of the basin lying about north-north-west to south-south-east. The average slope of the country from north to south from Jalpaiguri (about 260·00) to the Sara-Serajganj line (23·00 lowest) is about 2 feet per mile.

The tract of country is drained by the Atrai river and its tributaries, the principal of which are the Jabuna, Tulsiganga and Nagar. Very little, if any, water appears to be derived from the hills: the Atrai rises in the foothills of the Himalayas and passes by the western side of the basin almost due south to Manda in Rajshahi, whence it turns its course south-eastwards to the Chalan bhil in the Rajshahi and Pabna districts, crossing the main line of the Eastern Bengal Railway at Atrai. The Jabuna rises to the north of Saidpore and flows southwards parallel and close to the Eastern Bengal Railway main line on its western side and joins the Atrai close to Atrai station: near Tilakpur station the Tulsiganga joins the Jabuna and drains a portion of the country on the east of the main line to the north of the Santahar-Bogra Railway. The Nagar drains the remaining portion of the country on the east side of the main line and possibly also receives a little spill from the Karatoya river which passes along the eastern fringe of the basin affected in 1922. The Nagar joins the Atrai at Singra at the northern end of the Chalan bhil.

The water carried by these rivers is supplemented by spill water from the Ganges by the Baral which crosses the main line at Malanchi: all these rivers discharge into the Chalan bhil north of the Sara-Serajganj Railway.

From the Chalan bhil the water crosses the Sara-Serajganj Railway between Bhangura and Ullapura stations and continuing in a south-easterly direction through the Pabna district falls into the Jamuna (Brahmaputra) at Bera, about half way between Serajganj and Goalundo, after being joined by the Phuljore (Karatoya) and Ichamati. The tract drained by the rivers within the basin comprises the western portion of Jalpaiguri, the south-eastern portion of Dinajpur, western portion of Rangpur, the western and central portions of Bogra and practically the whole of the Rajshahi and Pabna districts.

The western and northern portions of the Rajshahi district, southern portion of Dinajpur and western portions of Rangpur and Bogra comprise comparatively high land called the Barind tract and are formed of old alluvium: to the south and east the newer deposits will be found which are added to year by year by the silt brought down from the north and the spill water of the Ganges through the Baral: the high land on the west of Rajshahi and Dinajpur forms the watershed between the Atrai and Mahananda rivers.

The following points are of importance in considering the case of these floods:—

The Tista river rises on the far side of the Himalayas and after passing through Sikkim enters the plains through the Sivok Gola pass: previous to 1787 it distributed its waters through the Atrai, Jabuna, Karatoya and Punarbhaba rivers and discharged them into the Ganges or its offshoots in the Pabna district or into the Mahananda near Malda. In 1787 the Rangpur district suffered in succession from three calamities. Continuous heavy rain set in in March and destroyed the crops: on the 27th August the Tista came down in an enormous flood sweeping before it large masses of sand which are stated to have choked the bed so that the left bank was breached and the river opened a new course south-eastwards from Jalpaiguri to the Brahmaputra, flooding the Rangpur district to considerable depth: the second calamity was followed by a severe cyclone on the 2nd November which lasted for 10 hours and did immense damage: this cyclone also visited the Dinajpur district: the Rangpur district is stated to have lost one-sixth of its people during the year. The Tista has continued to follow the course opened in 1787 with comparatively small variations and is believed to have followed a previous course of the river. The Atrai, Jabuna and Karatoya have not changed their course since 1770 with the exception mentioned below. The Jabuna appears to have been an effluent of the Atrai and the Nagar to have been connected with the Karatoya. The Punarbhaba has also severed its connection with the Atrai. The Karatoya was at one time a large river and appears to have been one of the principal mouths of the Tista, if not the most important. Traces of this river will still be found in the Jalpaiguri district west of the railway: in the map of 1770 it is shown as joined with the Tista close to the foothills of the Himalayas: it appears probable that the sequence of events was as follows:—The Tista flowed into the Brahmaputra on much the same course as now and at that time the Karatoya was a very active river flowing south-eastwards into the Jamuna below Serajganj and nearly parallel with and to the south of the Tista. For some reason unknown the latter river changed its course to the south from a point above Jalpaiguri and followed the Atrai course, beheading the Karatoya until in 1787 the Tista resumed its south-easterly direction. The Tista has therefore at one time or another distributed its waters over the whole of the area south of its present course between the Mahananda at Malda and the present Brahmaputra on the eastern border of the Pabna district.

Before the great change took place in the course of the Brahmaputra referred to below, the Atrai flowed into the Jamuna on the eastern boundary of the Pabna district. Owing to the encroachment of the Ganges which absorbed a large portion of the south-eastern corner of the district, the Atrai became directly connected with the Ganges: subsequently, its course was again diverted eastwards by the heavy deposits of silt from the Ganges and its effluents the Baral and Ichamati, since when it has discharged its waters eastwards together with those of the Karatoya and other rivers at Bera, into the Brahmaputra.

In 1770 the main stream of the Brahmaputra after pasing round the foot of the Garo Hills and east of the Madhupur jungle flowed past Mymensingh and joined with the Megna: about the end of the 18th century it began to change its course further to the west to join the Ganges at Goalundo, having been reinforced by the Tista, as already stated, in 1787, and having absorbed the lower reaches of the Jamuna within its bed.

The change in the course of the Brahmaputra was probably due to the Tista which considerably augmented the discharge of the Brahmaputra in 1787 and at the same time reduced the volume of water entering the Jamuna below Serajganj: the Brahmaputra and Jamuna were interconnected by the Jenai, a spill of the former river, and there can therefore be little doubt that as a result of the change in the Tista the slope in the Jenai was considerably steepened with the result that the Brahmaputra took that course to the Ganges at Goalundo.

These major changes in the river system caused the deterioration of all the rivers south of the present Tista which at the present day carry local rainfall only and are cut off from a supply of water from the Himalayas.

A new factor in the case is the backing up of the land flood by the Brahmaputra, which also spills over the land on its western bank up to the Karatoya: the combined action of the Brahmaputra and Ganges has therefore raised the land along their banks and the land floods have therefore one exit only through the Hurasagar into the Brahmaputra, about midway between Serajganj and Goalundo.

There is also evidence to show that the earthquake of 1897 caused an alteration in the levels of the country in the Bogra, Rangpur and Jalpaiguri districts, which has interfered with the general drainage in some of the rivers.

Previous floods.—The past history of the basin in regard to floods is most meagre. The earliest record is of a severe flood in the Malda district in 1785 which is described by Mr. Charles Grant, Commercial Resident, Malda, in his diary of the 11th September as follows:—"A great overflowing of the waters this year: the whole country between the Ganges and the Mahananda flooded: the poor people in dreadful distress, clinging still to their huts, though half filled.....; last year but one (1783) was a destroying drought here, now a destroying flood." The 1787 flood in the Rangpur district due to the change in the course of the Tista has already been described and caused actual famine. There is mention of a flood in Rajshahi in 1838 which seriously affected the crops but no details can be found. There was a flood in the Rangpur district in 1856 which did not cause much distress but destroyed the crops on the low lands.

In 1864, the centre of the great cyclone of that year passed over Natore in the Rajshahi district on the 5th October and continuing through the Bogra district the storm broke up in the lower Assam hills on the 7th; a portion of the Rajshahi district was inundated by the Ganges, and Rampore-Boalia was flooded by the breaching of the protective embankment. The eastern portion of Bogra was also flooded.

In 1865, there was a flood in the Rajshahi district due to heavy local rain, but there are no details except that the harvest was affected.

The flood of 1870 in the Rangpur and Rajshahi districts does not appear to have caused much damage.

In August 1871, there was a severe flood due to local rain in Rajshahi which was said to have been the highest on record; it is stated to have been augmented by a high Ganges: the floods were out from August to October. The Talaimari embankment near Rampore-Boalia was breached. A concentrated cyclone about 1/8th mile in width passed over the district from north-east to south-west and caused considerable damage in its track.

In Malda the Ganges cut into the Kalindri and the embankment at Malda was breached: the flood reached a maximum on the 30th August and the whole of English Bazar was under water, the flood rising to a level not known previously: the western portion of the district was inundated.

In 1872 a cyclone on the 20th September did considerable damage to buildings and shipping in the Pabna district.

In 1886, Bogra town was inundated and part of the railway was washed away and it is on record that a fall of 18 inches of rain occurred in a few hours.

The flood of 1890 caused damage to 90 square miles in Bogra of which 38 square miles were destroyed. Pabna town was overflooded by the Ichamati and was afterwards protected by an embankment.

In 1892, Dinajpur town was practically submerged due to a flood in the Atrai which swept down upon it through the Jabuna and Ghagra: the timely cutting of the Darjeeling road relieved the situation. The Eastern Bengal Railway between Parbatipur and Dinajpur was damaged and two culverts and a bridge washed out and the line was also breached by overtopping: extra waterway was subsequently provided: the date of this flood was the 9th July. There is no account of this flood in any other district.

In 1902, there is no record of a flood in the districts but the main line of the Eastern Bengal Railway between Mandalghat and Jalpaiguri was breached on the 27th September in 9 places. The flood was due to heavy rain in the Darjeeling hills and during this month Jalpaiguri received more than twice the normal rainfall: the river Tista began to rise at 3-40 P.M. of the 27th and continued to rise till 5-30 A.M. of the 28th reaching a level eighteen inches above the maximum of the previous 10 years: it remained at its greatest height for half an hour and then fell: some of the roads in Jalpaiguri were submerged to a depth of two feet: traffic on the railway was stopped for 10 days: the river overtopped its bank at Rangdhamati, 9 miles above Jalpaiguri, and spread to the Karla which divides the town into two portions: the railway obstructed the flood south of the town and when the breaches occurred the water flowed into the Goramara.

In 1906 there were general floods all over the Jalpaiguri district in July: 40·05 inches of rain were recorded at Jalpaiguri during the month: on the night of the 3rd August and morning of the 4th all rivers rose simultaneously and the damage to railways and roads is stated to have been very great: 24 inches of rain fell in Jalpaiguri between 8 A.M. of the 28th July and 8 A.M. of the 4th August. The Tista again flooded the town through a channel joining with the Karla: the main line was breached at Mandalghat and traffic was resumed on the 8th August by a diversion. During the first 20 days of August 48·96 inches of rain fell at Jalpaiguri and 50·28 inches at Alipur Duar: in Bogra district, local rain did a small amount of damage to crops but in Pabna the damage was considerable. The flood also affected the Malda district.

In 1908-09 there was scarcity in Rajshahi due to local rain and inundation from the Ganges: on the other hand Rangpur suffered due to shortage of rain and there was distress in the Barind area and also in the Dinajpur district.

In 1917 the northern portion of Dinajpur was visited by floods on the 8th to 10th October and portions of Rangpur were also affected and damage was caused to the railway near Rangpur: further damage to crops occurred by heavy rain in November.

It will be seen that none of these records points to a general flood over the whole basin.

1918: Atrai flood.—In August 1918, there was a very high flood in Dinajpur and there is general agreement that along the Parbatipur-Katihar line it was the largest flood experienced within memory, being 2 feet higher than any flood since the railway was built: the flood arrived on the 16th August and began to subside on the 19th: Balurghat town was flooded.

There are no reports of flooding in Rangpur.

In Bogra the western half of the district was affected: the flood commenced on the 25th and began to submerge homesteads on the following day. In the northern portion of the area, the water subsided in a week but not before the middle of September on the southern border of the district. On the Santahar-Bogra line it is stated that the afflux was about two feet for three or four days: no very serious damage was done to the line: at Santahar itself the flood is said to have risen 2½ to 3 feet above any previously known.

In Rajshahi, it was stated that the flood was higher than any within living memory: at Naogaon the water began to rise above ordinary level on the 24th August and reached a maximum on the 30th and in the Natore subdivision on the 1st September: at Naogaon it decreased slightly on the 31st August and reached normal level on the 20th September. The Jabuna fell 2·14 feet between the 31st August and the 20th September at Naogaon: in the same period the Tulsiganga fell 3·19 feet: the duration of the flood was 25 days: by the 26th October the Jabuna at Naogaon had fallen 11·04 feet below the maximum.

In the Pabna district there is no record to show that any severe damage was done.

The total area affected was between 1,300 and 1,400 square miles in which the crops were destroyed on a little more than 200 square miles.

The following figures give the levels of the Brahmaputra and Ganges for the week ending the 31st August 1918 as compared with the levels during the previous two years:—

| Year | Brahmaputra at Gauhati | Ganges at Rampur-Boalia | Combined rivers at Goalundo |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1916 | 167·99 | 57·02 | 27·87 |
| 1917 | 167·73 | 56·45 | 25·96 |
| 1918 | 175·79 | 58 01 | 29·46 |

The level of the Brahmaputra at the mouth of the Hurasagar where the water discharged was 32 5 as an average in 1918 for the same week. On the 22nd August the Goalundo gauge read 28 10 and the river then rose steadily up to the 1st September reaching 30 20: by the 5th it had fallen to 29 70.

Mahananda flood.—In Malda the Mahananda was in high flood in July and August: the levels took a fortnight to subside and were three feet higher than in 1915: the Katihar-Godagari railway was breached and traffic interrupted for 3 days: in Dinajpur the Tangan breached the Parbatipur-Katihar line between Biral and Raiganj and the Mahananda at Kachua. The Punarbhaba flooded Dinajpur town.

1922 flood: September. Atrai basin.—This flood was undoubtedly a good deal more severe than that of 1918: it was the outcome of a general downpour over the whole basin, the focus being at Balurghat in the south of Dinajpur, where 35 05 inches of rain fell in the three days ending 8 A.M. of the 26th: there is however a doubt in regard to the fall at Khetlal which lies south-east of Balurghat in the Bogra district, as no rainfall was recorded on the 26th in spite of the fact that the average recorded at other stations near by was over 9 inches: the probability is the gauge was washed away or submerged: if a fall of 9 inches is allowed for this day the total fall in the three days named was 43·10 inches and the average for the whole basin computed from 32 stations was 17·28 inches.

| Basin | Inches in 3 days. | Area of basin |
|---|---|---|
| | | Sq miles |
| Upper Atrai, north of Dinajpur town and west of the Eastern Bengal main line.. | 11 96 | 1,124 |
| Lower Atrai, south of Dinajpur and west of Eastern Bengal Railway .. .. | 22 37 | 2,764 |
| Tulsiganga east of Eastern Bengal Railway .. .. .. .. | 25·61 | 378 |
| Remaining area, north of Bogra line .. | 27 04 | 1,062 |
| Chalan bhil, south of the Bogra line .. | 17·42 | 1,472 |

Thus, though the highest individual rainfall at any station occurred either at Balurghat or Khetlal, the maximum intensity on any sub-basin occurred in the area to the north of the Santahar-Bogra Railway and east of the main line.

Rain began to fall on the 20th September and increased in intensity every day, up to the 26th, the average for the whole basin being as shown below:—

| Measured at 8 A M of the | Average all on the whole basin |
|---|---|
| | Inches. |
| 21st .. .. .. | 0·50 |
| 22nd .. .. .. | 1·07 |
| 23rd .. .. .. | 1·22 |
| 24th .. .. .. | 4·59 |
| 25th .. .. .. | 6 25 |
| 26th .. .. .. | 6·14 |

A study of the rainfall statement will show that on the 22nd-23rd moderate rain fell on the whole of the basin.

On the 23rd-24th the heaviest rainfall was in the southern half.

On the 24th-25th general very heavy rain set in over the whole area and the same occurred on the 25th-26th.

The fall in the extreme north and south was less than over the rest of the catchment.

The flood at Dinajpur reached a maximum on the 27th September and subsided rapidly and the country was free from water by the first week in October: the Atrai breached the Parbatipur-Katihar line between Dinajpur and Rangaon, but not seriously.

In the early morning of the 26th the Eastern Bengal main line was overtopped and breached at Akkelpore by the flood of the Tulsiganga: the flood in this river was augmented by water which passed under the railway further north from the Jabuna by the Chotta Nadi (Kata Jabuna). The flow of the Tulsiganga east to west through the railway was seriously impeded by the flood in the Jabuna which flows close to and parallel with the railway on the western side: a large volume of water was in consequence diverted southwards and aided in breaching the Santahar-Bogra line seriously on both sides of Adamdighi station on the 26th. The main line near Akkelpur was overtopped for a distance of 8 miles: the flood began to rise on the 25th, reached a maximum on the 28th and began to fall on the 2nd October and subsided by the 8th October.

At Akkelpore it is estimated that the flood rose two feet higher than that of 1918, which reached formation level: the breach was 166 feet wide. On the Santahar-Bogra section the afflux on the railway is variously stated to have been between 2 and 4½ feet, the latter at Nasaratpore station before the bank breached at Adamdighi: there was a good deal of ballast washed away from the line in places up to the Nagar bridge and two small bridges were wrecked. The height of the flood on this railway appears to have been about 2 feet more than in 1918.

In the Rajshahi district the water began to rise on the 25th west of the main line and reached a maximum on the 28th and began to subside on the 2nd October: Naogaon town was flooded.

On the Sara-Serajganj railway the country in the vicinity of the Chalan bhil was all under water on the 26th and the main flood appears to have reached the railway on the 30th, rising to a maximum on the 3rd October: it remained steady till the 15th October and subsided to normal about a week later. Between Ishurdi and Mooladhuli stations, a distance of 5 miles, water flowed through the railway openings northwards to the Baral and the maximum afflux was 3¼ feet: the discharge, however, rapidly decreased and flow ceased on the 1st October. Though some damage was done to the bridges and training works the line was not breached anywhere, but the level appears to have risen to the shoulder of the bank.

The whole of the flood passed under the line west of the Phulgore bridge near Ullapara. The afflux does not appear to have been more than 1¾ feet at any of the bridges, though there is no doubt that it was greater against the bank between them. The maximum difference in level of 2 feet 4 inches occurred to the west of the Muradanga bridge. The velocity through the main bridges was about 10 feet per second on the 1st October. The Muradanga bridge at 149/15 mile did not carry all the water arriving at that point and the surplus passed eastwards parallel with the railway and was discharged by the Dilpasar bridge at mile 152/6: it does not follow that the Muradanga bridge is not large enough: an inspection of the line on the 7th September 1924 when conditions were quite normal, showed that water was taking the same course up to mile 151, which points to the fact that the exit for the water is less obstructed below Dilpasar: a new bridge of 15 spans of 40 feet has been built at mile 151 since the flood occurred. The Phulgore river at 161/18 which discharges the water brought down by the Karatova, does not appear to have been of any assistance in relieving the pressure in the Chalan bhil though it passes along the eastern fringe: at the bridge at 157/16, two miles to the west of the Phulgore, the heading was only six inches. The probable reason is that the obstruction to flow caused by the crops prevented the influence extending so far to the east. If additional waterway is supplied over and above that already provided, it should be between the Dilpasar and Nangara at about 153 miles.

The rate of travel of the forward toe of the flood wave between Atrai and the Sara-Serajganj line was 8 miles per day and of the high flood line the same: between the Bogra line and the Sara-Serajganj railway the figures are 8 miles per day in both cases: the slow progress of the flood is due to the country being very flat and the obstruction to flow caused by vegetation in the bhils.

The following statement shows the average levels of the Brahmaputra and Ganges during the flood as compared with those since 1918 for the weeks ending the 30th September and 7th October 1922:—

| Year | Brahmaputra at Serajganj. | | Ganges at Rampur-Boalia. | | Combined rivers at Goalundo. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Week ending 30th Sept. | Week ending 7th Oct. | Week ending 30th Sept. | Week ending 7th Oct. | Week ending 30th Sept. | Week ending 7th Oct. |
| 1918. .. .. | Not available. | | 51·07 | 48·20 | 25·54 | 23·24 |
| 1919.. .. .. | 37·18 | .... | 52·22 | 49·57 | 25·40 | 23·87 |
| 1920.. .. .. | 40·47 | .... | 52·34 | 49·20 | 26·31 | 24·00 |
| 1921.. .. .. | 40·50 | .... | 56·39 | 53·77 | 27·90 | 26·72 |
| 1922.. .. .. | 36·93 | 36·69 | 60·21 | 60·15 | 27·24 | 27·60 |

At Goalundo the river was falling up to the 22nd September when the gauge read 26·09: it then rose steadily to 27·39 on the 27th, remained steady till the 30th, then rose further to 27·79 (maximum) on the 3rd October, was more or less steady till the 5th October after which it fell.

The Brahmaputra at Serajganj was falling up to the 24th September when the level was 33·40: the river then rose to 37·80 on the 29th and then subsided, the gauge reading 35·70 on the 7th October: thus the peak passed before the main land flood began to discharge.

Mahananda flood.—In regard to the Malda district which is watered by the Mahananda and is an entirely separate basin from the Atrai, all the rivers appear to have been in high flood and the Katihar-Godagari line was severely breached between Malda and Muchia stations and traffic was stopped for nearly a month.

In the Dinajpur district the Tulai, Mahananda, Kulic and Nagar were in flood; banks were overflooded on the 26th September but the flood subsided the next day. The railway was breached by the Tangan between Beral and Radhikapur but not seriously.

The areas affected by the flood are reported to have been as follows:—

| | Square miles. | |
|---|---|---|
| Bogra ... | 405 | |
| Rajshahi ... | 1,200 | |
| Pabna ... | 200 | |
| Dinajpur, Balurghat subdivision | small | detached areas. |
| The total area was probably about | 1,900 | |
| or 28 per cent. of the catchment area. | | |

In some portions of the area no damage was done to crops and in others the crop made a remarkable recovery: the areas damaged appear to be as follows:—

| | Total area damaged. | Damaged to the extent of 75 per cent. or more |
|---|---|---|
| | Sq. miles | Sq. miles. |
| Bogra .. . | 200 | 50 |
| Rajshahi .. .. | 920 | 350 |
| Pabna .. .. | 100? | 50? |
| Dinajpur .. .. | small | .. |
| Total .. | 1,220 | 450 |

In this connection it is pointed out that in Pabna an area of about 50 square miles is seldom if ever cultivated and in the Rajshahi district the shortage of rainfall between October 1921 and June 1922 was very marked: the Collector reported that during this period "there was scarcely a drop of rain". Consequently paddy sowings were very late and the crops were stunted and unable to keep pace with the rising levels in the low lands: thus a good deal of the crop was destroyed before the flood.

The information contained in the papers in regard to the depth of water over the land and flood levels is scarce:—

The following H. F. levels have been reported:—

The H. F. L. in the Atrai at Dinajpur is reported to have been 108·00.

In the northern portion of the Rajshahi district the flood rose from one to two feet above that of 1918 and at the Naogaon ferry on the Jabuna about 1 foot 4 inches, and west of the Atrai bridge one foot.

To the north of the Sara-Serajganj railway the depth of water on the land was about 18 feet as a maximum: judging from levels on the 7th September 1924 this depth was probably about three feet above normal.

The average flood slope between Dinajpur and the Atrai crossing of the Eastern Bengal

Railway was 0·75 feet per mile: between Atrai and the Sara-Serajganj line it was 0·36 per mile and between the latter railway and the Brahmaputra 0·15 per mile.

The following information has been gathered in regard to the waterways under the various railways. After the flood of 1918 additional waterway amounting to 34 running feet was supplied in the Santahar-Bogra line between miles 180¼ to 185, i.e., between Nasaratpur and Talora stations.

Since the flood of 1922 the waterway on the Santahar-Bogra railway has been increased by 460 running feet. The details are as follows:—

| Mile. | Spans. | | Feet. | | Feet. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 178/4-5 | 10 | of | 20 | = | 200 |
| 181/4-5 | 5 | of | 20 | = | 100 |
| 182/5-1 | 3 | of | 20 | = | 60 |
| 188/5-6 | 5 | of | 20 | = | 100 |
| | | Total | | = | 460 |

No increase has been made on the main line: proposals were however made to supply a new bridge of 60 feet at Akkelpore and 90 running feet of new waterway on both sides of this station.

Between Atrai and Santahar the waterway was decreased by 200 feet in 1904-05 and in 1912-13 by a further 260 feet, which is said to have increased the afflux by about 6 inches.

The various railways traversing the basin were opened for traffic on the dates named against each—

District Board roads.—Except in Dinajpur there is no evidence to show that District Board roads have been constructed so as to substantially obstruct floods. In the case mentioned, the Board took steps after the 1918 flood to make considerable increases in the waterway: generally speaking the roads are constructed not more than 2 to 4 feet above the level of the country adjacent to them.

Other points brought about by a perusal of the papers are as follows: It is the general opinion that the rivers are deteriorating and that their beds are getting higher: the Chalan bhil used to be 421 square miles in area and is now reduced to 140 square miles: the bed of the bhil is said to be rising at the rate of half an inch per annum on the average: these figures were obtained from surveys made by the Public Works Department in 1909 and subsequent years.

There is evidence to show that the state of the crops south of the Sara-Serajganj line was much better than on the north of the line. Had there been no railways at all the flood would not have been much lower and there is little doubt that the Pabna district south of the Sara-Serajganj line would have suffered severely.

It may also be pointed out that the average level of the Brahmaputra at Bera was 32·0: below the Sara-Serajganj line, assuming normal conditions, the level would have been about 32·0 to 32·5 which is conclusive evidence that the flood was backed up by the Brahmaputra in the Pabna district.

The 1922 flood was therefore the outcome of extraordinary heavy rain over the whole basin and was backed up by the flood in the Ganges and Brahmaputra: the rainfall records of the past 50 years show that in no year has the fall approached that of 1922 and it is probable that the same applies in regard to the previous 50 years: it does not, however, appear that this flood was a maximum possible, because the intensity of the fall in the northern and southern portions of the basin was below that in the centre.

As time goes on the low lands in the Rajshahi and Pabna districts which now form a receptacle for storing water during high stage in the two major rivers, will be raised by deposits of silt brought down by the Atrai and the spill of the Ganges and Brahmaputra, so that the capacity for retaining water will diminish and flood levels will rise until the fall is increased sufficiently to drain off the water rapidly: it therefore follows that the levels of the homesteads must be correspondingly raised.

There appear to have been no gauges in the flooded area: in fact hydraulic data are conspicuous by their absence. To remedy this defect a new subdivision of the Irrigation Department has recently been opened at Rampore-Boalia, the jurisdiction of which extends northwards to the latitude of Santahar and to the Brahmaputra on the east: gauges have been fixed by the Eastern Bengal Railway on both sides of all important bridges, but others are required further afield.

The slow rate of travel of the floods is an important point which should be made use of for the introduction of a system of flood warnings on much the same lines as those which have been in force on the Damodar since the great flood of 1913.
